East Berlin Hails Subdued Khrushchev

Peace Still Goal, Soviet Leader Says

Speaks Of Another Summit Conference In Six-Eight Months

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived from Paris in worried, divided Berlin Thursday and spoke soothingly about another summit conference in six to eight months.

"It is clear," said the solemn Soviet Premier, "that the Soviet Union and other freedom-loving countries must analyze the consequences, but we do not renounce our policy of seeking a relaxation of tension and of peaceful coexistence."

But once more he accused the United States of wrecking the summit conference.

He arrived at the airport, outside East Berlin, and was greeted by top East German Communists and about 1,300 party functionaries. Then he rode into East Berlin past crowds of cheering thousands. West Berliners said it was the biggest reception he ever received in East Berlin.

Clouds were threatening, but the rain held off.

Reads Speech In Dull Tone

"In this situation," Khrushchev said mildly, in an airport speech, "time is required, the effort of all peoples and governments is required to carry out a summit conference after six or eight months."

The tired-looking bespectacled man with his fringe of white hair read his speech in a dull, routine tone. The German translator who towered over him put a lot more emotion into his version.

Accusing the United States of torpedoing the summit conference, Khrushchev declared: "Obviously, in determining policy in the United States those circles have won the upper hand which want no reduction of international tensions and no removal of the danger of a new war."

But in speaking of a new summit conference after the U. S. election, he did not say anything about again demanding an apology from the United States for the spy flight over the Soviet Union.

No New Berlin Threats

This demand sent the summit meeting onto the rocks. He did not even mention the "obstacles" which he said, before leaving Paris, must be removed before another top-level meeting could be held.

Nor did he make any new threats against West Berlin, whose border is only about three miles from where he spoke. He mentioned it only once, as a problem that has to be settled within the framework of a treaty with Germany.

He did say there was a new situation now. The Soviet government, he went on, would discuss it with the other Communist countries and draw the necessary conclusions.

This may have been an allusion to Red China, which some Westerners believe may have played a major role in collapsing the summit conference.

Two Killed In Plane Collision Near Paris

PARIS (AP)—A twin-jet Caravelle airliner with 37 aboard and a small light plane collided near Paris Thursday. The light plane was demolished and its pilot killed. The Caravelle landed with one passenger killed and 25 others injured.

The collision occurred as the Caravelle, Air-Algeria's morning flight from Algiers, was making its approach for landing at Orly Field. It was flying at 2,000 feet.

Russia Claims U.S. Air Spying Will Continue

UNDER FIRE — The prosecution of Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton (above) for his dealings with the Soviet Union was asked by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) in a Senate speech yesterday. Dodd said Eaton flew to Paris ot talk with Soviet Premier Khrushchev after the collapse of the summit conference. Dodd said he believed Eaton violated the Logan Act which forbids private citizens from negotiating with foreign powers to influence U. S. policy.

Ike's Ban Order Termed Tactic To Delude World

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The Soviet Union in a new memorandum Thursday night charged President Eisenhower's order calling off spy flights was a tactic to delude world opinion.

The Soviets also demanded that the U.N. Security Council condemn the United States for plane spying.

They put the U2 case before the U.N. Wednesday night with a demand for urgent Security Council action to stop spy flights.

President Eisenhower said in Paris Monday that he had ordered them stopped last Thursday.

The opening of the U2 case in the U.N. Security Council was set for Monday afternoon.

In his second note in two days to Security Council President Sir Claude Corea of Ceylon, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko contended the United States had no intention of giving up aerial spying.

Gromyko declared the United States "was compelled to announce merely a temporary suspension of the provocative flights over Soviet territory after its acts had been resolutely condemned throughout the world."

"Tactical Step" Gromyko Says

"What is involved, therefore," Gromyko went on, "is not a renunciation of the United States policy, which is contrary to the fundamental principles of the United Nations charter, but merely a tactical step taken by the United States government with the object of deluding world public opinion."

British sources said they expect Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd to represent Britain in the U2 debate. The French said if Lloyd comes, Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville may also be on hand.

That might indicate the American delegation would be headed by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who returns Friday to Washington from Paris.

The American strategy against the Soviet charges of spying and President Eisenhower's own open skies counterplan will be worked on over the weekend in Washington by Eisenhower, Herter and U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

U.S. To Counter Soviet Charge

The U.S. delegation indicated no decision had been made on whether in the U2 debates Herter would supersede Lodge, who himself sits with Cabinet rank.

The U.S. proposal would counter the Soviet charges that U2 flights —suspended a week ago by order of President Eisenhower—constitute a threat to world peace. The Russians will have a formal resolution containing the charges ready for the opening meeting of the Council.

Lodge is expected to bring in on Monday Eisenhower's proposal to have the U.N. supervise international aerial surveillance aimed at guarding the world against surprise attack from any quarter.

Ike Played Into Khrush Hands, Adlai Declares

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson asserted Thursday night that successful negotiations with the Soviets will be impossible as long as the Republicans are in power.

He reiterated that the United States had made a "series of blunders."

The 1952 and 1956 Democratic nominee for president called the Eisenhower administration's diplomacy clumsy and served notice that some Democrats will criticize "carelessness and mistakes" of government in the campaign ahead.

Stevenson, in a speech prepared for a $100-a-plate dinner sponsored by the Cook County Democratic Committee, declared Republican leaders say that everybody must rally around President Eisenhower in the crisis that boiled up at the summit conference in Paris.

"There is no question about national unity in a time of crisis," Stevenson said. "But...it is the duty of responsble opposition in a democracy to expose and criticize carelessness and mistakes."

Stevenson indicted the Eisenhower administration on what he termed these "hard, inescapable facts":

"This administration played into Khrushchev's hands.

"If Khrushchev wanted to wreck the conference our government made it possible.

"The administration has acutely embarrassed our allies and endangered our bases.

"They have helped make successful negotiations with the Russians—negotiations that are vital to our survival—impossible so long as they are in power."

'Copter Fails In Attempt To Pluck Five From Peak

SUMMIT, Alaska (UPI)—Turbulent weather high on Mt. McKinley Thursday prevented a helicopter pilot from rescuing Mrs. Helga Bading, one of five mountaineers injured and facing a freezing death on North America's loftiest peak.

Capt. William Toothill said he set his high-altitude Army helicopter down on a small, snow-swept plateau at the 15,000-foot level but was forced to take off immediately because of strong winds.

He said that when the weather permitted he would make another attempt to snatch the 30-year-old Anchorage housewife from the 20,320-foot peak which, ironically, the Indians call Denali, "The home of the sun."

Higher up the peak, at the 18,300-foot level, four men with frozen feet and broken bones also were awaiting rescue. They are John Day, 50, Central Point, Ore., and Pete Schoening and James and Lou Whitaker, 31-year-old twins of Seattle.

Paul Crews, leader of one of two climbing parties involved, said that a ground party would arrive too late to save Mrs. Bading and the injured men, but nevertheless the first members of a 40-man rescue team were on their way up the mountain. They had been flown to Ruth Glacier at the 10,000-foot level by veteran bush pilot Don Sheldon, who said he would continue shuttling the rescuers as long as the weather held.

Mrs. Bading was in grave condition, having suffered an attack of mountain sickness caused by a lack of oxygen and overexertion. She was in a "deep coma," according to Dr. Rodman Wilson, who had scaled the mountain in the party with her and Crews.

Oregon May Halt Kennedy Win Streak

Morse Confident Of Victory Today In Home State

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The clatter and clash of campaigning resounded through northwest Oregon Thursday on the eve of the last major presidential primary of 1960.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) set out on a final vote-hunting safari saying, "I am very much encouraged." With six straight primary victories in his trophy case, he is trying for a seventh win with Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) the main hurdle. Kennedy got endorsement Thursday from Oregon's other Democratic senator, Hall S. Lusk, who is serving out the term of the late Richard L. Neuberger.

Morse Confident

Morse campaigned in long leaps —from his home at Eugene, to Newport on the Pacific coast, to Oregon City 15 miles outside Portland and back to Eugene.

Always a formidable vote-getter in Oregon, Morse wasn't budging from a forecast that he will pocket 60 per cent of the Democratic vote Friday and snap the Kennedy winning streak. Kennedy, he says, is a synthetic liberal, an unethical interloper who has no business challenging the Morse favorite-son candidacy.

Kennedy Expects Defeat

Kennedy hasn't switched from a public prediction that Morse should win on his home grounds. But some of his key supporters are talking in the closing campaign hours of a possibility of a sizeable Kennedy victory.

Kennedy's big sales talk is that Morse isn't to be taken seriously as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Repeatedly, he tells voters they "cannot possibly afford to waste this opportunity at this dangerous and trying time."

PRR Workers End Walkouts

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Full complements of Pennsylvania Railroad maintenance employes reported for work on the 4 p.m. shift throughout the system Thursday after the union called off sporadic walkouts in progress since last Monday.

A railroad spokesman said the workers, along with car inspectors, had reported in full force on the night shift.

The workers obeyed an order issued in New York by Michael Quill, international president of the Transport Workers Union. He said the union's railroad division of more than 20,000 members would abide by an injunction granted to the PRR here Wednesday night by U.S. District Judge Francis L. Van Dusen. It prohibited picketing at the railroad's installations throughout the nation.

Quill said the union's lawyers believe the injunction is illegal and will fight it in court.

The stoppages began last Monday in Weirton, W. Va., and spread to such points as Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Mingo Junction, Ohio, Philadelphia and New York. Various numbers of workers left their jobs on grounds they had to attend union meetings.

The union claimed the series of meetings along the line seriously disrupted the railroad's freight service. Management, however, said traffic was running on schedule with the aid of supervisory employes.

ACL And Seaboard Agree On Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the South's largest railroads, the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line, Thursday agreed on merger terms.

Directors of both roads, at separate meetings, approved the terms, which now must be acted upon by stockholders. The Interstate Commerce Commission also must consent.

Action of the Seaboard and ACL directors came only one day after the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Baltimore & Ohio railroads approved a stock exchange which could eventually result in a merger.

Several other railroads throughout the country are discussing mergers. The nation's railroad plant is being cut back under competition from other types of transportation.

West Is Convinced Kremlin Crisis Led To Summit Blowup

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

PARIS (AP)—Western statesmen quit the scene of the fantastic summit parley Thursday, virtually convinced that a crisis in the Kremlin forced Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to blow up the talks.

First assessment of their experts suggested further that the Soviet Premier's performance in Paris was dictated by a fight for political survival.

The governments led by President Eisenhower, French President Charles de Gaulle and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan also seemed to share the view that Soviet leaders have not yet decided irrevocably whether to bury or keep alive the policy of relaxing East-West tensions.

As a result the Western leaders have agreed on a policy of wait and see.

According to information from the highest authorities, this probably will mean that for their part the Allies will do nothing to make an East-West accommodation impossible.

They intend to insure that their guard is raised, their defenses are ready and their plans up-dated to meet any emergency that might arise in Berlin or elsewhere.

A quick show of Western solidarity came from the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. After hearing the three Western foreign ministers report on the summit debacle, the 15-nation council in special session unanimously supported the Western position.

A NATO spokesman said the delegates "paid tribute to the spirit of conciliation of the three Western chiefs of government and the calm and dignity they showed." They expressed regret that Khrushchev's position "made the negotiations in Paris impossible."

The council also approved the foreign ministers' readiness to continue to seek a solution of world problems by "peaceful means through negotiation," the spokesman added.

With the cold war winds blowing at full blast again, the council also took up the question of tightening the Atlantic defenses, the spokesman said.

"You can take it our defenses are being looked after," he said.

In assaying the quick change in Khrushchev's tactics, Western authorities noted that in the week beginning May 8 two distinct developments took place.

In Washington on May 9 and 11, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and then the President himself, admitted knowledge and responsibility for the U2 spy flight over the Soviet Union and indicated they were not being halted. An American source said Herter told the NATO council Thursday the U2 flights had been going on for four years and produced information of value to the West.

In Moscow about the same time, Communist party and Red army heads met in extraordinary session for three or four days before Khrushchev's departure for Paris. This evidently was the setting for the internal crisis that produced a return to the toughness of the cold war.

Western officials said they had no doubt the Herter and Eisenhower statements in Washington helped to recast the Soviet attitude toward the summit.

Constitution Accord

LONDON (AP) — Talks on a constitution for Nigeria, soon to become an independent state, ended Thursday in complete agreement. Nigeria's Independence Day is set for Oct. 1 this year.

AF Chief Says Defense Buildup Might Be Wise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of the U. S. Air Force said Thursday irrational behavior displayed at the Paris summit conference might make it wise to strengthen this nation's defenses.

"I have seen indications recently," Gen. Thomas D. White told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, "that irrationality could enter into a certain nation's decision to launch an attack."

White's comment came in reply to questions about Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the breakup of the Paris summit conference. Sens. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Dennis Chavez (D-NM) had asked if the Paris developments required a change in U. S. defense plans and appropriations.

White said that earlier this year he had been convinced U. S. defenses were so strong that "no rational decision could be made to attack us."

Any attacking nation would face destruction from this country's deterrent powers, he said. Then he added: "What would be a deterrent to a rational point of view might not be a deterrent to an irrational point of view."

White did not pinpoint his remarks further, and when a reporter asked him afterward if he was referring to Khrushchev as irrational he smiled and said: "You will have to draw your own conclusions."

Under questioning by Sen. Chavez, White said that probably the easiest way to step up U. S. defenses quickly would be to add two more squadrons of Atlas intercontinental missiles.

He said two more squadrons, of 12 missiles each, probably could be added within the next three years at a cost of 350 million dollars.

Senators Argue Whether Nixon Sought Political Advantage In Paris Debacle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unity front showed cracks Thursday as Senate Democrats and Republicans made thrusts and counterthrusts over whether Vice President Richard M. Nixon sought political advantage from the summit debacle.

At storm center was Nixon's statement in Buffalo, N. Y. Wednesday that if the Democrats "believe we should have allowed a gap in our intelligence, let them investigate it. If they believe the President should have apologized to Mr. Khrushchev (for the spy plane flight), let them investigate."

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), denying for the Democrats on both counts, retorted: "It appears to me Nixon is creating straw men for the purpose of knocking them down."

Mansfield's remarks came on top of a protest by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) that, "While Democrats in the Senate are pleading for unity, Mr Nixon is undertaking to convert the tragedy in Paris to his political expediency."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) rebuked Gore for making a "unwarranted and unjustified" attack and for being "unduly brutal and harsh" with the vice president, who is an all-but-certain Republican candidate for the presidency.

Amid this wrangling, there were these other related happenings on Capitol Hill:

1. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn) called for prosecution of Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton under the 160-year-old Logan Act. This law, which never has been used, forbids private citizens from negotiating with foreign powers with intent to influence U. S. policy.

Dodd made his speech—and was applauded for it by Republican senators—after Eaton, a long-time advocate of Soviet-American friendship, had conferred briefly with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at Paris' airport.

2. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said that in taking the spy plane incident to the United Nations there is "a serious question as to whether the Soviets are looking for a method of settling disputes or a sounding board for further propaganda." He said the action "has the trappings of a propaganda circus."

Eisenhower Urges West Keep Chin Up

President Basks In Warm Welcome After Cold Summit

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—President Eisenhower flew in Thursday from the cold of a dead summit conference to a warm welcome from 250,000 Portuguese shouting "Viva Eisenhower" and "We like Ike."

The wave of affection rolling over the President brought out the famous Eisenhower smile as he rode in an open car through this capital's streets in a downpour of confetti.

Once in his quarters in Queluz Palace, however, his mood sobered as he called for the Western powers to work even harder for peace, despite the failure of the Paris summit meeting.

"Rather than being dismayed," he told assembled U.S. employes, "we must tighten our belts, keep our chins up and each of us work a little harder for the great cause of peace with justice and freedom."

Eisenhower discussed briefly the breakup of the summit meeting over Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's demand that he publicly apologize for the U2 spy flight over the Soviet Union.

Met Abuse With Logic

"While none of the free world thought that there would be any revolutionary gains at the summit conference, they did feel that there was a good chance of some amelioration of some of the tensions in the world," Eisenhower said.

"You deserve to know that the representatives of the United States, the United Kingdom and France did our very best to bring about that condition. We answered abuse with dignity and logic. We answered accusations with facts."

The President referred to Portugal, a partner with the United States in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, as a tremendous friend and ally.

In another allusion to the summit debacle, he said: "Whenever these situations occur, we have to work ever stronger to strengthen our own camp and bring it ever close together."

Eisenhower spoke at a private reception for Americans working in Portugal. His remarks, based on notes taken by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, then were made public.

Before leaving Paris, Eisenhower made his first public comment on the collapse at the summit but without answering the insults hurled at him by Khrushchev.

West Unity Strengthened

"I share the disappointment of my colleagues that, because of our inability to convene the summit conference, we could make no progress for easing the tensions which so plague mankind," he said at Paris' Orly Field.

"But I fully share their confidence that because of this setback we of the Western Allies, and particularly France, Britain and the United States, both through their governments and through their people, are joined even closer than before in a determined pursuit of peace with justice in the world."

Replying to Portuguese reporters' questions at a news conference, Hagerty said once again that Eisenhower is "completely disgusted and fed up with the tactics and antics of Khrushchev."

Eisenhower, who leaves for home Friday to report to the nation on the summit, came to Lisbon four days earlier than he had planned because of the summit's quick end. He was met at the airport by President Americo Tomaz and strong man Premier Antonio Salazar.

Norway Given New Assurances By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department broadly indicated Thursday that the United States has promised not to use Norway as a base for future spy flights over the Soviet Union.

Press officer Lincoln White declined, however, to specify exactly what assurances had been given to the NATO ally.

The Soviet Union claims that the U2 plane downed May 1 was destined from Pakistan to Norway. Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange subsequently said it had been established that the U2 was headed for Norway's Bodo airfield. He protested to U.S. Ambassador Frances E. Willis and demanded that the United States avoid similar planned landings in the future.

Freed, Four Other DJs Seized On Payola Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Alan Freed, onetime pied piper of rock 'n' roll, was arrested with four other disc jockeys Thursday. They were accused of lining their pockets with payola to plug certain records on their broadcasts.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said their take—and that of three radio station employes also named in the case—ran as high as $36,000 during the two-year period 1958-59. He put Freed's at $30,650.

Besides Freed, those arrested were:

Disc jockey Peter Tripp, 33, of New York's WMGM, accused on 39 counts of taking $36,050 from eight record companies in the two-year 1958-59 period.

Disc jockey Tommy Smalls, 34, of New York's WWRL, 48 counts, $13,385 from 18 companies. He was immediately discharged by the station.

Disc jockey Hal Jackson, 45, of New York's WLIB, 30 counts, $9,850 from nine companies.

Disc jockey Jack Walker, 39, formerly of WOV and now of WLIB, 33 counts, $7,420 from 10 companies.

Mel Leeds, now of Los Angeles station KDAY, 40 counts, accused of taking $9,675 from five companies when he was program director of New York's WINS, where Freed first won fame.

Labor-Industry Meeting Makes Amicable Start

Four representatives of management and three from organized labor held a three-hour exploratory session which they later jointly described as a "completely amicable and reasonable discussion."

It was indicated, however, that the conferees steered clear of coming to grips in any detail with any of their mutual problems, discussing them only in the broadest of terms.

Moreover, the labor union chiefs requested that the industry people recruit top men from the auto, steel, railroad, construction and other major industries to join in future conferences.

The next meeting was left to be arranged in some six or eight weeks because some of the conferees have other commitments. AFL-CIO President George Meany, for one, is due to leave for Europe soon.

Representatives of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, which designated the industry conferees, and the AFL-CIO, which represented union labor, both said they were gratified and relieved the initial planning conference hadn't simply collapsed at the outset, as many had feared.

The President set up the conferences after the end of the recent record steel strike. The aim is to achieve agreements to smooth troubled employer-union relations, curb inflation, increase production and tackle a number of associated problems.

Those participating for management were President Rudolph Bannow of the NAM and Presidents William J. Grede of the J. I. Case Farm Machinery Co., L. A. Petersen of the Otis Elevator Co., and Robert W. Stoddard of the Wyman-Gordon Co., a steel products concern.

Those representing the AFL-CIO besides Meany were federation Vice Presidents Walter P. Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, and George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

Town Has Little To Cheer About

WHAT CHEER, Iowa (AP) — Residents of this southern Iowa community had little to cheer about Thursday when the district census supervisor reported the town's population had dropped to 951.

Only a decade ago the population was 1,119. In 1885 it was a booming town of 3,524. The population has gradually declined since then, falling below 2,000 in 1910.

Four D.C. Policemen Acquitted Of Rape

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four policemen were acquitted Thursday of rape charges.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. directed the jury to find the men innocent on grounds that a 31-year-old woman's testimony would not warrant a conviction.

The judge noted that a rape conviction requires evidence that the victim was in deathly fear, injured, or had protested the attack. There was no such evidence in this case, the judge said.

The policemen are Pvts. Bobbie R. Campbell, 30; Owen W. Cunningham, 30; Graham B. Pennington, 24, and Raymond F. Vernon Jr., 30. They are white. The woman involved is a Negro.

Brady Receives Another Chance

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals Thursday gave John Leo Brady another chance in his efforts to escape death in the gas chamber for the slaying of William Brooks, an Odenton plastics worker.

The high court affirmed an Anne Arundel County Circuit Court decision which denied Brady a new trial on the grounds of newly discovered evidence, but it said he could bring the matter back in an appeal from prison under the state's Post Conviction Procedure Act.

Brady, a 26-year-old former Upper Marlboro truck driver, and Donald Boblit, 26, of Odenton, are both awaiting execution at the Maryland Penitentiary for Brooks' death. Gov. Tawes granted them stays of execution pending new legal efforts by Brady.

His petition to lower court was based on an unsigned statement Boblit allegedly gave police in which Boblit admitted he was the one who strangled Brooks when the two waylaid the semi-invalid on June 27, 1958, to take his car.

Eight Electrical Firms Indicted

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eight electrical firms, including two of the nation's biggest — General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Corp.—were indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on charges of fixing prices and rigging bids in the sale of heavy power equipment.

GE, Westinghouse and I-T-E Circuit Break Co. were named in all three indictments handed up to U. S. Dist. Judge Francis L. Van Dusen.

All eight firms were charged in one indictment with conspiracy to restrain trade in the sale of power-switching equipment, which means all air brake switches rated in excess of 600 volts.

Other firms named are Federal Pacific Electric Co of Newark, N. J.; Joslyn Manufacturing & Supply Co. of Chicago; H. K. Port Co. of Pittsburgh; Schwager-Wood Corp. of Portland, Ore.; and Southern States Equipment Corp. of Hampton, Ga.

C&O Lists Three '60 Steps In Acquiring B&O Control

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway hopes to take three major steps by the end of 1960 in acquiring control of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, a C&O official said Thursday.

Joseph C. Kauffman, C&O vice president, said his line will ask the Interstate Commerce Commission in a week or 10 days for permission to acquire control of the B&O and to issue shares to carry out that goal.

Other steps, said Kauffman, are an offer to B&O stockholders to accept C&O stock for their B&O shares and a special meeting of C&O stockholders to approve the transaction.

"We ought to get it all done this year," said Kauffman, obviously referring only to those three steps and not to an eventual merger of the two lines. Kauffman was here to address a local group.

A plan agreed on this week by directors of the C&O and B&O calls for one C&O share of common stock for each share of B&O preferred, and one share of C&O common for each one and three-fourths shares of BO common.

The railroads are looking toward a merger, but Kauffman would not estimate a timetable for that. The immediate plan is for C&O to gain control of at least 80 per cent of B&O stock. If at least that amount of B&O stock is offered to the C&O, the C&O must go through with the exchange, according to the agreement. If less than 80 per cent is offered, the move is at CO's discretion.

Reports of a possible merger of the C&O, the B&O and the New York Central were made public last month. The Central has kept mum about the matter. But officials of the C&O and B&O have acknowledged that talks are under way.

A merger of the C&O and B&O would create the second largest railroad in the country, a position now held by the Central. The Pennsylvania is the largest.

The C&O, one of the nation's major coal carriers, has 5,122 miles of track. The B&O has 5,937. Both lines have assets of more than one billion dollars.

Though the B&O last year had revenues of 395 million dollars to 348 for the C&O, the latter turned in a much more impressive profit picture—$45,687,246 to $14,809,203.

Gutters PEELING?
Here's the ANSWER!

RUST-OLEUM.
GALVINOLEUM® COATINGS

Use Galvinoleum NOW—avoid "peeling headaches" LATER! Galvinoleum goes right over brand new or unpainted Galvanized, Aluminum, and Terne Plate surfaces—NO etching, NO weathering needed! Special formulation takes hold to last and last! Your choice of Red, Gray, Green, or Metallic—and you can use Rust-Oleum 575 Outside White, or any high-quality, oil-base house paint, to match desired trim color! The lasting answer for brand new gutters, heating ducts, galvanized roofs and buildings. Don't take chances with your costly gutters! If they're "peeling" now—remove all existing paint before using Galvinoleum. If they're brand new—apply Galvinoleum right over the galvanized surface without tedious etching!

U.S., UAR Join In Irradiation Tests In Cairo

By GERALD ARATHOON

CAIRO (UPI) — United Arab Republic and American scientists are carrying out joint experiments here on the effects of irradiation on local products.

Dr. Salah Hashish, head of the radiobiology section of the UAR Atomic Energy Establishment, said the experiments are aimed at producing "desirable mutations."

"Studies will range over materials from pollen grains and cotton seeds to physiological experiments including rats and plastics," he said.

A "gamma facility" device with a 2,000 - curie, high - dose range from the Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island, N.Y., is being used. It is part of the equipment which the United States Atomic Energy Commission shipped here as part of the first nuclear energy exhibit ever shown in the Middle East.

The exhibit runs through May 30 before moving on to Karachi, Pakistan. The joint research is being carried out while the equipment is here.

Dr. Hashish said the gamma facility, which produces cobalt-60 irradiation, is "very useful for short irradiation periods."

Egypt has a 1,000-curie irradiation unit of its own, but it is being used for different experiments.

Jesse Taylor, American AEC exhibit manager, said such a reactor "generates a great deal of interest because it actually produces atomic energy."

Towards the end of this year the UAR will begin operating its own atomic reactor with the help of the Soviet Union. Local production of radioisotopes is expected to start in 1961.

To Return Remains

TOKYO (UPI) — Indonesia will return the remains of 76 Japanese soldiers to Japan as a goodwill gesture in connection with the scheduled state visit this summer by Indonesian President Sukarno, the Japanese government announced.

Included will be the remains of Lt. Gen Tetsuzo Nakajima, Japanese military administrator of Java during the Japanese occupation of Indonesia in World War II.

Methodists Will Meet June 8-12 At Westminster

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Ministers and laymen representing 546 churches will attend the annual Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church here June 8-12.

An estimated 1,000 delegates from Maryland, eastern West Virginia and the District of Columbia are expected for the sessions, beginning with Communion at 8 p.m. June 8 and ending with the reading of ministerial appointments at 3:30 p.m. June 12.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, who has administered the Washington, D.C., Episcopal Area since 1952, will preside over the Baltimore Conference for the last time. He retires at the Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference in Washington, June 15-19.

Bishop Oxnam will deliver the sermon at the opening service and also will speak to the class being received into conference membership at 11:30 a.m. June 10.

He also will give the morning sermon Sunday, June 12.

Other conference speakers will include Dr. William Andrew Keese, pastor of Grace Church, Baltimore; Dr. Fred G. Holloway, president of Drew University and the Rev. Donald Bakely, pastor of Centenary Tabernacle Church, Camden N.J.

The delegates will hear a composite report of the district superintendents and take action on reports from various conference committees.

West Virginia Hopes For Surplus Fading

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)— The state's finance commissioner is confident the West Virginia State government will have enough money to cover all appropriations made by the Legislature for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30.

But Commissioner Henry L. Ash told the Board of Public Works Thursday there is little prospect the state will end the fiscal year with $2,836,000 left over, which the Legislature had counted on.

In passing the new budget, the Legislature depended upon the treasury having an unencumbered balance of $2,836,000 at the end of the old year. That amount was included in the $115,659,000 estimate of receipts for this year.

Ash said the state general fund would have to take in $20,076,000 in May and June to meet that estimate. Receipts in May and June last year were $17,478,000.

Senate Vote Set Next Week On Ike's Veto Of Depressed Areas Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) announced Thursday the Senate will vote next week on President Eisenhower's veto of the 251 million dollars depressed areas aid bill.

Johnson said the veto will be called up Tuesday and the attempt to override it will come Tuesday or Wednesday.

Administration bills were introduced in both houses yesterday calling for 180 million dollars in aid to chronically depressed areas.

At the same time other bills, likewise designed to meet administration objections to the bill vetoed last Friday by President Eisenhower, were introduced.

These measures, sponsored by Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) and Reps. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa) and John P. Saylor (R-Pa), would authorize 108 million dollars — mostly in loans to industry — for distressed areas.

The administration proposal was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Everett J. Dirksen (Ill), Republican floor leader, and in the House by Rep. William B. Widnall (R-NJ).

Prospects of passage of either of the new proposals appeared dim because congress soon will be hurrying toward adjournment because of the national political conventions coming up in July.

Also the Democratic majority, which passed the previous bill with some Republican help, has held out for a larger authorization of funds than the administration would accept.

Both the administration and the Scott-Van Zandt-Saylor bills would authorize 75 million dollars in industrial loans.

The administration measure, however, has one large innovation in that instead of authorizing direct grants for public facilities in connection with new industrial projects it would double from 100 million to 200 million dollars the authorization for the housing and home finance agency.

The agency would be required to give priority to applications for loans for public facilities involved in depressed area industrial construction.

The Scott-Van Zandt-Saylor bill would provide 25 million dollars in direct grants for public facilities.

Both proposals omit loans to rural depressed areas but would permit technical assistance to such areas. The administration measure earmarks two million dollars for technical assistance to low-income rural areas and one-industry small towns.

Bids Filed On Four W. Va. Armory Jobs

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The State Armory Board received bids Thursday on some $2,000,000 worth of construction in four West Virginia cities.

Bids were received on combination West Virginia National Guard armory and civic centers for Clarksburg, Welch and Beckley and an addition to the Princeton armory. The Beckley structure also will have facilities for the Army Reserve.

The board said the apparent low bidder probably would not be determined until next Thursday.

The armories and their appropriate costs were Beckley $975,000, Welch $468,000 and Clarksburg $467,000. The Princeton armory addition will cost about $61,000. The federal government will foot part of the bill on each job.

Campbell Shuns Second Hearing

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Christopher C. Campbell, 54-year-old Baltimore County dairy farmer, failed to appear as scheduled Thursday for a second extradition hearing on charges of performing illegal abortions in York County, Pa.

Joseph D. Buscher, assistant attorney general conducting the hearings, said Maryland State Police have been looking for Campbell since Pennsylvania submitted an amended indictment and extradition papers about a month ago.

Gov. Tawes had refused to turn Campbell over to Pennsylvania authorities at a hearing Feb. 22 because of a legal technicality. It was pointed out that the indictment misidentified him as Charles Christopher Campbell. A driver's license and social security card were submitted showing his real name is Christopher Columbus Campbell.

Navy Views Russ Sub Threat With Little Alarm

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The submarine road to Russia is a two-way street.

Belated realization of this is focusing increased attention on the fact the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans are no longer great defensive barriers. They provide hidden highways for potential enemies.

Much also has been made of the fact there are more submarines—450—in the Russian fleet than there are active warships—383—in the U.S. Navy.

Implicit in the alarm these considerations generate is the specter of the United States isolated and beset from the sea. Is this alarm justified?

Perhaps the best answer is that the U.S. Navy views the threat with considerable calm.

There are two major factors in the Navy's lack of nervousness over the apparent Russian advantage:

1. The Russian navy as it now stands was built to World War II standards and designed to fight a conventional war of defense and attrition.

2. The U.S. Navy cannot now foresee a situation in which the surface ships would be pitted against submarines as they were in World War II, except in limited wars—and these would not involve Russian manned submarines.

At the moment, the U.S. Navy is far more concerned over its ability to meet simultaneous, limited war crises in two oceans with an overage, steadily shrinking fleet.

Seven years ago the total U.S. fleet consisted of 1,129 ships. Now there are 817—and no guarantee against further reductions. Eighty per cent of the Navy's ships were built during or prior to World War II. The Navy places the useful life of a ship at between 16 and 20 years.

At the present replacement rate, the U.S. Navy will be about half its present size in 10 years.

These facts worry top Navy officers because as the character of the Russian fleet changes—and intelligence reports indicate it is acquiring a thermonuclear war capability—the Navy's defense capabilities must be greatly increased with new ships and new equipment.

Any broad assessment of the U.S. Navy's present capabilities is extremely difficult for U.S. power must be related to the capabilities of the potential enemy. Hard, undisputed facts about the Russian fleet are difficult to obtain.

Bomb Shelter Info Calls To CD Jump

By United Press International

Civil Defense officials in many cities Wednesday reported a sharp increase in inquiries about bomb shelters and protection from nuclear attack in the wake of the summit conference collapse.

Telephone calls to Civil Defense headquarters jumped from a daily average of 10 or 12 to 350 in Minneapolis alone.

Practically none of those asking information in Minneapolis and other cities showed signs of fear or panic. Civil Defense officials said almost all the calls were motivated instead by a sober awareness of heightened international tensions.

Top Singer Reads Only Shaped Notes

By JOYCE SCHULLER

CHICAGO (UPI) — Will success spoil Betty Johnson, popular cafe singer and TV star?

Not if her parents can help it, Betty said in an interview here.

Betty, who appears regularly on the Jack Paar show, frequently on the Ed Sullivan show and has made such popular recordings as "I Dreamed," "Little Blue Man" and "Dream" has impressed many people.

"But not my family," she said. "My father still reminds me that I can't read any music but shaped notes."

Shaped notes, Betty explained, are a simple kind, which were widely used in the South by gospel singers during the 19th Century. They're easy to read because the shape of the head of each note indicates the scale degree represented.

Betty learned to read shaped notes from her father, back on the farm where she grew up in the North Carolina foothills of the Smokie Mountains. Her parents still live there.

It was with her family that Betty first turned professional. They sang hymns and spirituals as a group in local churches and even in the fields at harvest parties. They were signed by a Charlotte, N.C., radio station when Betty was about eight. She sang tenor then and the family was billed as "The Johnson Family Singers," a title under which they make records.

"Way back then when I was a tenor, my father squelched any notions of grandeur I might have had," Betty said. "He never let me or my three brothers see any of our press notices."

Workshop Planned By Mud Hens

The Queen City Mud Hens held its annual spring dinner meeting concluding activities until fall, Tuesday evening at Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Mrs. Paul Gilford presided at a short business session.

It was decided to have a workshop one day and one evening each month at which all kinds of hand molding will be done. The workshop will be held at the home of Mrs. Betty Chaney with Mrs. Chaney chairman, assisted by Mrs. Peg Valentine and Mrs. Irene Critzman. A potter's throwing wheel was purchased for the use of the club.

Mrs. Critzman reported on her trip to a ceramics show at Asbury Park, N. J., describing a demonstration given on wood-staining ceramics and one on painting under glass. Mrs. Chaney displayed a hand painted china tea set trimmed in gold, and hand painted tile blocks.

Games were played with prizes being awarded Mrs. Valentine and Mrs. Gilford.

Thirteen members and two guests attended. Members are Mrs. George Tenent, Mrs. R. W. Trevaskis Sr., Mrs. Gilford, Mrs. Critzman, Mrs. Betty Sandhoff, Mrs. Valentine, Mrs. Thomas Turley, Mrs. Cerneil Fligal, Mrs. Chaney, Mrs. Christine Hess, Mrs. Gertrude Young, Miss Helen Cherry, Mrs. C. R. Burkey and guests Mrs. Ella Klavuhn and Mrs. Emma Robison.

Meetings will resume in the fall at the home of Mrs. Burkey, at which time Mrs. Sara Lindsay will give a demonstration.

Miss Pritchard To Preside At State BPW Convention

The 30th annual convention of the Maryland Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will be held at the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington May 20-22. Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard, state president, will preside.

Friday she will be hostess at dinner to members of the executive committee. Later that same evening, she will conduct the meeting of the board of directors. She will preside at the business sessions Saturday and Sunday, at the banquet Saturday night, and at the breakfast Sunday morning.

Others attending from the local club are Mrs. Ethel Northcraft, state corresponding secretary and president of the Cumberland club; Miss Anna Nicht, state parliamentarian; Miss Theresa Nicht, state chaplain; Miss Gerardine Pritchard, state chairman of program coordination; Miss Mary Jo Logsdon, Mrs. Rose Ambrose, Mrs. Kathleen Burke, Mrs. Regina Cioni, Mrs. Margaret Kirby, Miss Dorothy Manley, and Miss Edith Scharf, delegates.

Miss Hazel Palmer, immediate past president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, will be the national representative at the convention. Miss Palmer heads her own law firm in Sedalia, Mo. She has been admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Maryland State Scholarship Committee will meet Friday afternoon, under the chairmanship of Miss Gerardine Pritchard. Others on this committee are Miss Mary Louise Helbig, Oakland, and Miss Margaret Bowers, Marriottsville.

Saturday morning, under the direction of Miss Theresa Nicht, a memorial service will be conducted by Miss Anna Nicht, Miss Scharf, Mrs. Burke, and Miss Gerardine Pritchard.

Miss Anna Nicht is in charge of elections, scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Club Elects Delegates To RWSC

Pleasant Valley Homemakers Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Carl Hebner, Baltimore Pike, with Mrs. Lola Hebner cohostess. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Earl Manges in the absence of Mrs. Edgar Rephann due to illness. Mrs. Manges gave the Lord's prayer followed by scripture reading by Mrs. Carl Hebner.

Mrs. Charles Smith gave the history of the hymn of the month, "Lead Us O Father in the Path of Peace," which was sung by the group. Routine reports were given. Members answered roll call with "How I Have Made Wash Day Easier."

A thank-you note was read from Mrs. Charles Smith for a surprise handkerchief shower given in her honor. She and her daughter Lorraine will go to England in June.

Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. Lola Hebner will represent the Club at College Week in June. The meeting closed with the singing of Keller's American Hymn. Miss Mary Wise gave a talk on manufactured fabrics, followed by a discussion period.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The Cumberland - LaVale Health Lay Group met yesterday afternoon at the County Building, with Mrs. Elizabeth Nave presiding in the absence of Mrs. Mildred Allender.

Routine reports were given and announcement was made of the county spring luncheon to be held May 24 at 1 p. m. at the Clary Club. County officers will be elected at that time.

Assigned to work with the chest X-ray mobile unit June 15 and 16 on Centre Street are Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, Mrs. Clara Williamson, Mrs. Mildred Hickle, Miss Mary Margaret Smith and Mrs. Bertha Scollick.

Mrs. Nave, Mrs. Edith Cessna and Miss Smith were named to the dinner committee.

Members attending were Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, Mrs. Marjorie Nave, Mrs. Mary Jane Harden, Mrs. Helen Vogel, Mrs. Marguerite Schooley, Miss Grace Harden, Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Naomi Evanson, Mrs. Scollick, Mrs. Leigh Heller and Mrs. Cessna.

The next meeting will be held September 15 at 1:30 p. m. in the County Building.

Prosperity-Oakdale MYF Has Meeting

Methodist Youth Fellowship of Prosperity - Oakdale circuit met recently at Oakdale church.

The new officers elected at an earlier meeting presided. They are Shirley Morgan, president, Teddy Clayton, vice president; Linda Raines, secretary, Shelvia Raines, treasurer, and Goldie Self, devotional chaplain and publicity manager.

This month's activities will include roller skating at Moon Glo Skating Rink this evening.

Opti-Mrs. To Sponsor Camp Trip

Plans for sending a Friends Aware child to summer camp and a rummage sale were among items discussed at the final meeting of the Opti-Mrs Wednesday evening at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Mrs. Lester Hudson, vice president, presided. Mrs. Earl Nonnenmann will be in charge of the rummage sale to be held Saturday from 10 until 2 p. m. at 174 North Centre Street.

Miss Mary Walsh, guest speaker, gave a talk on the history of the Cumberland Library.

Mrs. Hugh Funkhauser read a poem, "Weaving," and led the devotions.

Mrs. Charles Duckworth and Mrs. James Honeycutt were appointed to represent the group at a Civil Defense meeting June 9 at Constijution Park. The club agreed to send one of Friends Aware children to summer camp. Mrs. George Fey Jr. and Mrs. Allan Staggers were named representatives to Cumberland Community Council for the coming year. A donation was given to Cumberland Public Library.

Mrs. Robert Collins won the special prize. A white elephant sale was held.

The tables were decorated with lilacs and yellow tulips with favors of glass swans filled with flowers. Hostesses were Mrs. Harold Naughton, Mrs. Bernard Whitacre and Mrs. Samuel Dishong.

Hostesses for September meeting to be held the third Wednesday of the month will be Mrs. Ernest Vipond, Mrs. Allen Staggers and Mrs. George Fey Jr.

Others attending were Mrs. Leo Barkman, Mrs. Lynn Walker, Mrs. Vernon Smith, Mrs. Carl Amtower, Mrs. Howard Fisher, Mrs. Byron Kight, Mrs. Carl Winfield and Mrs. George Eyler.

DeMolay To Hold Initiation

The Cumberland Chapter of DeMolay will hold its annual spring initiation Wednesday, May 25 at 8 p.m. in the Masonic Temple. Arthur B. Gibson, 33d degree Mason, will deliver the flower oration. Officers of the Maryland State Chapter of Baltimore will attend. All members are urged to attend, and all Masons are invited.

Eric Fable, Charles Hafer and Charles Aronholt will head the first degree. The second degree will be headed by Larry Smith, Eric Fable, Dean Whetzel and David Dawson.

The second degree team will enter state competition in Frederick June 14, with Frederick, Hagerstown and Westminster chapters.

An evaluation will be made at the close of the initiation ceremonies. Refreshments will be served by the Mother's Club following the meeting.

Miss Boyle Queen Of Student Nurses At Spring Dance

Miss Carroll Anne Boyle, daughter of Mrs. Marian C. Boyle, 531 Cumberland Street, was crowned queen of student nurses at Kings Daughters Hospital, Martinsburg, at the annual Spring Swing Dance given by the junior class in honor of the departing seniors. Princesses were Miss Jackie Cross of Cumberland and Miss Patty Reed. The class will graduate September 11.

Charles Oster Honored On 19th Birthday

Charles Oster was honored with a party marking his 19th birthday at his home, 516 Schlund Avenue. Guests included fellow students from Strayer Junior College of Finance, Washington.

Attending were Barbara Ritter, Alice Hunter, Hilda Layman, Richard Schilling, Martin Johnson Jr., from Strayer; David Whitley, of London, England; Laurence Lowery, Thomas Rizer, Jack Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Oster, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lehman Mrs. Helena Lowery, Mr and Mrs. E. H. Bender, John Zimmerman, and Mr. and Mrs. Estel Oster.

Gold Star Mothers Hold Memorial Services

A memorial service featured the meeting of Tri State Chapter, Gold Star Mothers, Wednesday evening at the American Legion Post Home. The mothers wore white and each mother placed a flower on an altar banked with ferns, with a large gold star and candles on it, for her own son. Following the memorial service, Mrs. Sara Jane Miller sang "God of Our Fathers," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gladys Meeks.

Reports on the Maryland-Delaware department convention were given by the delegates. It was announced that two members of the local chapter were named to department officers. They are Mrs. Sara Jane Millar, as second vice president, and Mrs. Clara E. Rankin, local president, recording secretary to the department. Delegates were Mrs. Rankin, Mrs. Millar, Mrs. Josephine Shanski, Mrs. Martha Byrnes and Mrs. Elsie Haan.

Delegates to the national convention of American Gold Star Mothers Inc. selected were Mrs Rankin, chapter representative, Mrs. Millar, Mrs. Anona McDonald, Mrs. Virginia Murphy, and alternates Mrs. Johanna Weimer, Mrs. Blanche Jenkins and Mrs. Flossie Lance. The convention will be held at Henry Hudson Hotel, New York, June 19-24.

Following the business meeting refreshments were served.

Japan Only Country Able To Negotiate 180-Degree Turns

By ARNOLD DIBBLE

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan, which is celebrating 100 years of diplomatic relations with the United States this month, is perhaps the only country in the world that has been able to negotiate 180-degree turns in its lon, history.

For Japan, at least twice during its last 100 years, there have been two sharp turns. It could be called revolution — except that these well - delineated departures were achieved without internal violence.

On May 22, 1860, a Japanese delegation signed a treaty with the United States in Washington opening up relations between the two nations after a "deep sleep" by Japan of nearly 300 years, during which the doors of the nation were closed to foreigners and foreign ideas.

Emperor Jeiji ordered the nation to industrialize, to westernize. By 1900, the factory stacks of industry were belching smoke. Some factories had been imported piece by piece from foreign lands, even a whisky distillery from Scotland.

The days of the Samurai warrior and dark feudalism were over.

That was the first 180 - degree turn.

The second came in 1945. A defeated warlike people, suddenly became dedicated to peace. A people taught to hate America and the West, suddenly loved America and the West.

Of course there was some hypocrisy. But the national change was just as stark in 1945 as was the national change from feudalism to industrialism in 1960.

Japan's recovery since 1945 is staggering to the imagination. No country in history ever pulled itself up from the ashes of war with such vitality and such success. Not even West Germany.

Figures tell the story coldly, the people more warmly.

In 1945, the people couldn't have been more confused. Tokyo, for example, was 80 per cent destroyed. Osaka, Nagoya, Hiroshima, Nagasaki, Yokohama, just to name a few were in rubble.

The emperor had declared he really wasn't god.

For the stricken nation it was not a question of what to do, it was how to move. Japan was like a prizefighter trying to get up and beat the 10-count; it couldn't focus, its muscles were paralyzed.

Today, you'd have to look hard to see traces of war. If the people aren't generally happy, they sure can be seen with a lot of smiles and they know how to have a good time as their night clubs, parks and athletic stadiums attest.

This nation of 93,000,000 jammed onto four main islands in less space than the state of Montana —only one-sixth of it capable of producing food—is producing more than $30 billion worth of goods and services a year — the so-called Gross National Product.

The average income per capita is about $300 per year — low by American standards, but by far the highest in Asia. And there are predictions that the per capita income will double by 1970. Few doubt that with this country's determination, it will come true.

Korean Reds Blasted

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI)— U.S. Marine Maj. Gen. Marion L. Dawson demanded Thursday that the Communists demolish "illegal fortifications" in the truce zone.

Dawson, chief Allied member of the Truce Commission, also demanded punishment of the Red army officer who attempted by force last week to prevent an Allied inspector from examining the fortifications through binoculars.

During the past four years alone, Japan's industrial production has risen by 80 per cent. It's still booming.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — An industrial spy network in Manhattan wars on petty pilferage in supermarkets, department stores and specialty shops across the nation.

Michael Aulicino, boss of the super spies, said in an interview that his operatives estimate the cost of living could be reduced by one billion dollars a year if the petty thefts were eliminated.

Although the Aptec Co. operatives do their spying in stores, they are not store detectives. "We sometimes spy on the store detectives," Aulicino said.

The Aptec gum-shoes usually are called in by the chairman of the board or a company president who suspects that something seems wrong with the current balance sheet — especially the part that has to do with inventories.

"Some persons we have caught in the act of stealing from the company," Aulicino said, "become indignant, seeing nothing wrong with what technically is a theft."

In one supermarket, for example, the manager and employes were in the habit of treating themselves to lunch by sampling the merchandise. Lunches cost the firm $75 a day.

In another supermarket, the employes were allowed to consume merchandise if the package was damaged. So they broke the paper packaging of cookies and fruit.

The classic case of supermarket pilferage, however, was the one in which a clerk was at liberty to dispose of damaged merchandise. Aulicino said the clerk wasn't content to sell at a discount the normally damaged stock.

"We found that he was taking an ax to cases of good merchandise to increase his supply. By the time we caught up with him, he was netting up to $400 a week."

Khrushchev Diatribe Hints Return To Stalinist Policy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

PARIS (AP)—It may be months before the West can make an adequate assessment of the factors behind the explosion at the summit in Paris. And only time may tell whether East or West—if either—is a winner over the other.

Nikita Khrushchev's violent diatribe before the world's press Wednesday presented a frightening spectacle for an already jittery world.

It suggested the Soviet premier felt an urgent need to lower the cold war temperature. It suggested also that Soviet-American crises, edging to the brink of disaster and then easing off, may be expected over a long period.

There was more than a hint of a return to Stalinist foreign policy in Khrushchev'a performance. This would augur a fortress of world communism, furiously building its power anduusing dangerous tensions as political weapons elsewhere in the world.

Glowering down at massed representatives of the world's press, Khrushchev fired a fistful of verbal thunderbolts. He waved his arms as he poured a torrent of insults upon U.S. leaders. He grinned and grimaced and scowled menacingly, like a man given an assignment to carry out and determined to give the utmost satisfaction.

There was nothing essentially new in what Khrushchev said. But the way he said it was menacing. And all together, it strengthened the impression that he had been prodded into this unprecedented, supertruculent posture.

Those in the Kremlin doing the prodding—and the finger of suspicion points to old-line Stalinists supported by resentful army officers—apparently still do not want to turn the cold war into a hot one.

Khrushchev made it clear that whoever makes Soviet policy does not intend to let the crises develop into war. This was evident from his performance. He repeated his threats in stormy and undiplomatic language, but cautiously left the Kremlin a way out in each case. Here are some examples:

On Berlin: He said the American attitude in Paris gave urgency to the Soviet resolve to end the occupation status and make West Berlin an international city. But once again he did not set a time limit, and even indicated this might be discussed at some future summit conference.

On divided Germany: Khrushchev said he still intends to sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany and thus end Western rights of access to West Berlin. But not now. He said the Kremlin would do it when it considers the time is ripe.

On disarmament and nuclear weapons testing, his position essentially was no different from the previous position.

It all was a matter of tone, as if Khrushchev were satisfying somebody back home of his intentions.

What the Russians have done is retain major world issues, particularly those of Berlin and Germany, as ready-made crises. These can be used whenever the Russians, for internal or other reasons, find a crisis necessary.

In the long run the results of the Paris attempt at a summit meeting are likely to hurt world Communism as a movement, just as Stalin hurt the movement a decade ago. But the Communists have the consolation that, at the same time, the Paris results can solidify the ranks of the Communist world leadership.

New Brigitte Bardot

DIJON, France (AP)—There's a new Brigitte Bardot. Parents of a baby born early this month, Bernard Bardot, 26, and his wife Charlotte, insist their choice of the name Brigitte had nothing to do with the French film star. Moreover, they ruled out photographs, interviews and publicity beyond the public record of christening.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street experts expect a stock market stimulant from increased defense spending.

Anticipating that the summit collapse would heighten the United States' defense outlay, some said Wednesday they believed a wide range of stocks would benefit.

Failure of the summit meeting sent the market into a whirlwind of activity Wednesday led by the so-called space age stocks—aircrafts, missiles and electronics.

"Increased defense spending would beef up the status of business," said Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co.

"When you spend more you help all lines of business—oils, steels, coppers, rails. The economy has been in a rut."

A. M. Kidder & Co. said resumption of the cold war "might strongly influence business outside of inventory curtailment.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. expressed the opinion that heavy buying on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday was in anticipation of increased defense spending.

But he said recent indications of a good business outlook was a factor in renewed optimism about stock market prospects.

Gilbert M. Kiggins of Hemphill, Noyes — Co. observed that, "Economic news from Washington last week was encouraging and the market absorbed the news of new international tensions in manly fashion."

He said that while some first-quarter earnings will undoubtedly be affected by bad weather, many good ones are expected. Confidence on the part of the general public is reflected in the high rate of consumer spending, he added.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Here's Skin Flattery For Forty

At twenty, a woman can be too hasty and impatient to spend much time and thought on preserving her naturally fine complexion. At thirty, still able to get by on minimum care, she can protest she's too busy.

But at forty, if she wants to retain or regain a youthful bloom, she'll have to work! No skipping, no excuses, no slapdash measures. Only the sternest self-discipline will keep her daily diet up to par. Only a steady day-by-day program of skin and hair care will bring rewards.

If she wants to be able to discipline herself without frantic prodding, the first thing she must learn to control is her REST! Just a little more — and better — sleep and relaxation can make an almost unbelievable difference in her appearance and in her attitude, especially toward herself. Here again, a well-balanced diet guarantees the B vitamins and other nutrients that keep nerves in balance, to make it easier for her to relax and to maintain self control and a good disposition.

Will good rest and good temper erase her lines and wrinkles? Yes . . . the UNBECOMING ones. And they will soften the more pleasant marks of maturity, those life-lines of personal expression that describe a human face rather than a blank mask.

Now, while she feeds and pampers her skin and hair internally, our Forty does all she can externally to improve their surface quality. With her natural hormone supply diminishing, dryness is her main problem. And moisture is her best answer. That means just her main problem. And moisture is her best answer. That means just one soap-and-water washing a day for the face, but lots of scrupulous cleansing with cream, combined with the replenishment and stimulation from toning lotions, moisturizing creams and facial masks. That means constant cream-conditioning for the hair, too.

Here is her chance to combine discipline with a little daring. Unless she has already styled herself with an ageless "trademark" in hair and makeup, she's probably tired of looking at a faded image. This is definitely the time for some audacious changes . . . new makeup blended especially for her, including tantalizing eye makeup . . . perhaps a radically-new coiffure in a ravishing new hair color.

A revolution like this doesn't compare with the self-conscious experimentation of teenagers, for all these new fashions in makeup, all these marvelous chemical miracles BELONG to a woman of forty. They were designed with her in mind. Why should she let herself shrivel into middle age as if it were the Middle Ages?

To convince herself . . . and to gain a little confidence in her own technique . . . she should treat herself to a professional consultation with a cosmetician and a hair stylist, at least ONCE.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: Last year my husband became acquainted with a fast-talking promoter. I was suspicious of the man from the start. He yakked a mile a minute and tried to impress us with how rich he was. My husband had to pick up the dinner check every time we went out because the big-shot never got around to cashing a check.

Against my advice my husband gave him $7,000 which was our life's savings. The fast-talker disappeared into thin air and my husband didn't have a single thing down on paper. His Memphis address turned out to be a phony.

This incident has made me very bitter. When I think of all the things I could have bought for myself and the children with $7,000 I burn.

I'm seriously considering putting our three children into foster homes and taking a course in practical nursing so I can earn my own living and tell him to go his own way.

When I told my husband of my plan he looked at the floor and said it wasn't fair to him or the kids. How fair was HE to do what he did? I need your advice.

—BURNT

DEAR BURNT: What price spite! Isn't it enough that the four-flusher fleeced you out of $7,000? Are you going to let him break up your family, too?

The money is gone. Now forget it. It was foolish of your husband to be taken in like a yokel at a county fair, but it's ancient history now. Stick by the guy. He really needs you now. Forget about a separation, foster homes and the rest of the nonsense. It's times like these that separate the women from the girls.

DEAR ANN: I'm 38, well-educated and have never been married. This letter may sound a bit preposterous but I am on the level and need help from an objective person who doesn't know me.

I've always been interested in languages. I enrolled last year in an adult education course. The teacher is a charming, cultured woman in her late 50s. We've grown very fond of each other and our personalities are perfectly attuned.

Could this marriage last? My friends say no. Surely a mature relationship would stand a better chance than these teen-age romances based on physical attraction. What do you say?

—MISTER X

DEAR MISTER X.: Elle est trop vielle pour vous. Sie izt tsu alt fur sie. Es damasiado vieja para fu. Translated, Brother, she's too old for you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please answer in the paper. It would be embarrassing if my mother got hold of a letter from you and found out I had written about this subject.

I am a high school sophomore and have recently started to date. Every time I take a girl home after a date, her porch light is on.

Should I kiss her goodnight in the car, or under the porch light?

This is no joke. Your advice will be greatly appreciated.

—YOUNG AND IGNORANT

DEAR YOUNG AND IGNORANT: I cast my vote for the porch—and the light.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you read ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Two County Road Projects Under Way; Several More Repair Jobs Slated Next Year

The Allegany County Roads Department has under way two road surfacing projects in the eastern section of the county.

Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, said the projects come within the program decided upon by the county commissioners last year. In previous years the county roads unit made periodic repairs to roadways but the present county board decided this was a waste of county funds.

A plan for the hardsurfacing of as much mileage as possible each year was set up and last year more than six miles was hardsurfaced by county road workers.

The federal government pays for part of the hardsurfacing work while the county does the engineering, relocation, grading and ditching required. Under the program the county can do the work at a much lower cost than if it was contracted with a private concern.

Currently the County Roads Department is relocating, widening and "swamping out" a mile and a half section of the Bear Hill Road in the Oldtown area. After this work is completed the roadway will be hardsurfaced.

The hardsurfacing is the type which consists of six inches of crusher run stone and two applications of asphalt and stone chips.

The Bear Hill Road connects with the Town Creek Road and there is approximately a nine-mile section between the two roadways which needs to be hardsurfaced. In coming years it is hoped to complete the entire section and this will provide a route from Flintstone to the Oldtown area and cut off many miles when vehicles come from Flintstone to Cumberland and thence to Oldtown.

The second hardsurfacing project which the county is doing currently is located on the Little Orleans Road north of U. S. Route 40. There is a one-mile stretch to the Pennsylvania state line which will be completed this year. The roadway on the Pennsylvania side of the line has been hardsurfaced by that state.

Skelly said next year it is hoped to start on projects on the Rocky Gap Road, Town Creek Road, old Hancock Road and Oliver Beltz Road. These roadways will be included in the projects during the next two years, he added.

Skelly estimates the Bear Hill Road and Little Orleans Road projects will cost $50,000 per mile.

New Postal Plan Will Speed Mail Delivery Throughout Tri-State Area

Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties together with other counties in the tri-state section have been placed into the expanded Washington metropolitan postal area mail transportation and distribution plan and Cumberland Post Office has been designated as a sectional center.

M. C. Clarke, regional operations director of the Washington region of the Post Office Department, said this expansion of the postal area will provide next-day delivery of first-class mail for 500,000 people throughout the additional 22 county, 9,000-square-mile area in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Counties added to the D. C. distribution area are as follows:

Pennsylvania — Bedford, Fayette and Somerset.

The entire D. C. metropolitan area now covers 597 post offices located in 37 counties of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia which serve a population of 2,500,000 people and cover a district of 14,500 square miles.

This program for better first class mail service has been in test operation in the expanded portion of the D.C. area plan since February 29, Clarke said.

"I feel confident that postal patrons can be assured that, barring occasional human errors, first class letters mailed prior to 5 p. m. or at smaller offices, in time for final dispatch if made prior to 5 p. m., will be delivered to their destinations within the plan area on the first delivery trips of the following business days," he added.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon Sr. of Cumberland said locally the post office expanded its street letter box collections last October.

This means that mail is picked up from each box each evening and is in the post office by 6:30 p. m. so that the letters can be placed on the westbound Capitol Limited at 8:30 p. m. for Pittsburgh and points west, and on the Metropolitan at 7:45 p. m. for D.C. and points east.

Clark said these major improvements in first class mail service plan are the result of intensive study and planning. Personnel of the Washington postal region and of 597 post offices in the plan area have worked as a team to develop a comprehensive service program and put it into effect.

Next day delivery of most of the first class mail in the plan area is now possible because of a closely integrated time table which governs the work of the area's postal units and the transportation linking them together.

Postal employes work against time throughout the night in order to make possible next-day delivery of hundreds of thousands of letters to the 2,500,000 people residing in the region, Clarke declared.

The population of this area is growing rapidly and its postal service needs are becoming increasingly complex, the regional official said.

On the average day, approximately 1,300,000 pieces of first class mail are handled between the 597 area post offices ranging from the large first class ones to the small rural fourth class post offices.

The principal feature of the new plan involves the designation of certain strategically located post offices to act as collection and distribution centers for various sections of the area involved in the overall system.

Thus, much of this mail will be processed by the designated centers, thereby bypassing the congested areas and eliminating time-consuming travel, Clarke declared.

B&O Would Discontinue 'Diplomat'

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio railroad said yesterday it has asked permission to discontinue its "Diplomat" passenger trains between St. Louis and Baltimore because of financial losses due to declining passenger patronage on the runs.

The trains, Nos. 3 and 4, would be consolidated with Nos. 1 and 2, the National Limited.

The B&O said it had filed petitions for approval of the consolidation with state regulatory commissions in West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

The B&O said schedules of westbound train No. 1 and eastbound No. 2, the National Limited, differ only a few hours from the present schedules of the two trains to be discontinued. The National Limited would serve all stations now served by trains No. 3 and 4.

Savings from the proposed consolidation, the B&O said, will enable it to continue other trains between Baltimore and St. Louis.

Veteran B&O Employe Retires Soon In Wheeling

John J. Sell, who served a number of years with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here and at Keyser; will retire June 15 at Wheeling where he is superintendent of the Wheeling Division.

A number of local B&O employes will attend a testimonial dinner Saturday at 6:30 p. m. in honor of Sell at Figaretti's at Elm Grove near Wheeling.

Sell entered B&O service on July 13, 1917, at Connellsville as a brakeman. On November 11, 1918, he was made a stenographer at Cumberland. He subsequently held positions as labor distributor, material distributor, timekeeper, investigator and yardmaster.

On January 1, 1927, he was promoted to night general yardmaster at Cumberland and June 1, 1928, was advanced to assistant trainmaster at Keyser.

He was made general yardmaster at Keyser on September 1 1928, and general yardmaster at Cumberland on December 12, 1930.

Sell on August 1, 1936, moved to Parkersburg as terminal trainmaster and October 19, 1939, was made district supervisor of terminals at Willard, Ohio.

March 16, 1941, he was transferred to East Salamanca, N. Y., as trainmaster, and September 1, 1941 became terminal supervisor of the Buffalo-Rochester terminals.

Following his appointment March 20, 1942, as terminal superintendent at Philadelphia, he became supervisor of the New York terminal region on October 1, 1942. He has been superintendent of the Wheeling Division since December 1, 1945.

Sell and his wife have 11 children. Five of his sons are in B&O service. James E. Sell is terminal trainmaster at Fairmont; John L. Sell is assistant trainmaster at Philadelphia; Robert L. Sell is assistant trainmaster at Baltimore; Donald W. Sell is chief clerk to the trainmaster at Wheeling, and Thomas J. Sell is a road electrician working out of Grafton.

His two other sons are Richard Sell, terminal manager at Parkersburg for the Philadelphia-Wheeling and Kenneth A. Sell, a lieutenant junior grade in the Navy and an aviator aboard the Carrier Randolph in the Atlantic Fleet.

His four daughters are Mrs. Robert M. Garvey, Columbus, Ohio; Sister Francis DeSales, St. Joseph's Convent, Wheeling; Mrs. Victor W. Mason, Parkersburg, and Miss Ellen C. Sell, at home.

Elks Honor Two Youths

Two high school students were honored Wednesday by Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, for winning the local youth leadership competition sponsored by the lodge.

Miss Marlene Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Clark, RD 2, Baltimore Pike, and Eric Fable, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Kight, 817 Braddock Road, were awarded savings bonds.

A senior at Fort Hill High School, Miss Clark also won first place in the Maryland-Delaware-District of Columbia Elks Association contest and will vie for national honors. As such, she will be presented a $100 savings bond at the tri-area convention in August at Cambridge.

Miss Clark plans to enter college.

Fable, a senior at Allegany High School, placed second in the association contest. He was unable to attend last night's presentation but expressed appreciation for the honor through Joseph E. Mackert, esteemed loyal knight and chairman of the youth leadership committee.

Winners of the national competition are expected to be announced at a convention next month in Dallas, Texas, where the local ritualistic team will compete for top honors.

Thomas W. Beckett. Interment will be in Frostburg Memorial Park and pallbearers will be McKee Loar, Ralph Pape, John Brode, Glen Ryan, George Kroll and Asa Wilhelm.

Pool Manager Is Reappointed

FROSTBURG—Ellsworth Filer has been reappointed by the Mayor and Council to manage the community swimming pool this year. He was delegated to choose life guards and other attendants.

Council also requested that strip mining operations on the property of Nathaniel Workman, Sand Spring, be closely observed and that the operator be advised not to disturb Shaw Street until water lines in that area have been checked. Members voted to advise Workman that a broader agreement will have to be reached concerning damage incurred as a result of the stripping operations.

Following approval of the semi-monthly payroll, council discussed the preliminary budget. The final budget will be submitted at the June meeting.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—May wheat contracts expired on a widely irregular note Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Other grains were mixed.

In a flurry of last minute trading, the May wheat was carried down the 10-cent daily limit at the close. May rye, on the other hand, died with a gain of 2½ cents.

At the final bell, wheat was off 9⅞ to up ½; corn up ⅝ to 1⅛; oats off 1½ to up ⅛; rye unchanged to up 2½; soybeans off ⅛ to up ¾, and lard unchanged to up 3 points.

May wheat was the most erratic contract on the exchange Thursday. The contract dropped 2 cents in the first half-hour, recovered, fell off sharply at the close. Both longs and shorts were heavy sellers.

Deferred wheat futures were firm.

Corn prices were higher, with continued wet weather furnishing support. Commercial houses bought May, which commission and local traders sold. There were numerous orders to buy July at $1.21⅛.

Export subsidies were granted on 305,000 bushels of corn and 20,000 bushels of rye.

Oats were most steadily, with the May contract leading the decline. Longs sold the May. Cash houses bought May and sold July. Outside demand centered in the distant contracts.

Rye futures were irregular. Nearby contracts were strong.

Soybeans declined slightly under the influence of lower meals and selling by longs. Northwest brokers bought May and sold July. Oils and lards were about steady.

Exporters reported Poland and Israel bought hard wheat. France was in the market for soybeans.

Outside markets were mixed.

FUTURE FASHION EXPERTS

Main entrance to High School of Fashion Industries in New York.

The High School of Fashion Industries was made to order for the apparel manufacturers and merchandisers of New York City. It is the only school of its kind in the country..

The pupils are prepared for all kinds of jobs in the fashion industry — designing, merchandising, men's and women's clothing, shoe and fur manufacturing, textiles, and other allied fields. Along with their vocational and technical studies, the students receive a complete high school course in English, social studies, mathematics, science, health education and music. Their school day is longer than that of others, but they apply themselves diligently and seriously, and have no trouble landing a job at the end of the four years.

Approximately 325 boys and girls graduate each year. About 80 per cent go right into fashion industry jobs. The rest continue their education in colleges and technical institutions.

First started as a two-room "School House" in 1926, with 75 students and a staff of a principal and two teachers, the school grew fast. Today it occupies a ten-story building, with a student body of some 1800 teen-age boys and girls and a teaching staff of 114. It also has an evening school for adults.

"Our school has one of the closest industry relationships in the country," says the school's principal, Dr. Nathan Brown. "We get materials, machines, money for scholarships, and advice from the companies. All our graduates get jobs unless they want to go to college or get married."

Horatio Alger Type Hero

Bob Banner is a fine healthy upstanding example of young creative television manhood. Symbol of America and all that. Land of opportunity, you know. In fact, if they wrote the Horatio Alger stories all over, the hero would probably resemble Banner and the story line would follow his.

Banner is a six-foot Texan who was working in the theater department of Northwestern University in 1948 when television first began to stir. He wanted to have his own little niche at Northwestern in which he could be leading teacher. TV, he felt, was it.

"Being an aggressive guy, I asked if I might work part time at a station so I knew what I was teaching. Since Northwestern is a progressive school, they let me. And here I am."

Like so many of the best people in TV, Banner started in Chicago in part time work at WBKB. His first show was one of the trail blazers, "Garroway at Large." In those days you were a stage manager three days, an associate director three weeks, and then a director. Teaching at Northwestern was never like this. I remember one Christmas night. I'd barely got in the front door when the phone started ringing. Somebody wanted to interview me for a job in television which began at 9 o'clock the next morning. And you know, television has never changed. I've never known it to be different."

Because he got in very early, and because he's a very bright, talented fellow, and because he's got lots of push, and because he's lucky, he has done many many shows since Garroway's, including most of the top musical shows. He directed the Fred Waring show in 1950 and '51, the Metropolitan Opera in '52, "Omnibus" in 1953 and '54, the Dinah Shore shows from 1954 through 1956, including the old fifteen minute shows, "Wide Wide World," "Producers Showcase," and this last year, the Garry Moore shows.

Gradually, over the years, a Banner touch has become discernible in all his shows. Banner shows have class, a sort of richness in texture in their settings and costumes, a marvelous pace in their movement and a high exuberant style. Above all, the Banner show is strictly a television show; you couldn't transplant it anywhere else.

"I have always felt that people with any kind of background in show business could adapt to television. A good actor or actress should be good in any medium. For a while I thought Pay-TV was the answer to all of TV's problems. But then I saw 'Startime' on NBC. I had envisioned a show like 'Startime' as the ultimate for Pay-TV. Now, I'm not sure that's the cure-all. There's hardly anything we haven't already seen on free TV. On the specials you see the same people you saw on all the other specials doing the same routines and singing the same songs.

"I'm concerned about summer television programming. It seems to me this is the time to try out something new. Most people don't because it's easier to repeat. This summer, we're going to try a new show in the Garry Moore time slot. Who knows? If it's good, maybe next fall. It's a mystery show called 'DX: Unknown'—but the hero isn't a private eye or a cop but a doctor. I've always been a mystery fan. This one will not only have action and mystery but—we hope—great intelligence. I got intrigued by the idea when Leo Davis, a producer, told me about one of his friends who is a pathologist in the police department. It's called forensic medicine. It means the use of lab and medical techniques in a criminal area to aid in the solution of crime. A piece of lint from your coat can be traced to you. In the stories we do, we don't have one fingerprint. It's much more complicated."

Bob Banner Productions is a new company and Mr. Banner plans to include play production as well as TV production. For Broadway, he and his wife are working on a musical based on Giradoux's "The Apollo of Belac." For TV he wants to do original musicals, though the record of this genre so far has been disastrous. "They're considered precarious but it's an area that hasn't been touched."

Farewell To Paris

PARIS (UPI)—The late Prince Aly Khan left the Paris he loved for the last time Thursday accompanied by weeping women and sorrowing members of his family.

The embalmed remains of the play-boy diplomat who died in a road crash outside Paris on Thursday, left aboard a special train coach bound for the Riviera.

Sets Off Blast

LILLEHAMMER, Norway (UPI)—A military munitions dump blew up Thursday at Ringebu, 30 miles from here, setting off a chain-reaction of explosions.

The explosions ripped through the area when other structures filled with artillery grenades blew up one after the other. No deaths were reported.

Missile Talks Planned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—British Defense Minister Harold Watkinson will arrive here May 30 for high-level conferences which are expected to include possible British purchase of U.S. ballistic missiles.

Plans Illinois Plant

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)— Archer-Daniels - Midland Co. announced plans for a multi-million-dollar chemical plant to be built near Peoria, Ill. Construction will begin in the early fall.

To Build New Plant

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Bausch & Lomb Inc. reported plans to build a 4-million-dollar plant in suburban Rochester for the manufacture of eyeglass frames and to handle the distribution of the company's products.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Muscular model for physical culturists, actor Richard Harrison, will play the male lead in American-International's "Goliath and the Dragon." The movie starts in July in Italy and Harrison was chosen after he appeared in "Tall Story." He won the "Mr. Utah" award in 1958 and "Mr. Apollo" award in 1959 for physical perfection.

Jim Nicholson and Sam Arkoff, American — International heads, leave with their wives next month for a trip to the Far East where they'll also look up locations for the Jules Verne fantasy "Year 2889." Their trip will take them to Rome in July for the start of "Goliath and the Dragon."

The price offered Swedish beauty Anita Ekberg by Italian producer Ottavio Poggi is $87,000 to play "Nefretete," the drama of the virgin queen of the Nile. Poggi, who produced "Hannibal" with Vic Mature, and "Mary Magdalene," has been in town assembling a cast for his historical movie to be made in Rome. The Poggi offer is only one of many Anita has received.

Van Heflin was wanted for the male lead in this movie, but isn't free to accept. But Poggi has big backing for his Egyptian drama, so he'll look for another top star.

Not even Lana Turner's closest friends have talked with her since her daughter Cheryl's recent escapade. Lana has been living like a recluse in Palm Springs, but she has agreed to put in an appearance at the world premiere of "Portrait in Black" in Chicago June 23. She'll also make two weeks of personal appearances in principal cities with her picture.

But there's one thing she won't discuss, and that's Cheryl's unfortunate experience at the corrective school where she is confined. I wish there was some way to solve this problem for Cheryl, her mother, and her father Steve Crane.

Wait and see if Ronnie Burns doesn't qualify as one of our handsomest young leading men after he does his half-hour TV series on the Perry Como summer replacement.

Ronnie got rid of those silly sideburns; he's a good actor, and I am told the series is sure to be popular with young people throughout the country. Mickey Rooney has been engaged to direct one of the segments called "Happy's Holiday."

The other half of the Como replacement is a Western called "Tate."

Word from Kim Novak's bedside at Doctors Hospital in New York is that she's getting restless and wants to come home. Although her strep throat has responded to treatment, the yellow jaundice remains. But Kim's begging to leave the hospital over the weekend.

Dick Quine, who's in Hong Kong, has telephoned her several times and urged her to stay in bed until she's completely recovered. She has put her Bel-Air home on the market and the asking price is $155,000 (furnished, that is). A bachelor looked at it and when he saw the lavendar den, remarked, "This has gotta go!"

One of Natalie Wood's and Bob Wagner's neighbors in their New York apartment is writer Bill Inge, author of "Splendor in the Grass." Natalie's movie. They were thrilled to meet him. When Natalie started work last week, Bob gave her a gold heart with "I Love You" engraved on one side, and the name of the character she plays on the other side.

I just heard that Elia Kazan, who's directing "Splendor" had telephoned Peggy Lee long distance to ask her to play a dramatic part in this movie. Since Peggy likes, more than anything, to go dramatic, she's seriously considering the offer.

Flower Planting Contest Planned For City Playlots

A flower planting contest for the city's 14 playgrounds is being sponsored by the Jayncees, according to Mrs. Edward F. Mullan Jr., chairman.

Details of the contest are being worked out with C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, and Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant director. Plans call for a flower club to be organized at each playground, Mrs. Mullen said, adding that the contest will start with the opening of the playot season and conclude with the judging of the playground plantings in August.

Arrangements are being made for the selection of the flowers which will be used in the contest to be available to the separate clubs. The flowers will be selected from those which will be in bloom by the end of July, Mrs. Mullan said.

The flowers are being selected by Mrs. George Henderson, former president of the Garden Club of Cumberland, although the colors to be used will be left to the discretion of the playground clubs.

Mrs. Mullen also said effort will be made to have the city flower, which is being selected under a project of the Garden Club, to be used in the playground contest.

Rules for the contest call for the flowers to be planted in a three-foot area in a design planned by the separate clubs. Judging will be on the basis of color and arrangement, and prizes will be awarded, Mrs. Mullan said.

Assisting in the contest are Mrs. Jack Murray, Mrs. Stanley Goodrich and Mrs. William Hill.

Air Violation Charged

CAIRO (UPI)—The United Arab Republic said Israeli planes violated U.A.R. air space Thursday when a plane carrying Premier Jawaharlal Nehru was flying from Cairo to Gaz.

A U.A.R. communique relesed in Gaza said three Israeli Mystere jet planes flew over Nehru's plane on the border of the Gaza sector and that two other Israeli jets passed overhead when Nehru's plane was landing.

Sterne Named Union Head

Ronald N. Sterne was elected president of Local 244, Cumberland Typographical Union in balloting conducted Wednesday.

Others elected and unopposed are: W. P. Price, vice president; Donald R. Beynon, secretary-treasurer; John E. Miller, recording secretary; James W. Beynon, Journal correspondent; Cloid R. True, sergeant-at-arms; Price, True and Owen M. Williams, audit committee; Richard O. Bolden, B. E. DeBolt, Sterne, C. E. Stickley, and True, scale committee; Angelo Samson, Sterne and True, joint standing committee.

The election committee was composed of E. G. Bolden, R. W Harkcom and W. R. Shaner.

Farm Board To Meet

The board of directors of the Allegany County Farm Bureau will meet next Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

County Easter Seal Sale Returns Reach $9,878

Final returns of $9,878.21 in the 1960 Easter Seal Sale campaign were announced yesterday by George A. Schwarzenbach, seal sale chairman and member of the executive committee of the Allegany County League For Crippled Children.

Proceeds from Easter Seals amounted to $8,258.20. Other returns were as follows: Celanese Fibers Company Charity Fund, $170; Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles Lily Parade, $700.43; Loyal Order of Moose 271 Lily Parade, $517.21; Frostburg Moose Lodge Lily Parade, $90.25; Lonaconing Veterans of Foreign Wars Lily Parade, $90.87; Times and Alleganian Company Employes Charity Fund, $120, and dime boards at Cumberland Knights of Columbus, Frostburg Elks and Frostburg American Legion, $51.25.

This year's campaign exceeded by $359.30 the $9,518.91 reported last year.

Proceeds from the seal sale campaign provide one-third of the league's annual income which is applied toward therapy and services for handicapped adults and children with the cooperation of local and state Health Departments.

Officers and the executive committee of the League joined in expressing their thanks and gratitude at public support of the seal sale campaign and commended volunteers who had assisted in making it a success.

Officers are Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, president; Sen. J. Glenn Beall, vice president; John H. Mosner, treasurer; J. William Hunt, secretary; Miss Henrietta Lippold, RN, executive secretary; Miss Schwarzenbach, chairman, Schwarzenbach, Mosner, Dr. W. Royce Hodges, Sen. Beall, John M. Robb, John J. McMullen, Judge Morgan C. Harris, G. William Bibby, William A. Gunter, William R. Carscaden and Hunt, members of the Executive Committee.

Headquarters for the League is in City Hall Plaza.

The robin, goldfinch and English sparrow are among the birds imported to the United States territory by white settlers.

Church Plans Daily School

The kindergarten division of the Daily Vacation Church School of LaVale Methodist Church will begin June 1 and continue through June 10 under the direction of Mrs. Robert C. Morris.

Classes will be conducted daily from 9:30 a. m. until noon. Kindergarten children four to six years of age will be included.

The course, "Together in Our Church," will be headed by Mrs. C. E. Burgess. Other teachers are Mrs. Charles Krimm, Mrs. Ivan Daniels and Mrs. Charles Alford. Assistant teachers are Mrs. Donald Marang, Mrs. Jack Gardner, Mrs. John Burkett, Mrs. Charles Long, Mrs. William Helmick and Mrs. Morris.

Others participating in the program are Mrs. Bruce Long III, registrar, Rev. James E. Perry and Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Harold Green, organist, Mrs Paul Stair, refreshments, and Mrs. Floyd V. Cozad, transportation.

Parents will assist with transportation, refreshments and interest centers. The final sharing service for parents and friends will be held Friday, June 10.

The mines of Cobalt, Ont., Canada, are believed to be the largest producers of cobalt in the world.

High Tax Rates And Inflation

As if the grocery bill and allied prices weren't sufficient reminder, there's now testimony to inflation rising on the West Coast. It is a building whose steel skeleton was shipped from Great Britain and still undersold an American steel plant that can be seen from its upper floors.

The European steel mills are not alone in the competition for the American market. Japanese steelmakers can buy American scrap, transport it to Japan for processing, bring it back as finished steel and still price it lower than American steel.

This is what inflation is doing to the nation's key industry. Roger Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel Corporation, the country's biggest steelmaker, gives the major cause as the high wages paid American steelworkers, who get from three to seven times more money than foreign labor.

Mr. Blough might have pursued the subject of inflation beyond the confines of his own business, but perhaps he prefers not to take on the U. S. government at the moment. There, high taxes are somehow thought to be anti-inflationary, and it is true that money siphoned off as taxes does temporarily curtail the public's buying power.

But government spends as it taxes and public spending is no substitution for private investment and private spending. As Joel Barlow, lawyer and tax expert, told the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, the end result of high tax rates is inflationary.

More On Spies

Continuing tales of Soviet espionage in this country, here is the story of Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, one of the most competent spies Soviet Russia sent to this country.

On May 6, 1957, Reino Hayhanen, a Soviet national, revealed he had been operating as a Soviet agent in the United States. He stated he received extensive training in this assignment by Russia. He was given the identity of Eugene Maki, an American citizen, who left the Untied States as an infant with his parents to live in Estonia. Hayhanen obtained an American passport in Helsinki, Finland, using a copy of Maki's birth certificate. On October 21, 1952, Hayhanen arrived in the United States aboard the "Queen Mary" as "Eugene Maki," American citizen.

Hayhanen knew his associates in the U.S. only by their nicknames or cover names. Through intensive investigation, the FBI established identity of his first espionage principal as Mikhail Svirin, a Soviet citizen connected with the United Nations, who left the U.S. in October, 1956.

His next principal was known to Hayhanen as "Mark," a colonel in the Soviet Intelligence Service who had been in espionage work for 30 years. "Mark" had entered the U.S. illegally through Canada and had as a cover a photographic studio located somewhere in downtown Brooklyn, New York.

Through investigation the FBI located this studio in a building at 252 Fulton Street, Brooklyn. It was rented to an individual using the name Emil R. Goldfus. Through an observation plant set up in the vicinity, FBI Agents spotted "Mark" in the studio on June 13, 1957, and thereafter determined he was staying at the Latham Hotel where he had been registered since May 18, 1957, under the name of Martin Collins of Daytona Beach, Florida.

On June 21, 1957, through arrangements the FBI made with the Immigration and Naturalization Service, "Mark" was taken into custody at his hotel room on an alien warrant charging him with illegal entry into the U.S. and failure to register as an alien.

"Mark" had in his possession a short-wave radio, birth certificates of Goldfus, who died in infancy, and Collins, which was a forgery, and photographic equipment. He had $6,000 in cash and 18 frames of microfilms, containing a schedule of Moscow radio broadcasts, which was found in a small hollowed-out pencil. He also had keys to a safe deposit box, which, when opened through court order, revealed $15,000 in cash.

"Mark" admitted he was a Soviet citizen, true name Rudolf Ivanovich Abel. He said he entered the U.S. in November, 1948, using an American passport in the name of Andrew Kayotis. FBI investigation disclosed that Kayotis, a resident of Detroit, Michigan, was issued an American passport in 1947 for travel to Europe. Kayotis left the United States for Europe in September, 1947, and has never returned.

To minimize personal contact and consequent danger of compromise, a system of widely separated "dead drops" or "banks" was established throughout the Metropolitan area of New York. It was in this manner that Mayhanen contacted Abel. These drops were located in parks, theaters, bars and other public places. Messages were left at particular spots—benches, lamp posts, fences—in these various locations. Often the messages were secreted in hollowed-out objects, such as bolts, pencils, nickels.

Abel was indicted on August 7, 1957, by a Federal Grand Jury in the Eastern District of New York on two counts charging espionage conspiracy and one count charging he acted as a Soviet agent without prior notification to the Secretary of State. He was tried and convicted on all counts. On November 15, 1957, he was sentenced to 30 years on the first count; 10 years on the second count; and 5 years on the third count to run concurrently and fined $2,000 on the second count and $1,000 on the third count to run consecutively. His conviction was confirmed by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. On March 28, 1960, his conviction was affirmed by a 5 to 4 decision in the U.S. Supreme Court.

It is not to be presumed that when Abel was caught and imprisoned, his work stopped. His activities were too important. He was a technical spy, highly-trained, perfectly equipped. Such an enterprise is always duplicated. Not always is it sound to arrest a spy. Often it is good practice to let him go ahead in the hope of catching his American informants.

Khrushchev's Game And The Fear Of War

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Is the world face to face with another Hitler? Will the next few months see another set of appeasement maneuvers in the West such as began at Munich in 1938?

These are strange questions to be asking, but no less strange than a Reuthers news dispatch from London which read as follows:

"The threatened breakdown of the Paris 'summit' talks tonight stirred a world-wide wave of pessimism and talk of war.

" 'Will there be war?' people in Paris were asking, echoing the anxious words of others elsewhere . . .

"Some West German newspapers said Khrushchev's conduct brought back grim memories of Hitler and 'the period of surprises' with which the Nazi dictator opened what one paper called 'the most terrible period of history.' Another compared Khrushchev to 'Stalin in his best days' while a West Berlin daily said the Kremlin leader 'plays poker with peace.' "

Thus does a world in jitters speculate as it sees again what damage a one-man dictatorship can do.

But, just as at Munich a firm hand might have checkmated Hitler, so today a firm hand can checkmate a Khrushchev. While talking arrogantly and threateningly, the Soviet dictator knows that if there are no conferences to relieve tension and no progress toward agreements on outstanding issues, the people of Russia will also get jittery. They could oust Khrushchev for fear he might plunge them into a nuclear war.

Outwardly, therefore, things look grim but, actually, there are signs that Khrushchev is playing a game. He is blunt, defiant, outspoken, but he is also canny. He will discover that the Western Alliance cannot be divided, and he will learn, too, that Americans will rally behind their President despite the minority of short-sighted politicians here who show signs of trying to get some political mileage out of an insinuation that President Eisenhower is somehow to blame for the torpedoing of the "summit" conference.

The Soviet leader cannot pose as a peacemaker and then suddenly be revealed as a maker of war. The reaction of the West indicates an apprehension that he may overplay his hand and that his arbitrary tactics someday will force a war.

The texts of the various communications indicate that the Soviet Premier is almost childlike in his defensiveness. Once President Eisenhower refused to go to a "summit" conference because Mr. Khrushchev threatened the West with an ultimatum. So today the Soviet Premier says he, too, can refuse to go, under the duress of the spy-plane incident.

But, as any student of diplomatic history would tell Mr. Khrushchev, it's all right to make demands and to bluff, but it's also wise to leave a way out for the other side. Thus, he could have construed President Eisenhower's decision to suspend the reconnaissance flights as a point that he had won. But Mr. Khrushchev wasn't satisfied and—like Hitler—has demanded the humiliation of his adversary. This can only lead eventually to a break in diplomatic relations and constant talk of war — something that will arouse the people of the Soviet Union even more quickly than the peoples of the West. For the Rusisans have memories of many millions of their countrymen who died in the last war.

There could be a revolution inside the Soviet Union if tension increases and war threatens. Since the "satellite" nations behind the Iron Curtain would be in the path of a war, they, too, must inevitably rise up to protest. They would surely join any revolt that breaks out.

Mr. Khrushchev, moreover, has unwittingly opened up the whole question of who should rule in his own country. For he has, in effect, told the world that he wants to postpone any serious negotiations till after the Presidential elections in the United States next November, when he hopes the kind of administration will be elected with which he can do business. If he is trying to choose a President for the United States by throwing his propaganda support to an opposition party, then it might be asked whether it isn't fair play also to let the Americans have something to say about who is to rule Russia.

There ought to be some way to propose reciprocity to the Soviet leader—a free election for Russia in November, with a slate of opposition candidates, in exchange for a moratorium on spy flights or even on some nuclear tests. An announcement that such elections would be held could do more to bring peace in the world than a hundred "summit" conferences. Unfortunately, such elections cannot be held till the people of the Soviet Union have recovered possession of their own government.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ELECTRIFICATION — Twenty-five years ago, with a characteristic jaunty smile and a typical wisecrack, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed his famous Executive Order 7037. The order created the Rural Electrification Administration, one of the most far-reaching of all New Deal social reforms.

FDR affixed his signature to many epochal pieces of legislation, but perhaps none has had more vast impact than creation of the REA. It has literally changed the face of America.

When the governmental lending agency was created, only 11 per cent of America's farms had electricity. Today, that figure has soared to over 97 per cent, according to REA officials.

America leads the world in electrified farms. Over 17 million rural persons now have electricity and the high output of America's farms represents our greatest advantage over Russia in the cold war.

American rockets may sputter while Russian ICBMs roar, but an overlooked but comforting fact is that poor Soviet farm production limits any extended Russian adventures. Soviet farms, lacking labor-saving machinery, and particularly electricity, have lagged far, far behind in production goals.

It takes 50 per cent of all Soviet citizens—nearly 90 million persons—to barely produce enough food to feed the Soviet empire. And an army, as Napoleon so aptly put it, still "travels on its stomach."

America, on the other hand, has about 15 million persons working in agriculture—less than 10 per cent of our citizens—and we produce vast food surpluses!

A sizable amount of the credit for this belongs to the REA.

According to Dr. Paul Nelson, staff economist of NRECA, the rural users of electricity (farms use far more electricity than the average home) will spend far more than $1 billion during 1960 for appliances. Most popular is the food freezer. Rural folk will buy 760,200 of them this year.

A mountain of 558,000 electric ranges, 302,400 electric blankets, 579,800 dryers—and a whole flock of skyrocketing purchases will be made. This, REA supporters declare, helps give the whole economy a shot in the arm.

There's no question about it—FDR really started something!

Ike Went To Summit Unprepared, But Khrushchev Planned Carefully

By Drew Pearson

PARIS—One difficulty of President Eisenhower in Paris was that he came to the so-called summit conference unprepared, and kept revising his proposals until the last minute. Nikita Khrushchev, on the other hand, had worked out his strategy before leaving Moscow and never deviated from it. He kept Eisenhower off balance.

For instance, the President came to Paris with a dossier of cases where the Soviets had been spying on the United States, but his staff debated a long time whether to release them.

Last week, in Berlin, I proposed to Gen. Ralph Osbourne, commander of U. S. forces, to release data on scores of cases of Communist spying on American troops in Berlin. He looked horrified. However, from my own files plus other confidential sources, here are many significant cases of Soviet espionage—some of which changed history.

Canadian Spy Ring—When the story of the spy ring operating from the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa was revealed in this column in February 1946, it had almost exactly the same repercussions—in reverse—as the recent U-2 flight over Russia. I was deluged with critical mail claiming I was disrupting Soviet-American friendship which then, immediately after the war, was strong. However, the trials held subsequently in Canadian courts showed how extensive Soviet espionage was, and that it was responsible for stealing our atom-bomb secret. Dr. Allen Munn, a British scientist; Fred Rose, a member of the Canadian Parliament, and a dozen others were convicted.

U. S. Tolerance

Incidentally, the United States showed its tolerance later by permitting Georgi Zourubin, Russian Minister to Ottawa during the espionage crisis, to come to Washington as Russian Ambassador.

Elizabeth Bentley — Another espionage case revealed in this column Sept. 7, 1947, was the theft of blueprints of the B-29, our most valuable wartime bomber which were delivered to Jacob Galos, top Soviet spy in the United States at the time, by his mistress, Elizabeth Bentley.

Judith Coplon — This pretty clerk in the U. S. Justice Department was another amateur who fell for Soviet love, not money, as so frequently happens. She became enamored of Valentin Gubitchev, Soviet attache at the United Nations in New York, and got caught giving U. S. secrets to her Russian lover.

Margarethe Pfeiffer — A big, blonde Czechoslovak girl graduated from a Communist spy school in Thuringia where the girls who have been arrested for prostitution can be trained as spies in lieu of a jail sentence. She tried to persuade Pvt. Robert Eicher of the U. S. Army to give her American tank secrets in return for her love. Instead, he tipped off the American Army and she got four years in jail.

Ingrid Jonek—Another graduate of the Soviet spy school who was more successful. She enticed Pvt. Robert Blevins of Omaha to desert the U. S. Army and go behind the Iron Curtain. He finally was arrested in her home and court-martialed.

Doubled In Love

Irmgard Margaret Schmidt — Another Berlin spy who succeeded in getting battle plans for the defense of Berlin which she sold to the Russians for $375. She managed this by using her brunette beauty on an Air Force colonel and an American intelligence civilian. Both fell in love with Irmgard with neither knowing about the other. She got five years.

Gertrud Mitenentzwei — A stenographer employed by the U. S. Military Government in Bavaria, was caught stealing military documents. She claimed she was driven to spying by Russian threats. She was sentenced to two years in jail.

Edith Dietrich — Convicted of spying in Munich because of her love for a Czech officer who headed a spy ring. With her were convicted Capt. Ivan Janda, Maria Hablick and Robert Kruse.

Kim Soo Beheaded

Kim Soo—The most successful and amazing spy in recent years was a beautiful Korean girl who became the mistress of an American colonel, a senior military adviser to the Korean Army. It was probably because of information she transmitted to the Communists that the Korean War started. Though married to a top North Korean Communist, Lee Kang Kook, she lived in the home of Col. John E. Baird and even hid her Communist husband in the colonel's home on one occasion. Military information passing through the colonel's hands was that the United States would not defend Korea in case of a Communist attack and this information, transmitted by Kim Soo to the Reds, helped to inspire their attack. Later she was tried and beheaded.

These are only a few cases of Soviet espionage. Others included those by Konslantic Pavlovich Ekimon, secretary of the Russian delegation at the United Nations, who was deported in 1956; Col. Ivan Babchikov, an assistant military attache in Washington who was forced to leave the U. S. in 1956; Vassili Zubilin, caught trying to get atomic information at the University of California laboratory in 1957.

There is also testimony by some top Soviet spies who have defected, including Col. Siegfried Dombrowski who revealed that there are 60,000 agents in the Russian spy organization.

Note—When international espionage was mentioned at the first abortive session of the summit conference here, Khrushchev put his arms above his head and said: "As God is my witness, my hands are clean and my soul is pure."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Now and then, it is important that the columnist be taken down a peg. The nature of his work is such that he is always meeting friendly liars who say: "I read your stuff every day." He gets letters from college students who want to use him as a basis for a thesis. He meets policemen who forgive him his transgressions because he is a columnist.

Hotel managers insist that he take the best suite. Some even send free booze and flowers. School girls ask him for his autograph. The publicity hounds bestow awards on him. He makes halting speeches in which he pontificates about world affairs. Women coo at him and he begins to think of his receding hair line and poached eyes as attractive.

At home, his family has been trained to walk and speak on tiptoe when the maestro is at his typewriter, or has just finished reading a letter which opens: "You stupid ox!" These are the moments of the black mood and it requires tact to avoid the columnist until his persecution complex wears off.

He needs a leavening influence now and then. He needs something to remind him that, after all, he is just an overpaid rewrite man. These reminders have, at various times, caught me flush on the chin. They are never easy to take and cannot be covered by a Band-Aid. I don't know about the fortunes of others who write newspaper columns, but the come-uppances have hit me many times and, each time, I have found it necessary to vulcanize the ego before reinflating it.

My father reads more columnists than any man I know. Sometimes a column touches him and he mails it to me with a notation saying: "This is a good one. Read it and let me know what you think. Dad." It is never my column, of course.

Gayle is close to 17 years of age, and now reads the newspapers eagerly. Sometimes, when she is reading the page on which my stuff appears, I hang around a little, paring my nails and trying to appear disinterested. If she laughs heartily, my hopes soar. "You have to read this one, Bubble," she says. (Bubble is her new friendly name for me). "Considine is a riot."

Sometimes I write about my older daughter Ginny and her babies and, when I go to dinner at her house, I say: "Did you and Charlie see the piece about the twins?"

The answer is: "Frankly, we've been so busy trying to get the backyard straightened out that we haven't had time."

This is not a complaint. The columnist—particularly this one—needs a shaking now and then. The toughest one I ever took was from my mother when I finished a book called "The Day Lincoln Was Shot." She said: "What do you say, son? If this one doesn't sell do you think you'll go out and look for a job?"

I needed her approval so desperately that I wrote another book called "The Day Christ Died," and dedicated it to her. But while the book was being written, my mother was stricken blind and, of course, could not read it. I was 45 years of age when she asked me to go to the store for her. She gave me a note and some money: "Just give them to the man," she said. "He'll give you the groceries and the change."

None of these are calculated to make a man feel bright. Not long ago, I asked a scholarly clergyman to read something I had written about the birth of Christ. He wrote back: "It's an interesting piece of work, but I keep getting the impression that you have not read Luke."

The most subtle of the knife wounds occurred a short time ago in Miami Beach. I was making the rounds of the gay spots with Carl Erbe and a party of friends. Some of the big stage acts introduced me from the audience and I felt important as I stood and took a bow to the applause of people who were mumbling: "Who he?"

Later, Carl said we couldn't call it an evening without stopping in at Fu Manchu's. I told him I wasn't much of a fan of Chinese food. Makes no difference, he said, the manager is a fan of yours.

We went. As we walked into the place, I noticed that every chair in the place had the name of a noted person painted on the back. My childish eyes scanned all the chairs quickly. There it was, over in a corner. My name was on the back of it.

I led the group. At the table, I reached to pull out the chair with my name on it. "Careful," the manager said, "the paint is wet." . . .

Readers' Advice On Diabetes And Old Age

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A 12-year-old girl objected to my statement that the mother of a diabetic faces a problem in preparing special meals for the affected child.

"Sir, you are very wrong. I eat the same as the rest of my family except that my portions are weighed. In a previous article you wrote that most diabetics can live a normal and happy life. I want you to know that all can live a normal and happy life. I got diabetes 6½ months ago and this is the best year of my life so far. Please stop making diabetes sound like such an awful disease, because it is not."

This girl knows her diabetes and never will allow the condition to become a handicap. If the American Diabetes Association is looking for a Miss Diabetes for 1960, my I suggest they look up Jane, at Woonsocket, R. I.

Many letters speak for themselves. S. S. R. writes: "In my own case, and observing others, I know that the general attitude toward aging people often does more harm than good. My own family, who has watched me deteriorate from a virile and active person to a so-called sedentary individual, completely fails to understand that it is not lack of desire and enthusiasm for living that prohibits me from engaging in activity.

"A walk to the mailbox or a trip to the basement results in a thumping heart, gasping breath, and almost complete physical exhaustion. This goes on day after day. I have a burning desire to see my roses, fruit trees, and flowers bloom and bear but am completely unable to accomplish the things I would like so much to do. Not all aged are sedentary by choice but some have inactivity forced upon them."

Those who object to the taste of glue in licking stamps will profit from the following suggestion, sent in by an 82-year-old man: "Moisten the envelope with the tongue and then press on the stamp." The alternative is to use a moist sponge or washcloth.

TOMORROW: More on TV.

SENSITIVE TO MONEY

M. S. writes: Can a person be allergic to money? Since working at my present job, handling money, my face and hands have broken out and my fingertips have split open.

REPLY

What—no itch? Allergy is possible but skin tests would be needed to determine the exact cause. Perhaps it might be easier to change jobs, more so if you cannot wear gloves or use a silicone ointment to protect the skin.

KEEP ACTIVE

Mrs. G. writes: How long before delivery can a woman exercise without endangering her child?

REPLY

Until she is ready to climb on the delivery table. I assume you refer to mild exercises such as walking and that there are no complications like phlebitis or toxemia.

CORRECTING LOP EARS

L. P. R. writes: Are there specialists for protruding ears or can an ordinary surgeon flatten them towards the head?

REPLY

This is a job for the plastic surgeon. An incision is made behind the ear, the cartilaginous support of the ear is opened, and the structures are repositioned or reconstructed.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A successful author has one worry that readers seldom stop to consider: what does he do when a man pops out of nowhere with exactly the same name he has invented for a character in his new novel? His plight is particularly embarrassing if the character is a scoundrel.

Mark Twain once selected a name for one of his villians he believed to be utterly safe. It was "Colonel Horace P. Whimplefeather." The day after the story appeared a very much alive, very angry character named Horace P. Whimplefeather burst into Twain's office with a horsewhip and chased the author down the street, challenging him to a duel!

"My wooden leg has been giving me a lot of pain lately," sighed a famous writer at the Overseas Press Club. "How could a wooden leg give you pain?" asked Norman Cousins. "It's my wife's fault," the writer explained. "She hit me over the head with it."

Easy Dinner-In-A-Dish In Just Thirty Minutes

"There are four important things in life," pronounced Madame de Montespan, the high-living friend of the French King Louis XIV. "One of them is dinner — and I forget the other three."

Dinner is important, too, to every member of the modern American family. It's the hour when the whole family is gathered together. Nutritionally, it's usually the biggest meal of the day. From the cook's point of view, dinner should be easy to prepare as well as good to eat. The times are past when the homemaker spent her day in the kitchen.

Here are two evaporated milk recipes for dinner-in-a-dish. Both are quickies — they take only thirty minutes from start to finish. One features ground beef with canned peas, corn, and potato sticks. The other is a tuna and rice combination made colorful with green beans and pimientos.

Tuna-Fetti Casserole

2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna
1 medium onion, sliced
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup evaporated milk
1 can (1 pound) cut green beans
1⅓ cups packaged precooked rice
1 can (4 ounces) pimiento, diced

Drain oil from tuna into 10-inch skillet. Add onion and cook until crisp-tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add evaporated milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Drain liquid from beans; reserve ½ cup. Add beans and tuna to skillet. Push mixture to sides of pan. Place rice in center. Pour reserved bean liquid over rice. Add pimiento and stir gently. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Fluff rice with fork before serving. YIELD: 4 servings.

Jack Straw Casserole

1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 medium onion, sliced
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 can (1 pound) peas
1 can (1 pound) whole kernel corn
1 can (2¼ ounces) potato sticks

Sprinkle beef with salt and pepper. Toss gently with fork to distribute seasonings. Brown beef and onion in 10-inch skillet, breaking up with fork. Blend in flour. Stir in evaporated milk and Worcestershire sauce. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Drain liquid from peas and corn, reserving ½ cup. Add vegetables and reserved liquid to mixture in skillet. Top with potato sticks. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes. YIELD: 4 servings.

Martha's Company Casserole

By MRS. KAY O. NELSON
Mrs. Maryland

8 ozs. uncooked noodles
1 lb. ground beef
1 tablespoon fat
2 cans (8 ozs. each) tomato sauce
½ lb. cottage cheese
1 package (8 ozs.) cream cheese
¼ cup commercial sour cream
1/3 cup minced scallions
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
2 tablespoons melted butter

Cook noodles as directed on package and drain. Saute ground meat in hot fat in a large skillet and stir in tomato sauce. Combine cottage cheese, cream cheese, sour cream, scallions and green pepper. Put half the noodles in a buttered 3-quart casserole, cover with cheese mixture and top with remaining noodles. Drizzle butter over noodles and spoon on tomato-meat sauce. Refrigerate until about an hour before serving time, then bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 45 to 50 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Colonial Innkeeper's Pecan Pie

3 eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup melted butter
1 cup pecan halves
1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell

Beat eggs, add sugar, salt and vanilla. Mix well, then stir in syrup and butter. Spread pecans on pie shell and pour in filling. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Do not over-bake.

A Handful Of Snack Ideas

Here are a handful of ideas for new snack and dessert ways to serve yogurt. You'll think of dozens more yourself.

TROPICANA — Orange yogurt combined with sliced bananas.

STRAWBERRY SHORTBREAD —Strawberry yogurt eaten with or spooned over packaged shortbread cookies.

Asparagus Anatolia

2 pounds of asparagus (about 40 stalks)
1 teaspoon of salt

Sauce:

3 six-section saltines
½ cup of chopped or whole walnuts
salt and pepper to taste
1 cup of chicken stock
paprika for garnish

Trim asparagus and cook in boiling salted water until tender. To prepare Anatolia sauce, dip saltines in water and crumble. Combine with walnuts and then grind or chop very, very fine. Add chicken stock and blend over low heat, seasoning to taste. Spoon sauce over drained, cooked asparagus and garnish with walnuts and paprika. Yield: one generous cup of sauce for six to eight generous servings.

Rosy Apple-Cherry Mold With Custard

Apple-Cherry Mold offers the fruitiness of cherry and apple, a sharp little tang most refreshing. It is also rosy and pretty to serve.

The mold is tender jellied sponge with canned applesauce and whipped egg white frothed into it, and a generous scattering of cherry snips and macaroon crumbles that settle here and there throughout.

So bright and giddy a dessert could be proudly served to guests. But once that is said, the vote still swings to it as first a treat for the family table . . . a dessert to send the members on their way blissfully content. (And with much praise for You-Know-Whom as the good fairy who produced it.)

There's no last minute hurry-flurry about this dessert either. Just make it early in the day at your leisure, and let it rest and chill in the refrigerator until serving time.

Apple-Cherry Mold With Custard

- 1 pkg. cherry flavored gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 cup canned apple sauce
- 1 egg white
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup macaroons, broken into large pieces
- 2 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries for garnish
- *Custard Sauce

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add apple sauce. Chill over ice water until slightly thickened. Beat egg white until barely stiff, gradually add sugar, beating constantly until very stiff; fold into gelatin mixture, fold in macaroon pieces and cherries. Pour into mold; chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with whole maraschino cherries. Serve with custard sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Custard Sauce

- 1 pkg. instant vanilla pudding
- 1¾ cups milk
- ½ cup heavy cream
- ½ teaspoon almond extract

French Apple Torte

- ¼ lb. butter or margarine
- ⅔ cup sugar
- 1 egg yolk
- Dash of salt
- Drop of vanilla extract
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 cup applesauce
- 3 medium apples, pared and sliced wafer thin

Cream butter and gradually add sugar, egg yolk, salt and vanilla. Into this mixture slowly blend flour until a soft ball is formed. Place dough in a 9-inch pie plate and shape into a shell; flute edges. Spread applesauce evenly in shell. Arrange apple slices in applesauce with rounded edges up, starting at outer edge and working in a circle toward center. When completed, this looks like a rosette. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Serve cold.

Cream Rice Whip

- 1 cup heavy cream
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 cup cooked rice
- 1 can small manderines (orange sections) diced

Whip cream until stiff, fold in sugar. Fold rice and fruit in lightly. Chill and serve in individual dishes. Garnish with nuts, cherries or toasted coconut. Makes 6 servings.

Banana Nut Cake

- 1⅞ cups sifted flour
- 1¼ cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup shortening (half butter)
- ½ cup buttermilk or sour milk
- 1 cup mashed bananas
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Grease and flour 2 eight-inch layer pans. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Add shortening, ¼ cup of the buttermilk and mashed bananas. Beat 2 minutes in electric mixer at medium speed or 4 minutes by hand. Add remaining ¼ cup buttermilk and eggs; beat 2 minutes more. Fold in nuts and pour into prepared pans. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Frost with a fluffy white frosting or a lemon flavored butter frosting. This cake is also delicious served unfrosted but topped with a scoop of ice cream.

Novel Two-Way Dessert Made With Baby Food

In the U. S. alone there's a new mouth to feed every seven seconds — and makers of baby foods, hard pressed to keep up with this happy parade, are putting out more than 100 different varieties of morsels to tempt the little palates.

With such an array, it's inevitable that some of these baby food jars find their way into adult recipes. And small wonder, for baby foods are quick, easy and tasty . . . especially when used in grown-up desserts.

Here's a two-way recipe for Baby Tarts, or Three Ring pie — depending on whether you want to make it on a harassed weekday or more leisurely weekend. The weekday version suggests the use of a ready-mix pastry dough and quickly-made variety fillings for individual tarts. On week ends, when you have time for something more elaborate, you can make your own crust — fashioned in three rings. This gives you three different fillings in the same slice of dessert!

Either way, the use of baby food fruits and puddings makes this something unusual — a tasty way to mark the observance of National Baby Week.

Baby Tarts

Crust:

Use your favorite ready-mix dough. Roll out on lightly floured board and cut dough in 4" circles and press around inverted custard cups. Bake individual shells in hot 400° oven 6 to 8 minutes. Cool.

Fillings:

- 2 large jars pureed baby food apricot and apples (junior size)
- 1 cup crushed pineapple with juice
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ½ cup water
- 1 egg white
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- dash of salt

In a saucepan combine fruits, sugar and salt; simmer a few minutes. Dissolve cornstarch in water and stir into fruit mixture. Cook and stir over low-moderate heat until mixture smooths and thickens. Beat egg white stiff with remaining tablespoon sugar. Fold cooled fruit mixture and beaten egg white together. Turn into baked shell; chill until firm. Serve plain or with whipped cream or topping. Makes 6 servings.

Vanilla, chocolate or banana baby food pudding or the baby food pears and apricot combination may be used.

Three-Ring Pie

Crust:

- 1 cup flour
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 1 egg yolk
- ½ cup soft butter or margarine
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Combine all ingredients and mix well with hands or pastry blender. Wrap and chill. Roll out dough on lightly floured board to fit 8" or 9" pie pan. Roll out leftover dough and cut into long strips one inch wide. Form 3" circle in center of pie pan, supporting ring with foil. From another ring 6" wide and support with foil. Bake shell in hot 400° oven about 10 minutes. Cool.

Fillings:

Use any of the above.

Carver's Suggestion

For the man in the house: remember to allow a roast to set 10 to 20 minutes before carving. A sharp knife is a must and be sure to place the roast on a heated platter and serve on pre-heated plates.

Baked Asparagus Omelet Milanese

1-½ pounds of asparagus, (about 30 stalks)
2 tablespoons of olive or other cooking oil
⅓ cup of finely chopped green pepper
1-½ teaspoon of salt
pinch of oregano
4 eggs
¼ cup of light cream or undiluted evaporated milk

Wash asparagus and trim off rough ends, then slice crosswise into ¼ inch pieces. Heat oil in deep skillet, adding pepper, seasonings and asparagus. Cover and cook over low heat until barely tender, stirring from time to time. Spread asparagus in greased ovenware casserole, about one-quart size. Beat eggs slightly and add cream. Pour over asparagus. Place casserole in a pan of hot water and bake in a 350 degree oevn for about 25 minutes or until firm. Yield: four to five servings.

Rice Custard

2 eggs
½ cup sugar
1½ cups hot milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon grated nutmeg
2 cups steamed rice
6 peach halves

Beat eggs; add sugar, hot milk, salt, grated lemon rind and nutmeg. Pour over rice. In bottom of individual custard cups, place a peach half and rice mixture. Set cups in pan of warm water. Bake at 325 degrees F. for one hour. Cool and unmold custard. Makes 6 servings.

Today's offering demonstrates a neat safety play which accounted for a swing of 1,530 points in a recent team-of-four contest when the declarer at one table overlooked the proper technique in handling this situation.

At the table where the contract was fulfilled, the king of diamonds was opened and ruffed. Declarer observed that he could lose the hand only if all four trumps were in one hand but, if he protected himself against such holding, he could assure the safety of the contract. If a spade trick is to be lost, a diamond will come back and declarer will be forced to ruff. He must be careful not to put himself in a position where he will have to ruff with the ten, for if all the trumps are stacked, the adverse nine will become high.

He, therefore, played the ace of spades first and learned of the adverse distribution. He followed with the jack and, whether or not West covered, he was left with his high trump as declarer ran his solid club suit and the defense could take only one trick. The vulnerable slam yielded a score of 1,430 points.

At the other table South, after ruffing the opening lead, thoughtlessly played a low spade to the king. Now when West took the queen he returned a diamond forcing declarer to ruff with the ten and establishing the nine of spades as a winner.

Observe that the play of the ace of spades wins even if East has all four trumps. For, when he wins the queen and returns a diamond, South can ruff with a little trump instead of an honor.

An Unusual Chicken Dish

Chicken can be prepared in many ways that lift it from a humdrum dish to an enchanting taste treat. The recipe for this oven crisp chicken comes from a hostess on Philadelphia's main line who often serves it as a company dish. The recipe features sour cream and prepared herb-seasoned stuffing.

Oven Crisp Chicken

2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon celery salt
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon salt
dash pepper
2½ to 3 lb. frying chicken, cut up
1 package of prepared herb-seasoned stuffing, rolled with rolling pin to fine crumbs
Melted butter

Mix together sour cream, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, celery salt, paprika, garlic salt, salt and pepper. Dip chicken pieces in this mixture; roll in stuffing. Arrange chicken in a shallow greased baking dish. Brush with melted butter, and place uncovered in a 350° F. oven for 1 hour, or until chicken is tender and a crusty brown. Serves 4.

Cookery Of The Orient

From Oriental cookery comes the kabob which has been adapted to American foods and moods. New and interesting is the fresh pear kabob with circular slices of ripe pears threaded on skewers alternately with squares of cooked ham and small canned or pre-cooked onions. Then they are put under the broiler to heat through and brown. The combination is a delightful one although somewhat unusual.

PEAR KABOBS

- 4 Anjou pears
- 8 small, whole onions (cooked)
- 1 slice ham, ½ inch thick (cooked)
- ¼ teaspoon mustard
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ cup oil

Slice unpared pears into slices approximately 1-½ inch thick. Do not core. Cut ham into 1-inch squares. Starting with a whole onion, alternate a slice of ham, a slice of pear three more times, add one more cube of ham and another onion. Do this on four skewers. Brush with sauce made by combining the mustard, salt, sugar and ginger, lemon juice and oil. Broil 1-inch from broiler unit, 3 minutes to a side, brushing with sauce each time the kabob is turned. Makes 4 servings.

Steak Instructions

When broiling a 1-inch steak, place the meat so it is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. A 2-inch steak should be placed 3 to 5 inches from the heat. Serve steaks piping hot. Never allow steak to wait for the guests.

Tea Sandwiches Served With Seafood Salad

Tea sandwiches served with a seafood salad make a delightful menu for a luncheon or bridge tea. What for dessert? Surprise your guests by serving freshly boxed chocolates as the piece de resistance. Calorie-wise, you can get off lightly with a piece of candy. Anyway you look at it, candy makes a light, refreshing end to a meal.

Tossed Seafood Salad

(Makes 4 servings)

- 1 7-ounce can tuna, drained
- 1 7-ounce can shrimp, drained
- 1 6½-ounce can crabmeat, drained and boned
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- Crisp lettuce
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon grated onion.

Combine tuna, shrimp and crabmeat; toss lightly. Arrange tuna mixture and eggs on lettuce. Chill. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Serve seafood salad with mayonnaise mixture.

Bologna-Cheese Spread

(Makes about 2 cups spread)

- ½ pound bologna, ground
- 2 cups grated process American cheese (about 8 ounces)
- 1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons chili sauce

Cream Cheese Bridge Sandwiches

(Makes about 1 cup spread)

- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
- ¼ teaspoon celery salt
- ¼ teaspoon onion salt
- ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper
- Sliced pumpernickel bread
- Sweet gherkin slices
- Olive slices
- Pimiento strips

Combine cream cheese, celery salt, onion salt, garlic salt and pepper; mix well. Spread on small squares or bridge cut-outs of pumpernickel bread. Garnish with gherkins, olives and pimiento.

Apricot-Pineapple Cream

- 1 package vanilla pudding
- 2 cups milk
- 2 cans (4¾ ozs.) strained strained apricots (baby food)
- ½ cup crushed pineapple, drained
- ½ pint heavy cream, whipped

Prepare pudding with milk as directed on package. While pudding is still hot, stir in apricots and pineapple. Cool, fold in whipped cream and pour into sherbet glasses. Chill and garnish with apricot halves and chopped pecans. Makes 8 servings.

Date Pecan Braid

- ¼ cup milk
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ cup shortening
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup water
- 2 packages or cakes yeast
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 2½ cups sifted flour

First make a speedy sweet yeast dough as follows. Scald milk. Stir in sugar, shortening and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Measure water (warm, not hot, for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast) into a large mixing bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast and stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture and egg. Add about half the flour and beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour to make a soft dough. Place dough on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny, about 5 minutes. Form into a smooth ball, place in a greased bowl and grease top of dough. Cover and let rise in a farm, draft-free place until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Punch down and roll into an 8 x 16 inch oblong. Spread date filling (recipe below) the length of center third of oblong. Cut 15 horizontal slits in dough along each side of filling, making strips about 1-inch wide. Fold strips at an angle across filling, alternating from side to side to look like a braid. Place on a greased baking sheet, cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 50 minutes. Brush top of braid with mixture of 1 egg yolk and 2 tablespoons milk. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 35 minutes. Remove and cool on rack. Frost with creamy icing made by blending 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar with 3 to 5 teaspoons milk and ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract. Garnish with pecan halves and maraschino cherries. Date Filling —Combine ⅔ cup chopped dates with 3 tablespoons brown sugar and ½ cup water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick enough to spread. Add ⅓ cup chopped pecans and 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

Radium will halve its value in a span of approximately 1,800 years.

Valley Jr. FHA Holds Formal Installation

Plan Of Work Is Outlined

LONACONING—Junior Future Homemakers of America held a formal installation of officers at a candlelight table ceremony in Valley High School Home Economics dining room. A white table cover with eight white lighted candles, one red lighted candle in the center with red roses, and FHA emblem background was arranged by the club members and Mrs. Jo Ann Dawson, FHA club faculty sponsor.

Current officers who presided at the ceremonies included Carol Fike, president; Elaine Moffatt, vice president; Mary Frances Engle, secretary; Leah Miller, treasurer; June Cutter, historian; Judy Miller, chaplain; Linda Robertson, assistant treasurer; and Carol Snelson, assistant secretary.

New officers installed are Linda Robertson, president; Ann Lamberson vice president; Carol Snelson, secretary; Andrea Bowden, treasurer, Mary Lynn McCormick, treasurer also; Jennie Ann Preston, historian; Dixie Howell, parliamentarian; Louise Smith, chaplain and Linda Kiddy, reporter.

The club was presented with an FHA emblem made by Mary Frances Engle, out-going secretary.

A report was given on the State FHA conference held at the University of Maryland. Those attending this conference were Judy Miller, Carol Fike, Mary Frances Engle, Leah Miller, Carol Snelson and Linda Robertson.

CADET ASSIGNED—Aviation Cadet Clyde E. O'Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. O'Baker of Cumberland, has been assigned to Harlington Air Force Base, for training as an Air Force Navigator. He recently was graduated from the USAF Pre-Flight School at Lackland AFB, Texas. Cadet O'Baker, a graduate of Fort Hill High School, in Cumberland attended Frostburg State Teachers College, prior to entering the Air Force.

Sponsor Supper

PIEDMONT—A fellowship supper sponsored by the Landis-Hitt Circle of the Women of the Presbyterian Church, will be held at the church Thursday at 6 p. m. Church families and friends are invited.

The Cub Scouts receiving denners stripes are, Richard Dunn Jr., James Robertson; Randy Aldridge, Charles Hice, Jr., Joseph Beal, and John Frankenberry. Stephen Burley received his Bobcat pin. Den 3 won the Cub Scout Golden Arrow for the largest number of parents attending and Mrs. Grover Green won the mystery bird contest.

The pack will participate in the Mt. Savage Memorial Day Services Sunday afternoon, May 29. Boys from the pack attending Webelos Day activities at Camp Potomac recently were Richard Dunn Jr., Randy Aldridge, Patrick Logsdon and Richard Birmingham. They were accompanied by Cubmaster Harry Long, Richard Dunn Sr., Michael Goebel, Kenneth Snyder and scoutmaster, Lloyd Wade Jr.

Rehearsals are in progress for the Cub's Showboat Theater which will be held at a later date in St. George's parish hall.

Young Adults Class Elects

MIDLAND — Officers for the year were elected at a meeting of the Young Adults of Grace Methodist Church with Mrs. Jean Lancaster presiding.

Elected are Mrs. Ruth Tighe, president; Norman Lease, vice president; Mrs. Eva Boore, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Thrasher, treasurer; Mrs. Jean Lancaster and Louise Johnson, directors of evangelism and church loyalty; Mrs. Anna Jenkins, director of study and worship; Mrs. Nancy Lease, director of social world service; Mrs. Betty Loar and Mrs. Jean Lancaster, directors of recreation and creative arts; Mrs. Bonnie Shearer, public city chairman.

The new officers will be installed May 22 at the regular Sunday morning worship service. The calendar of events was planned for the coming year. Anna Jenkins held the regular Bible study and discussion. The annual June supper was planned at which time the new officers will preside. Refreshments were served.

Berkeley Co. School Head Resigns

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) Paul V. Yost, superintendent of Berkeley County schools since April 1959, said Thursday he has advised the county school board he will resign this summer.

Yost said he will join the faculty of Fairmont State College. He said he has asked that his resignation be made effective no later than Aug. 31.

Yost served three years as assistant school superintendent here before going to Shepherd College as coordinator of educational services. He left that post to become county superintendent.

Moorefield High School Students Honored At Annual Recognition Assembly

MOOREFIELD — The annual Recognition Assembly, held at Moorefield High School was opened by the National Honor Society members who inducted seven Juniors into the organization. Taking part in the ceremony, in which Character, Leadership, Scholarship and Service are the key words, were Billy Sherman, Linda Dispanet, Molly Taylor, Paul Williams, Carolyn Kessel, Joyce Riggleman, Patsy Simmons and Jane Welton. Other members on the platform were Lila Parsons, John Fisher, Sally McNeill, Nila Heare and Grace Malcolm.

The new members are Mary Ellen Taylor, Mary Susan Welton, Ross Cline, Wanda Bergdoll, Mackie Williams, Wardney Sherman and Joan Thomas.

One of the projects of the Moorefield Chapter, National Honor Society, during the year was the sponsoring of a National Junior Honor Society. Nine members made that organization and were introduced to the audience: Jane Hamrick, Sue Ketterman, Betty Jo Ott, Thomas Taylor, Dewey Bensenhaver, Thomas Hawse, Howard Bean, Pat Reynolds, Barbara Fisher.

Valley High Junior-Senior Prom To Be Held Tonight In Gymnasium

LONACONING — "Enchanted Sea" is the theme of Valley High School's Junior-Senior Prom tonight at Valley gym, to honor the graduating class of 1960.

Williamsport blue and white, the Senior class colors, will be used in a ceiling decoration; gold and silver fish in a water scene effect will carry out the theme.

Sally Miller and Leanna Miller will be in charge of preparations for refreshments. Henrietta Lease was chairman for the invitations and memory books.

Gerry Winner, Wayne Johnson, Dick Evans and Lowell Snyder, tables committee; Susan Blank, Wanita Clark, Mabel Mackley and Shirley McKenzie, check room committee; Betty Jo Kyle, Ruth Robertson, Anna Lee Shockey and Peggy Russell, bandstand committee.

Caroline Hadley, Carol Ann High, Helen Conlon and Robert Mitchell, will construct the entrance to blend with the "Enchanted Sea" decorations.

SRC Outlines Second Plan Of Westernport Route 36

WESTERNPORT — The second plan of the continuation of Route 36 through Westernport has been approved by the State Road Commission, according to a letter received by Mayor Ray L. Wilt, from John B. Funk, chairman.

This route will begin by widening Church Street at about Boal's Funeral Home, cross Main Street, construct a bridge across the George's Creek and join Westernport and Luke Road near Front Street by way of a cut.

It will cross Washington Street at the Welsh Supply building and coninue up the west side of George's Creek to Waberly Street and cross the street on the left side of Jake Wilson's apartment.

The first plan was beginning on Church Street, go up the rear of Main Street and considerable amount of property would have to be razed, the mayor noted.

Principal, Teachers Put On Probation

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — The Berkeley County Board of Education Wednesday placed on probation the principal and five teachers at Bunker Hill Elementary School.

The board said the action was taken in an effort to get the six to settle "petty differences." The board apparently referred to disagreements over a proposal by Principal George Tabler to transfer a teacher at the school, Mrs. Mildred Chandler.

Mt. Savage PTA Plans Annual Swim Project

MT. SAVAGE — A number of appointments were made and plans for buying new playground equipment were discussed at a recent meeting of Mt. Savage Parent-Teacher Association.

Willard Wenrich presided at the meeting and devotions and the flag salute were led by Mrs. Lawrence C. Butler. The minutes of the previous meeting and the executive committee conference were read by Mrs. Paul Robinson and Mrs. Nellie Hotchkiss gave the treasurer's report.

After Mrs. Paul Winfield explained the PTA swimming project, Mrs. James Hott was appointed chairman for this activity.

Miss Mary Witt gave a report from the County Council meeting. Miss Witt and Miss Kathleen McDermitt were appointed as an auditing committee. A committee consisting of Hubert Radcliffe, Miss Marian Bevans, the elementary teachers and several parents were appointed to purchase more playground equipment.

Mrs. John Wingert will be representative to the Summer Conference at Frostburg State Teachers College, July 10 and July 11. Junior class mothers who will obtain flowers for the graduation exercises are Mrs. Cessna, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Trimble and Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Robert Robeson was appointed chairman of Home Room Mothers.

Marine Reservists Are Promoted Here

Promoted to private first class were Joseph P. Conroy, William A. Collins, Edward M. Bush, Ronald H. Athey, Robert L. Folk, Louis M. Geigerick and Ronald J. Cross.

County Issues Dwelling Permit

Harry V. Reeves Sr., Box G, Westernport, has been issued a permit to build a brick dwelling on Lots 7 and 8 of Lambert Addition at McCoole.

The permit was granted by the Allegany County assessing department. The home, which will cost about $6000, will measure 28 by 64 feet. It will have a footer foundation and asphalt shingle roof. A cellar is not included in the plans.

Reds Challenge Peak

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — A Red China team is reported trying to be the first ever to conquer 29,000-foot Mt. Everest from the north side in Tibet while an Indian team under Brig. Gyan Singh, nears the top from the south in Nepal.

Teachers And Students Will Exhibit Art Here

All of Allegany County's full-time art teachers will exhibit some of their own art in one section of the county-wide art exhibit today and tomorrow in the Allegany High School gymnasium, according to Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in the county public schools.

The teachers own exhibits will include pottery, painting, sculpturing, jewelry and prints.

"Creative Adventures In Art" is the theme of the exhibit, which will be open from 7 until 9 p. m. today and from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. Saturday.

More than 1,000 pieces of work by children from all 12 grades will be shown. Mr. Foote explained that it represents a sampling from every school in the county to indicate the general scope and character of the art activities carried on in the classroom. Included will be drawings, paintings, charts, murals, papier mache, plaster, block printing, ceramics, jewelry, weaving, model building and etching.

In preparation for the two-day county exhibit, many of the schools around the county have been having their own art exhibits this week. The effect has been a general increase in art interest.

Demonstrations will be given by students from Allegany High School, Beall High School of Frostburg and Bruce High School of Westernport during the exhibition.

The general public is invited to see the exhibit and there will be no admission charge.

Permits Issued For Three Houses

Building permits for three dwellings which the builders estimate will cost a total of $19,500 to construct have been issued by the Allegany County assessing department.

Wesley A. McGraw, B Avenue, Potomac Park, obtained a permit for a $12,000 brick veneer house he plans to construct in Election District 6. The house will be 24.8 feet by 44.8 feet in size.

Ethel Davis, RFD 2, Frostburg, was issued a permit for a $5,000 frame and brick veneer house which she plans to build on Midlothian Road in Election District 28. This house will be 32 by 38.8 feet in size.

Donald E. Flanagan, RFD 2, obtained the third permit for a $2,500 frame dwelling he proposes to build near Williams Road in Election District 21. The house will be 28 by 29.4 feet in size.

Rebels Free Hostages

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Thirteen hostages abducted by Burmese rebels who raided two towns in Thailand last weekend have returned to their homes unharmed, the Interior Ministry announced Thursday. A band of rebels burned and looted the Thai towns in search of ammunition to continue rebellion against the Burmese government.

No Pass For Gina

SRC Acquires Property For Highway Work

Deeds to eight parcels of land in Allegany County purchased by the Maryland State Roads Commission, the largest parcel comprising 28.871 acres, have been filed in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The land has been purchased for the improvement of U. S. Route 40 on the west slope of Martin Mountain east of Cumberland and for other highway improvement projects.

The SRC also purchased land on the west slope of the mountain from William O. Shipley and his wife, Iris E. Shipley; William H. Elliott and Lucie M. Elliott; Benjamin F. Hartman and Ella M. Hartman.

Other parcels of land include property located on U. S. Route 40 (Maryland State Route 36 to Long) purchased from Lester L. Spencer and his wife Mildred E. Spencer, Narrows Park and property in the Elk Lick Run area from Robert S. Lynch and his wife, Rachel E. Lynch.

Also property in the southern limits of Baltimore Pike from Guy O. Thompson and his wife Audrey, and land located along Maryland State Route 36 (Barrelville to Mt. Savage) which was owned by Paul F. Lechliter, Gloria L. Lechliter and Sadie Ringler.

Garbage Dump Lease Recorded

Abe Feldstein leased the dump for $50 a month to George A. Boch and Paul L. Boch, trading as Boch Hauling Service for a period from April 1, 1960, to July 11, 1962. The dump has a 300-foot frontage on City Dump Road and a depth of $1,000 feet.

Jamming Hits Peak

LONDON (AP) — Soviet jamming of the British Broadcasting Corp.'s Russian service reached its highest peak Wednesday since an airwaves truce between the two countries petered out earlier this year. Even Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's voice was jammed when excerpts from Paris news conference were relayed.

Airport Debris Is Being Hauled Away

The task of putting the Cumberland Municipal Airport back in top shape after the Sports Car Races will be completed by Monday, according to Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

He said the contractor hired by the Lions Club Foundation for the cleanup job hauled away 11 loads of debris on Sunday, and has been working at the job each day.

The airport, he said, was opened to air traffic on Monday.

PE Right Of Way Papers Are Filed

Right of way agreements between the Potomac Edison Company and two couples who reside in Frostburg have been filed in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The residents signing the agreements with the utility company include S. W. Green and his wife, Lillian C. Green, Leroy E. and Esther Skidmore, whose property is located on Jenkins Street in that community.

Old Exports Grab County League Lead

Brelsford Beats Ellerslie, 3 To 1

Greenpoint Inn's Old Exports took over sole possession of first place in the County Softball League yesterday when they yanked Ellerslie out of the top berth by scoring a 3-1 victory at Ellerslie.

Junior Brelsford outpointed Vernon Lowery to give the Old Exports the verdict. Brelsford yielded only four hits and struck out seven in posting his fifth consecutive triumph of the season. Lowery was wild, walking six and hitting one batter.

Kenny Johnson's double and Lloyd Kline's single produced the game's only run in the fourth inning as Corriganville nosed out Stringtown at Corriganville by the score of 1-0.

In winning the slab duel from Paul Stair, Art Raygor yielded only three hits, fanned seven and notched his fourth win of the campaign. Johnson collected two doubles for the Hermans who collected six hits.

Burley slammed a three-run double and Younger garnered three singles to lead Melody Manor's attack. "Buddy" Meade held Fossilville to four singles.

The Kennell's Mill at Wellersburg game was postponed.

County League teams will go at it again today with Corriganville's Hermans at Kennell's Mill, Melody Manor at Ellerslie and Wellersburg at Greenpoint Inn Old Exports. Strnigtown will win via the forfeit route from Fossilville which dropped out of the league following Tuesday's game. Today's games will get under way at 6:15 p.m.

Jaycees And O.D.C. Lose In Hot Stove

The Cumberland Optimist Club defeated the Jaycees, 4-1, and the Lions Club won over the Outdoor Club, 8-4, in Hot Stove Baseball League games played yesterday.

The Rotary Club will host B'nai B'rith today at 5:30 p. m. at Penn Avenue Field.

Only eight hits were recorded in the Optimist - Jaycees game. Two of the winning team's blows were homers — one by Howard Reynolds with one aboard and another circuit belt by Lou Hartung. Neubiser had two of the Jaycees' four bingles.

Jim Hudson, the third of four Lions' Club pitchers got credit for the win over the Outdoor Club. Jim Graham, who went the route for the O.D.C., fanned eight.

Jim "Rocky" Klosterman collected two hits while Wally Harper and Charles Coffman smacked two-baggers for the Lions. Jim Mertens slammed a three run homer and John Merkel also hit a round-tripper for the losers.

Fort Hill Volley Ball Team Scores; Beall Wins Meet

Coach Henrietta Snyder's team was captained by Lillian Rowley. Other members were Eileen Bailey, Susie Ball, Bonnie McClellan, Gloria Windish, Shirley Shaffer, Linda McMichael, Linda Clark, Margaret Wigfield, Cheryl Mull, Darlene Moore, Edress Gillum, Sandra Athey and Oleta Ketterman.

Beall was runnerup with a 3-1 record, followed by Mt. Savage (2-2), Bruce (1-3) and Valley (0-4).

The girls' track and field meet was won by Beall High with 31½ points, closely followed by Fort Hill with 28, Valley 22, Mt. Saavge 20½, Bruce 20 and Allegany 13. Fort Hill had tough luck when the baton was dropped on the last leg of the final relay in which they were leading and would have meant the meet victory.

Ruth Robertson, Beall, broke the record for the softball throw with a heave of 178 feet, 5 inches, won the 75 yard dash and ran on Beall's runner-up 220 yard relay team. Sandy Little, Fort Hill, broke the standing broad jump with a leap of 7 feet, 9 inches, won the 50 yard dash and anchored the winning 220 yard relay team.

Bucs Belt St. Louis, 8-3, Take Over League Lead

Pittsburgh Gets 13 Blows; Joe Gibbon Is Winning Hurler

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates powered their way into sole possession of the National League lead tonight with a 13-hit barrage that sent the St. Louis Cardinals down to an 8-3 defeat.

Going into Thursday night's game, the Pirates were tied with San Francisco for first place but the Giants were rained out at Milwaukee. Winning their eighth out of the last nine games, the Pirates face a challenge for the top spot when the Giants open a three - game series at Forbes Field Friday night.

Rookie southpaw Joe Gibbon, who registered his third victory, needed help from southpaw Fred Green in the eighth inning as Pittsburgh stretched its home winning streak through eight games.

Gibbon gave up eight hits, struck out seven and did not yield a walk until the eighth when pinch - hitter Stan Musial and Curt Flood drew free passes. Joe Cunningham then drove in the Cardinals second run and Green was waved from the bullpen.

Green walked Bill White to fill the bases. He then settled down and struck out Ken Boyer and got Daryl Spencer to pop up and retire the side. The Cardinals had scored their first run in the seventh.

Pacing the Pirate attack were Catcher H. W. Smith with three RGI's on his fourth homer and a single and the torrid Roberto Clemente, who smashed out a pair of doubles and two singles to account for another run.

The defeat was charged to bonus southpaw Ray Sadecki, who made his major league debut. The 19-year-old hurler gave up eight hits and five runs, three of which were unearned. The Pirates battered three other Cardinal pitchers for their other tallies.

Reds Nose Out Los Angeles, 5-4

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Vada Pinson's triple climaxed a two-run ninth inning rally that gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday night and completed a two-game sweep.

They owned a 4-0 lead when the Reds bunched three hits, with an error and a wild pitch to score three runs in the fifth inning.

Moorefield Little Loop Opens June 7

Four Teams Sign 54, Managers Named

The schedule of 32 games for Moorefield's Little League Baseball was completed Monday night in the meeting at the Moorefield grade school. The schedule calls for games starting June 7th each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon starting at 5:30. Sunday games scheduled are on open Sundays when the Moorefield All Stars are playing away. Sunday games start at 1:30 and are all double headers. The schedule ends August 18.

Managers named for the four teams are Warden Hott, Lions Club; Mrs. Bodgie Wilson, American Legion team, Harry Harman, Baker's Feed team and Louis Halterman, Loewengart & Co. team. Assistant managers are George T. Leatherman, David Patterson, Ed Baker and Harold Schriver.

A total of 54 boys have signed up to make the four team league. Parental permission has been given. Mrs. Wilson, president of the League, announced that all the youths and supervisory personnel were insured against accident, either in practice or in scheduled play and also enroute to and from games. Insurance covers the boys up to $1500 and includes post game injuries resulting from ball games.

Thurman Reynolds, finance committee chairman, stated that funds for the uniform T-shirts, caps, plastic protective helmets, catchers protective equipment and insurance for all players had been procured. Also three dozen official league balls and a dozen and a half bats are ordered. Financing for an additional $130 was planned and individuals and business firms will be solicited this week. Reynolds asks for donations and requested checks be sent to him as treasurer or to the Moorefield Little League Association.

Mrs. Bodgie Wilson, president of the league, said that more adult volunteers were needed to assist at the daily practices and at the games.

Yankees Get Bob Cerv For Andy Carey

Clubs Pull 16th Deal, 61 Players Involved

CHICAGO (AP)—The New York Yankees and Kansas City Athletics did it again Thursday when the Yanks traded third baseman Andy Carey to the A's for outfielder Bob Cerv, a former teammate.

It was the 16th deal between the two clubs, involving a total of 61 players, since the Philadelphia American League franchise was shifted to Kansas City in 1955.

The Yankees acquired a power hitter to fill their left field needs although he is batting only .260. In return they gave the A's a front line third baseman who missed most of last season because of illness and was beaten out of the job by Gil McDougald in Spring training. No cash was involved.

Acquisition of Cerv gave the Yankees two-thirds of the 1959 Kansas City outfield. Roger Maris, hitting .333, came to the Yanks with reserve infielders Joe Demaestri and Kent Hadley last December for Norm Siebern, Hank Bauer, Marv Throneberry and Don Larsen.

Cerv normally plays left field. That has been a trouble spot for the Yanks ever since they traded away Gene Woodling.

Carey, 28, played only 41 games last year before he was placed on the disabled list, suffering from mononucleosis. He batted .257. McDougald took over the third base job at St. Petersburg this spring, leaving the slick fielding Carey on the bench. He had been up only three times with one 1960 hit for a .333 average.

Manager Casey Stengel announced the deal shortly after Yankees arrived here from Cleveland. They open a series against the White Sox Friday night.

Roarke Is Farmed

DENVER (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers sent down catcher Mike Roarke to the Denver Bears of the American Association Thursday, beefing up the Bears' receiving roster to three.

Wolfe Beats George Garlitz

Joe Wolfe, defending champion, eliminated George Garlitz, 1 up on the 18th, in a first round match of the championship flight in the Spring Handicap Golf Tournament Wednesday at the Cumberland Country Club.

Other tourney results were as follows:

THIRD FLIGHT: Vince Panico defeated Dr. Paul Castelle, 2 and 1.

Sugar Suspended

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who failed to show up for a fight here last Monday, was suspended indefinitely Thursday after almost coming to blows with the angered promoter, Al Flora.

There was a sharp exchange about "lies" and then—

"For two cents I'd punch you right in the mouth," stormed Sugar Ray at a hearing before the Maryland Athletic Commission.

"Maybe you're the world champion but I'm not going to take that from anyone," shot back one-time boxer Flora, as he charged toward Robinson.

Only hasty action by Robinson's friends and members of the commission who stepped between prevented the bitter verbal exchange from becoming a fist fight.

Cards Sign Curt

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Pitcher Curt Simmons, recently released by the Philadelphia Phillies, Thursday signed with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Simmons, who has been bothered by arm trouble, had no record this year. He pitched in seven games last year but had no record then either.

Manager John Vocke's Celanese A.A. tossers spoiled the season debut of the Knights of Columbus in the Rocking Chair League by thumping the Caseys yesterday at Post Field by the score of 2-0.

The Silkmen remained tied for first place with the Loyal Order of Moose, who trimmed the Elks, 6-4, at East Side Field, and the V.F.W. who trimmed Pittsburgh Plate Glass, 6-2, at Stitcher Field. The deadlocked leaders own 2-0 records.

Joe Wolfe led Celanese at bat with three hits, James Mangus rapped a homer and single and Mick Cunningham and Nile Shuck, hurled for the winners, garnered two singles each. Bob Williams and Joe Wolfe excelled afield for Celanese while Jim Collins starred at short for the Knights.

Making his league debut, Jack "Beef" Eckard twirled the defending champion Vets to victory over the Glassmen, yielding only six hits while his strikeout victims totaled five. Jim Eckard led the VFW attack with three hits while Paul Chenoweth obtained a double and single. Clay Ingram banged a double and two singles for the losers.

Paul McGregor won the second straight game for the Moose by singling home the tying and winning runs in the top of the 7th inning. His sacrifice fly scored the deciding run in the opener on Tuesday. Bob Keyser with a double and single and Lloyd Lease with a pair of singles led the Moose at the plate. The Elks had six singles off Webb Hull. Dick Klavuhn, who came on in the 6th, faced only seven batters, walked one, and got credit for the win.

Today the V.F.W. will face the Moose at Post Field and the Elks will do battle with the Knights of Columbus at Naval Reserve Field. Both games are scheduled for 6:15 p.m. The scores:

Bobcats Lose To WVU Frosh

Mountaineers Make Series Sweep, 13-2

West Virginia University's freshmen baseball team made a sweep of its two-game season series with Frostburg State Teachers College by downing the Bobcats yesterday at Morgantown by the score of 13-2.

The Mountaineer yearlings won the series opener by the score of 6-5.

Carl Donald went the route for Frostburg and was nicked for 12 hits. WVU rallied for five runs in the fifth and duplicated the performance in the eighth frame.

Cubs Edge Phils, 4-2

Richie Ashburn Stars For Winners

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Richie Ashburn, a Phillie for 12 seasons before he was traded to Chicago last January, came back to Connie Mack Stadium Thursday night, tripled and scored the lead run in the eighth and then batted in a good-measure run in the ninth as the Cubs beat Philadelphia, 4-2.

Ashburn opened the eighth with a drive to the scoreboard off Robin Roberts, the last of the Whiz Kids, and came home with the lead run when rookie Bob Will fouled to right near the bullpen. Richie beat the throw of Ken Walters to the plate.

Scott And Akins Meet In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young, determined Charley Scott of Philadelphia meets aging, ring-wise Virgil Akins of St. Louis Friday night in a 10-round welterweight bout neither can afford to lose.

Proceeds of the $100-a-ticket fight at the Chase Hotel will go to 10 charities sponsored by Teamsters Joint Council No. 13. Sponsors hope for a formally attired turnout of 1,200.

Scott, 23, ranks fifth in the welterweight division. Akins, 32, in a tailspin since winning the 147-pound championship less than two years ago, is unranked.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Proposals will be received by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, until but not after May 31, 1960, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., Local Time. At 10:00 o'clock on said date, they will be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be submitted in duplicate in a sealed envelope endorsed, "PROPOSAL FOR IMPROVING OF OLDTOWN ROAD between Grand Avenue and Hill Top Drive." If mailed, it must be enclosed in an outer envelope addressed to the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond in the amount of Five Hundred Dollars $(500.00).

The work includes the leveling, patching and resurfacing of the street with a two (2) inch asphaltic concrete wearing course.

The City will reserve the right to waive any formalities and to reject any or all bids, and to accept any proposal which in its judgment is to the best interests of the City.

Panthers Defeat Circleville, 5-4

Franklin High School concluded its Potomac Valley Conference baseball campaign with a 7-3 record by defeating Circleville High School yesterday at Franklin by the score of 5-4.

It was Franklin's final game under Coach Gus Smith, who recently resigned as grid, basketball and baseball mentor of the Panthers. His baseball teams won 16 and lost 18 over four seasons.

Ken Nelson, who supplanted Rich Bennett on the mound in the 6th inning received credit for the win when the Panthers scored their winning tally in the last of the 7th frame.

Morris Ruddle, Circleville's starting pitcher, led off the fifth inning with a home run. Kisamore collected three hits and Cooper had a pair of safeties for the Indians who wound up the season with a 3-7 mark.

Enters Rider

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Pete Cimino, Pennsylvania high school star who scored 114 points in a basketball game last winter, has decided to enter Rider College, it was announced Thursday.

Cimino, 18, scored 114 points as a senior for Bristol, Pa., high school against Palisades High. It was believed to be the second highest individual game total in schoolboy history.

Dickinson Leads Sam Snead Golf

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI)—Gardiner Dickinson of Palm Beach, Fla., a slender little sharpshooter with a superb putting touch, fired a five-under-par 65 Thursday to lead the field in the opening round of the $10,000 Sam Snead golf festival.

Tied for second were young Dave Marr of Houston, Tex., and Gary Nixon, the resident pro who has been Sammy Snead's understudy for 13 years. They had 67's.

Davenport III

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Davenport, third baseman of the San Francisco Giants, was taken to Milwaukee Hospital Thursday after becoming seriously ill in his hotel room.

Manager Bill Rigney said Davenport's illness is a bitter blow to the club and that either Joe Amalfitano or Andre Rogers will take over third base duties.

Three High School Tilts Listed Here

Fort Hill, Allegany, LaSalle Home Today

Three games in Cumberland and one in Westernport is the menu for today in the Allegany County High School Baseball League.

Fort Hill's front-running Sentinels will tackle the Beall High Mountaineers at Fort Hill Field, LaSalle will entertain the Flintstone Aggies at Stitcher Field, Mt. Savage's Indians test Allegany High at Campobello and Valley will oppose the Bruce High Bulldogs on the latter's field.

The Sentinels hold a 6-2 decision over Beall, Mt. Savage defeated Allegany, 4-1, but this game must be replayed as a result of a protest by Allegany which was upheld. Valley copped the first game of the Bruce series, 7-5, and LaSalle trimmed Flintstone, 9-1.

Machen, Miteff Meet Tonight

Heavyweight Bout Set For New York

NEW YOR K(AP)—Eddie Machen still hopes to get another chance at Ingemar Johansson, who knocked him out in one round in 1958. The Portland, Ore., heavyweight continues his campaign toward a shot at the title by boxing Alex Miteff, a ranked contender, Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

Machen is listed No. 4 among the heavies. Miteff, the inconsistent Argentine, is rated No. 6 by Ring and No. 7 by the National Boxing Assn. Both of the ratings put Sonny Liston, Floyd Patterson and Zora Folley above Machen although not necessarily in that order. Machen is Friday's favorite.

Since his disastrous encounter with Johansson's right hand at Goteborg, Sweden, Sept. 14, 1958, Machen has won eight of nine starts. His record for 35 pro fights is 32-2-1 with 20 knockouts. He lost to Folley Jan. 18 in San Francisco and also fought a draw with Folley in 1958 before he went to Sweden.

Westernport	2	0	1.000
Lonaconing	2	2	.500
Klondyke	2	3	.400
Franklin	0	5	.000

Barton's Braves registered their fourth straight victory of the season in the Twilight League by turning back Lonaconing yesterday at Barton by the score of 5-2.

It was Barton's second win over Lonaconing this season.

Lou Fazenbaker limited 'Coney to six hits and aided his cause with a two-run homer in the third. Mike Muir rapped a double and single and Woody Symons obtained a pair of one-base knocks for the Braves. Everett Spiker and Bill Richmond collected two hits each for Lonaconing.

The Barton - Franklin game scheduled for today has been postponed.

Klondyke's Colts won via the forfeit route from Franklin yesterday when the latter was unable to field a team.

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE LOCATED AT 722 WASHINGTON STREET, CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, IMPROVED BY A THREE STORY BRICK DWELLING

By virtue of the power contained in a certain mortgage from Adolph Hirsch and Ruth B. Hirsch, his wife, dated the 18th day of February, 1958, and recorded among the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Mortgage Liber No. 336, folio 16, the undersigned Assignee of said mortgage will sell at public auction on Liberty Street, in Cumberland, Maryland, alongside The Second National Bank Building on Saturday, June 11, 1960, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., the following described property:

All those two lots and parcels of ground lying and being in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, and the State of Maryland, which are designated on the plat of Tusculum Addition to said City, as Lots Nos. 3 and 4 respectively, said plat being recorded in Liber J.W.Y. No. 110, folio 185, of the Land Records of Allegany County, and said two lots being more particularly described as one parcel as follows:

BEGINNING at the end of the first line of Lot No. 2 in said Addition on Washington Street, and running thence with said Street, South 46 degrees 30 minutes West 100 feet; then South 43 degrees 30 minutes East 140 feet to South Terrace, then with said Terrace, North 46 degrees 30 minutes East 69.5 feet to East Lane, then with said Lane North 14 degrees East 36.4 feet; then North 43 degrees 30 minutes West 120 feet to the place of beginning.

BEING the same lot or parcel of ground conveyed by William L. Sherman and Camille J. Sherman, his wife, to Adolph Hirsch, by deed dated the 4th day of May, 1950, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 238, folio 714, a reference to which said deed is hereby particularly made.

Together with the buildings and improvements thereon and the rights, roads, ways, waters, privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

The above described property is improved by a three-story brick dwelling, with stone foundation and slate roof, containing twenty-one rooms and four baths; it is equipped with electricity, gas, water and sewer; has paved street and sidewalk, with curbing, and paved carport. The lot is 100 x 140 feet.

Said property will be sold as a whole. The Assignee reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

All taxes, etc. to be adjusted to day of sale.

TERMS OF SALE: Cash on day of sale.

Leader Drowns, Piper Missing In S. Branch

Cumberland Men's Boat Capsizes; Search For Banker Resumes Today

Two prominent Cumberland businessmen apparently drowned in a fishing boat accident in the South Branch of the Potomac River near Romney, W.Va., yesterday afternoon.

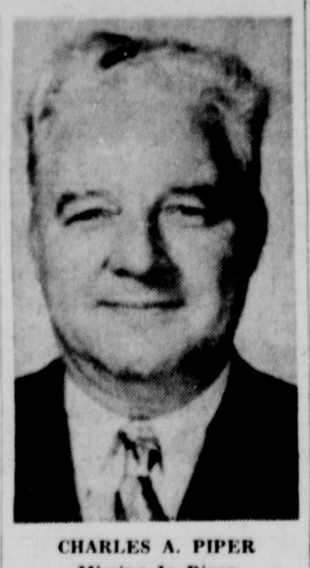
The body of James Arthur Leader, 66, of 713 Bedford Street, recently retired manager of the G. R. Kinney Corporation shoe store here, was found about 6:45 p.m. (EST) and taken to the Combs Funeral Home in Romney.

Missing and presumed drowned is Charles A. Piper, 64, of 104 Washington Street, president of the Liberty Trust Company.

A. L. Russell, Hampshire County coroner, said last night Mr. Leader was identified by papers on the body and by John Harmison, a Romney area farmer who knew him.

The search for Mr. Piper's body was called off about 9:30 p.m. and will be resumed at daybreak today.

West Virginia State Police said they received a call about 6 p.m. (EST) that a boating accident had occurred at a place called Blue Pool in the South Branch River. The area is also known as "The Trough" because the river winds through a valley between the mountains.



CHARLES A. PIPER
Missing In River

Firemen Help Police

Volunteer firemen were called to the scene and set up dragging operations with state police. The area is almost inaccessible, police said, and a jeep was used to get to the river. Other equipment was rushed to the scene by handcar on the B&O tracks nearby.

State Roads Commission workers and the Romney fire company set up portable lights as darkness fell over the area.

The coroner said Mr. Leader's body was discovered about 25 minutes after dragging operations were started. The body was located about 75 feet from shore in eight feet of water and was spotted because of the light clothing Mr. Leader wore.

West Virginia officials said Mr. Piper and Mr. Leader were known to be frequent fishing companions. They had rented a boat from Mr. Harmison at 3 o'clock (EST) yesterday afternoon and told him they were going to fish in "The Trough."

Boat Found

About 6 o'clock another fishing party, headed by Fred Miller of Romney, spotted a small boat capsized in the river. The outboard motor was protruding out of the water, they said, and was still running. Mr. Leader's body was discovered about 100 yards from where the boat was floating in the water.

The Miller party notified Mr. Harmison who called police. Mr. Harmison later identified the boat as the one which the Cumberland men had taken with them.

State Police called off the search after dark last night because of the treacherous water in which they were working. The river is 35 to 40 feet deep in the area, has rapids above the spot where the accident occurred, and a whirlpool downriver.

Warfield Says He Welcomes Views On Plan

Assembly Must Act On College Proposal

BALTIMORE (AP) — The 1961 General Assembly has part of its work cut out for it — higher education.

The issue was formally engaged Thursday when Edwin Warfield III, Howard County publisher, declared that a commission he headed "welcomes constructive and unbiased criticism" but isn't impressed by "opposition seeking to disparage the . . . plan by press, radio and television."

Warfield's statement followed a television-radio speech Wednesday night by President Jerome Framptom Jr. of the State Board of Education who criticized the Warfield commission's proposal.

Among other things, the commission suggested that the State teachers colleges at Frostburg, Towson and Salisbury be made branches of the University of Maryland, with new branches to be set up later in the Frederick-Washington County area, northern Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland.

Framptom said adoption of the plan "would constitute one of the greatest blows in the history of Maryland against the proper education of teachers."

Framptom said the proposal would be "drastic and costly." He advocated improving of the teachers colleges and junior colleges.

As for the cost of the Warfield proposal, Warfield said when the plans are completed "I feel that they will bear out the soundness and logic of the commission's concept."

"I cannot speak for the governor or the Legislature," Warfield added, "but it is quite obvious that Frostburg, Towson and Salisbury State Teachers colleges cannot accept the increased student load unless they receive increased funds, increased faculties and enlarged physical plants. All of these problems are currently under study."

Warfield said his commission had not had the opportunity to study in detail the Board of Education's plans "for coping with the greatly increased college enrollments that lie ahead."

The board's recommendations, he added "appear similar to the Pullen Report of 1955" which the commission studied before drafting its report. The board recommendations were prepared under the direction of State School Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen Jr., a member of the board of trustees which governs the teacher colleges.

Man, 72, Found Shot To Death

Pennsylvania State Police identified the man as Edward "Buddy" Middleton, and said he apparently shot himself in the head with a small pistol. Dr. J. H. Kniseley, Bedford County coroner, ruled Mr. Middleton's death as suicide.

His body was discovered by his sister, Mrs. Lillian M. Hall, with whom he resided. Police said the shooting took place about 11 a.m. (EST). They added that Mr. Middleton had been in ill health and had recently been released from the Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

The body was taken to the Geisel Funeral Home in Bedford.

Bike Safety Program Set June 13-24

Free bicycle inspections will be offered here next month, according to Police Chief B. F. Gaffney.

The inspection program will be sponsored by the Cumberland Optimist Club again this year in cooperation with the Cumberland Police Department.

The program will be held on city playgrounds from June 13 to June 24, Chief Gaffney said.

Leo F. Barkman, chairman of the Optimist Club committee, has confirmed the date for the safety checks with Officer Charles Cubbage, who will be in charge of the Police Department's phase of the work.

Chief Gaffney said the free services, including a five-point inspection system, will be offered to bike owners here in connection with the observance of American Bicycle Month.

He noted that the inspections will be important to students who use bikes for school transportation and for those who plan to use their bikes for recreation or employment this summer.

Bike use, he said, has been growing and there are now 27 million bike riders in the country.

The safety examination, to be made by Optimists and local police, will include an examination of the seat post, steering assembly, pedals and brakes, tires and wheel alignment and lights and signalling equipment.

Following the inspection, each youth will receive a check-off list of repairs needed, a certified rider emblem and card, the 12 official rules of safe riding and a list of riding tips.

LaSalle Scholarship Exams Tomorrow

Examinations for two scholarships to LaSalle High School will be held tomorrow morning at the school, according to Brother G. Paulian, FSC, principal.

The mental ability test will begin at 9:30 a. m. Following a rest period and refreshments, a general ability test will be held at 10:30 a. m. At noon refreshments will be served.

Eligible for the scholarships are any Catholic graduates of the parochial schools of Cumberland and Western Maryland.

Two four-year, tuition-free scholarships will be awarded.

Fulton Myers Post To Meet Sunday

Fulton Myers Post 153, American Legion, will meet Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the post home to elect a nominating committee for the coming election.

The post also will make plans Sunday for the Memorial Day observance.

Canvass Adds To Advantage Of Winners

Kennedy, Foley, Mathias Triumph

Allegany County's vote in Tuesday's primary election was made official yesterday afternoon but the only effect was to increase the already overwhelmingly victories of the three winners.

Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the County Board of Election Supervisors, announced the following official totals from the canvass of Tuesday's election:

Democrat

FOR PRESIDENT
John F. Kennedy	2,738
Wayne Morse	524
Uninstructed Delegation	88
Andrew J. Easter	24
Lar Daly	18
FOR CONGRESS
John R. Foley	2,630
Claude A. Taylor	434

Republican

FOR CONGRESS
Charles Mathias	1,389
James A. Buchanan IV	364
R. Byng Duvall	115

Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts picked up 21 additional votes as a result of the canvass of the 100 voting machines and another 13 from absentee voters to give him 80.7 per cent of the votes cast in this contest. Meanwhile, Senator Morse of Oregon lost 60 votes as a result of the canvass and got only two absentee votes.

Similarly, Rep. Foley, now ending his first two-year term in the House of Representatives, added 32 votes from the canvass while his fellow Montgomery countian gained only five. Rep. Foley received 85.8 per cent of the vote in this race.

Mr. Mathias, a 37-year-old member of the House of Delegates from Frederick County, picked up seven more votes through the canvass while Mr. Buchanan added only three and Mr. Duvall lost nine. That still left Mr. Mathias with 74.4 per cent of the vote.

With the addition of 44 absentee votes, the total cast in Tuesday's election was upped to 5,381. That is only 15.1 per cent of the 35,658 eligible to vote in the primary.

Democrats did better than Republicans in getting out the vote but still fell well below the anticipated 30 to 35 per cent. The 3,463 Democrat votes amounted to 22.4 per cent of the 15,453 registered Democrats. That means that two out of every nine Democrats voted.

Only 1,198 Republicans out of 20,405 voted Tuesday. That is only 9.4 per cent or one out of every 11 Republicans.

Eighteen of the absentee votes were cast by members of the armed forces and the other 26 by civilians. Those in the armed forces included 10 Democrats and eight Republicans. The civilian absentee voters included 20 Republicans but only six Democrats.

City Seeks Bids On Resurfacing Job

The Mayor and Council is advertising for bids for improvements to Oldtown Road between Grand Avenue and Hill Top Drive.

Bids will be opened May 31 at 10 a. m. at the regular Council meeting. The work includes leveling, patching and resurfacing the street with a two-inch layer of blacktop.

Making The Election Official

Hughes Says Census Data Accurate

George R. Hughes Jr., district census director, said yesterday the preliminary population figures for Cumberland are accurate, as far as anyone can tell.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech has questioned the accuracy of the figures, which show Cumberland's population dropping from 37,679 in 1950 to 33,260 this year.

The mayor pointed out that census figures also showed dwelling units, listed at 11,596 in 1950, had dropped only to 11,528 according to the latest count.

Mayor Keech saw an inconsistency in the two sets of figures. So did Mr. Hughes. Before forwarding the figures to Mayor Keech, Mr. Hughes said yesterday, he had a crew chief recheck the work of the enumerators, and found the figures to be accurate to the best of his knowledge.

Mr. Hughes said that, although the figures still are only tentative, he believes they will prove accurate within one per cent.

Food Service Workers Plan Dinner Tonight

Between 75 and 100 members of the Allegany County School Food Service Association will attend a dinner meeting at 6 o'clock this evening in the Allegany High School cafeteria, according to Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of the school lunch program.

Mrs. Alberta Morton, manager of the Allegany cafeteria, is president of the association.

Today's dinner meeting, in effect, will be a birthday party for all attending. There will be 12 tables, one for each month of the year, and those born in the same month will sit at the same table.

After the meeting, the group will visit the county-wide art exhibit in the Allegany gymnasium.

Times-News Group Touring Holland

Members of the Times-News European tour arrived in Rotterdam, Holland, Wednesday afternoon, where the 16-member group spent several days sightseeing.

Yesterday the tour group visited the International Floriade, the world's Olympic of flowers and plants.

This afternoon the group will visit the Delft Porcelain Works; Schevenigen, ocean resort center; Madurodam, the most extensive city ever built, and Haarlem, the Dutch city for which New York's Harlem is named.

Nuzum To Inspect Street Job Today

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Virginia M. May vs. Oscar D. May and James Edward Williams, minor, by Theodore Williams, father and next friend, vs. Kathleen Lucille Williams.

HOWARD C. PALLIK

Will Become Bar Mitzvah

Howard Charles Pallik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pallik, LaVale, will become Bar Mitzvah at services Saturday at Beth Jacob Synagogue.

Pre-Bar Mitzvah services will be held today at 8 p. m. at the synagogue by Rabbi Bertram Cohen, spiritual leader, and the Pallik youth.

Tomorrow services will begin at 9 a. m. with the preliminary chant by Yale S. Lewine and the morning chant by Benjamin Levin.

Rabbi Cohen will read from the Torah at 10 a. m. tomrorow and the Pallik youth will read from the Torah and from the Book of Jeremiah. Rabbi Cohen also will deliver the charge to the Bar Mitzvah and will be assisted at an additional service by Dr. S. M. Jacobson.

The Pallik youth is a student at Allegany High School and is a member of the Allegany Youth Wind Ensemble, Allegany High Junior Band and Allegany Junior Glee Club. He also is a member of the Maccabee basketball team.

Elected Vice President

St. Mary's Asks Permit For School

The City of Cumberland was asked yesterday to issue a permit for the construction of a new school and convent for St. Mary's Catholic Church here.

The application for the $397,000 construction project was made in the name of the Archbishop of Baltimore.

The 12-classroom structure will be located on Prince George Street and will be 92 by 240 feet. It includes quarters for the school on the first floor and a convent on the second.

Plans call for masonry walls and a built-up roof. It will be built by Kirby and McGuire, Inc., Baltimore, according to plans furnished by Gaudreau and Gaudreau, Baltimore.

Governor To Open Industrial Blvd. Project June 10

Governor J. Millard Tawes will open the first section of the Industrial Boulevard here on June 10, according to John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer for the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The 2.2-mile highway project begins at the new Evitts Creek Bridge and runs to Thomas and West streets here and is being completed by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

City Seeks Bids

The Mayor and Council is advertising for bids, to be opened May 31 at 10 a. m., for constructing a concrete retaining wall and sidewalk on the easterly side of Valley Street.

LaVale Boy Wins Summer Science Study Scholarship

He is Donald R. Beynon Jr., 15-year-old Allegany High School sophomore and son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Beynon, 4 Klosterman's Avenue, LaVale.

The Second Summer Science Training Program for exceptional high school students is sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Only 25 students were selected from Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia, and seniors and juniors were given preference.

Students were selected on the basis of academic performance, their promise as future scientists and recommendations of their principals, counselors and science teachers.

At Morgan State this summer, the students will spend their mornings in seminars, and their afternoons in assisting faculty members in scientific projects.

DONALD R. BEYNON JR.

Donald is a member of the Allegany Hi-Y, the Glee Club and the Latin Club, is vice president of the school Student Council for next year, and is a member of Explorer Scout Post 10 in LaVale.

Win Marbles Event

Larry Martin, winner of the Johnson Heights School marbles tournament, congratulates Richard Grove, runner-up in the school contest. Winners of the school contests will compete for the city championship in a contest sponsored by the Cumberland Lions Club and the City Recreation Department.

House Refuses To Consider C&O Park Bill

Beall Leads Fight For Plan In Senate

By FRANK E. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Thursday refused to consider—and in effect killed—a bill to establish a Chesapeake and Ohio Canal national historical park.

Backers of the 14 million dollar project in Maryland said there remained only the rather forlorn hope of the Senate passing a bill and then having the House act on such a measure.

Rep. John R. Foley (D-Md), author of the bill, said there could be another chance for passage if a senate bill is passed.

"But the chances this year are quite remote," he said.

To Continue Fight

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) said he will continue to work for passage of his Senate bill. That measure now is before a Senate Interior subcommittee.

"I'm terribly disappointed over the House action," Beall said.

"As the original sponsor, I intended to work for passage of the bill," he added.

Economic reasons were advanced by opponents of the bill, which would establish the park for 165 miles along the Potomac between the District of Columbia and Cumberland.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) said the project is not needed and would be a waste of taxpayers' money.

Similar arguments were advanced by Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio), who said many millions have already been spent for parks near Washington.

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich) said House members are for economy.

Urges Approval

Foley, in urging approval of a rule to consider the measure, said the bill involves federally owned property and that establishing the park would preserve an historic relic.

He recalled that a similar bill passed the Senate in 1957.

Concerning the proposed park, Foley said the House Interior Committee had this to say:

"No other proposal that has been before the committee in recent years for the establishment of a new unit of the National Park System has offered more people of the country such promise of an opportunity to appreciate a historical scene and at the same time to enjoy a natural setting of singular beauty."

Schoolgirl, 7, Hit By Car

A seven-year-old local girl was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon after being struck by a car near the intersection of North Centre and Market streets.

Admitted to the hospital was Margaret L. Coffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Coffey, 240 North Centre Street. Hospital attendants said the girl sustained a bruise of the forehead and was admitted for X-rays and observation.

City Police Officer John H. Stitcher said the small girl walked from between two parked cars and was hit by a car operated by Mrs. Mary Margaret Shober, LaVale.

Officer Stitcher said no charges have been preferred. The girl, who is a student at St. Patrick's School, was on her way home from school when she was struck.

Hospital Board, City Sell Lots

The deed for Lots 34, 35 and 36 of Block 17, Cumberland Heights Addition, which have been sold by the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital and the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland for $2,750, was recorded yesterday at the Court House.

This property was purchased by Charles W. Redinger and Hazel E. Redinger. The deed was signed by Charles A. Piper as chairman of the hospital board and J. Edwin Keech as mayor.

Mayor Will Attend Rec Luncheon Today

Mayor J. Edwin Keech will attend today's luncheon session of the Governor's Conference on Recreation and Parks in Oakland.

Speaks Of Another Summit Conference In Six-Eight Months

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived from Paris in worried, divided Berlin Thursday and spoke soothingly about another summit conference in six to eight months.

"It is clear," said the solemn Soviet Premier, "that the Soviet Union and other freedom-loving countries must analyze the consequences, but we do not renounce our policy of seeking a relaxation of tension and of peaceful coexistence."

But once more he accused the United States of wrecking the summit conference.

He arrived at the airport, outside East Berlin, and was greeted by top East German Communists and about 1,300 party functionaries. Then he rode into East Berlin past crowds of cheering thousands. West Berliners said it was the biggest reception he ever received in East Berlin.

Clouds were threatening, but the rain held off.

Reads Speech In Dull Tone

"In this situation," Khrushchev said mildly, in an airport speech, "time is required, the effort of all peoples and governments is required to carry out a summit conference after six or eight months."

The tired-looking bespectacled man with his fringe of white hair read his speech in a dull, routine tone. The German translator who towered over him put a lot more emotion into his version.

Accusing the United States of torpedoing the summit conference, Khrushchev declared: "Obviously, in determining policy in the United States those circles have won the upper hand which want no reduction of international tensions and no removal of the danger of a new war."

But in speaking of a new summit conference after the U. S. election, he did not say anything about again demanding an apology from the United States for the spy flight over the Soviet Union.

No New Berlin Threats

This demand sent the summit meeting onto the rocks. He did not even mention the "obstacles" which he said, before leaving Paris, must be removed before another top-level meeting could be held.

Nor did he make any new threats against West Berlin, whose border is only about three miles from where he spoke. He mentioned it only once, as a problem that has to be settled within the framework of a treaty with Germany.

He did say there was a new situation now. The Soviet government, he went on, would discuss it with the other Communist countries and draw the necessary conclusions.

This may have been an allusion to Red China, which some Westerners believe may have played a major role in collapsing the summit conference.

Two Killed In Plane Collision Near Paris

PARIS (AP)—A twin-jet Caravelle airliner with 37 aboard and a small light plane collided near Paris Thursday. The light plane was demolished and its pilot killed. The Caravelle landed with one passenger killed and 25 others injured.

The collision occurred as the Caravelle, Air-Algeria's morning flight from Algiers, was making its approach for landing at Orly Field. It was flying at 2,000 feet.

Russia Claims U.S. Air Spying Will Continue

UNDER FIRE — The prosecution of Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton (above) for his dealings with the Soviet Union was asked by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.) in a Senate speech yesterday. Dodd said Eaton flew to Paris ot talk with Soviet Premier Khrushchev after the collapse of the summit conference. Dodd said he believed Eaton violated the Logan Act which forbids private citizens from negotiating with foreign powers to influence U. S. policy.

Ike's Ban Order Termed Tactic To Delude World

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The Soviet Union in a new memorandum Thursday night charged President Eisenhower's order calling off spy flights was a tactic to delude world opinion.

The Soviets also demanded that the U.N. Security Council condemn the United States for plane spying.

They put the U2 case before the U.N. Wednesday night with a demand for urgent Security Council action to stop spy flights.

President Eisenhower said in Paris Monday that he had ordered them stopped last Thursday.

The opening of the U2 case in the U.N. Security Council was set for Monday afternoon.

In his second note in two days to Security Council President Sir Claude Corea of Ceylon, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko contended the United States had no intention of giving up aerial spying.

Gromyko declared the United States "was compelled to announce merely a temporary suspension of the provocative flights over Soviet territory after its acts had been resolutely condemned throughout the world."

"Tactical Step" Gromyko Says

"What is involved, therefore," Gromyko went on, "is not a renunciation of the United States policy, which is contrary to the fundamental principles of the United Nations charter, but merely a tactical step taken by the United States government with the object of deluding world public opinion."

British sources said they expect Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd to represent Britain in the U2 debate. The French said if Lloyd comes, Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville may also be on hand.

That might indicate the American delegation would be headed by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who returns Friday to Washington from Paris.

The American strategy against the Soviet charges of spying and President Eisenhower's own open skies counterplan will be worked on over the weekend in Washington by Eisenhower, Herter and U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

U.S. To Counter Soviet Charge

The U.S. delegation indicated no decision had been made on whether in the U2 debates Herter would supersede Lodge, who himself sits with Cabinet rank.

The U.S. proposal would counter the Soviet charges that U2 flights —suspended a week ago by order of President Eisenhower—constitute a threat to world peace. The Russians will have a formal resolution containing the charges ready for the opening meeting of the Council.

Lodge is expected to bring in on Monday Eisenhower's proposal to have the U.N. supervise international aerial surveillance aimed at guarding the world against surprise attack from any quarter.

Ike Played Into Khrush Hands, Adlai Declares

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson asserted Thursday night that successful negotiations with the Soviets will be impossible as long as the Republicans are in power.

He reiterated that the United States had made a "series of blunders."

The 1952 and 1956 Democratic nominee for president called the Eisenhower administration's diplomacy clumsy and served notice that some Democrats will criticize "carelessness and mistakes" of government in the campaign ahead.

Stevenson, in a speech prepared for a $100-a-plate dinner sponsored by the Cook County Democratic Committee, declared Republican leaders say that everybody must rally around President Eisenhower in the crisis that boiled up at the summit conference in Paris.

"There is no question about national unity in a time of crisis," Stevenson said. "But...it is the duty of responsble opposition in a democracy to expose and criticize carelessness and mistakes."

Stevenson indicted the Eisenhower administration on what he termed these "hard, inescapable facts":

"This administration played into Khrushchev's hands.

"If Khrushchev wanted to wreck the conference our government made it possible.

"The administration has acutely embarrassed our allies and endangered our bases.

"They have helped make successful negotiations with the Russians—negotiations that are vital to our survival—impossible so long as they are in power."

'Copter Fails In Attempt To Pluck Five From Peak

SUMMIT, Alaska (UPI)—Turbulent weather high on Mt. McKinley Thursday prevented a helicopter pilot from rescuing Mrs. Helga Bading, one of five mountaineers injured and facing a freezing death on North America's loftiest peak.

Capt. William Toothill said he set his high-altitude Army helicopter down on a small, snow-swept plateau at the 15,000-foot level but was forced to take off immediately because of strong winds.

He said that when the weather permitted he would make another attempt to snatch the 30-year-old Anchorage housewife from the 20,320-foot peak which, ironically, the Indians call Denali, "The home of the sun."

Higher up the peak, at the 18,300-foot level, four men with frozen feet and broken bones also were awaiting rescue. They are John Day, 50, Central Point, Ore., and Pete Schoening and James and Lou Whitaker, 31-year-old twins of Seattle.

Paul Crews, leader of one of two climbing parties involved, said that a ground party would arrive too late to save Mrs. Bading and the injured men, but nevertheless the first members of a 40-man rescue team were on their way up the mountain. They had been flown to Ruth Glacier at the 10,000-foot level by veteran bush pilot Don Sheldon, who said he would continue shuttling the rescuers as long as the weather held.

Mrs. Bading was in grave condition, having suffered an attack of mountain sickness caused by a lack of oxygen and overexertion. She was in a "deep coma," according to Dr. Rodman Wilson, who had scaled the mountain in the party with her and Crews.

Oregon May Halt Kennedy Win Streak

Morse Confident Of Victory Today In Home State

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The clatter and clash of campaigning resounded through northwest Oregon Thursday on the eve of the last major presidential primary of 1960.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) set out on a final vote-hunting safari saying, "I am very much encouraged." With six straight primary victories in his trophy case, he is trying for a seventh win with Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) the main hurdle. Kennedy got endorsement Thursday from Oregon's other Democratic senator, Hall S. Lusk, who is serving out the term of the late Richard L. Neuberger.

Morse Confident

Morse campaigned in long leaps —from his home at Eugene, to Newport on the Pacific coast, to Oregon City 15 miles outside Portland and back to Eugene.

Always a formidable vote-getter in Oregon, Morse wasn't budging from a forecast that he will pocket 60 per cent of the Democratic vote Friday and snap the Kennedy winning streak. Kennedy, he says, is a synthetic liberal, an unethical interloper who has no business challenging the Morse favorite-son candidacy.

Kennedy Expects Defeat

Kennedy hasn't switched from a public prediction that Morse should win on his home grounds. But some of his key supporters are talking in the closing campaign hours of a possibility of a sizeable Kennedy victory.

Kennedy's big sales talk is that Morse isn't to be taken seriously as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Repeatedly, he tells voters they "cannot possibly afford to waste this opportunity at this dangerous and trying time."

PRR Workers End Walkouts

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Full complements of Pennsylvania Railroad maintenance employes reported for work on the 4 p.m. shift throughout the system Thursday after the union called off sporadic walkouts in progress since last Monday.

A railroad spokesman said the workers, along with car inspectors, had reported in full force on the night shift.

The workers obeyed an order issued in New York by Michael Quill, international president of the Transport Workers Union. He said the union's railroad division of more than 20,000 members would abide by an injunction granted to the PRR here Wednesday night by U.S. District Judge Francis L. Van Dusen. It prohibited picketing at the railroad's installations throughout the nation.

Quill said the union's lawyers believe the injunction is illegal and will fight it in court.

The stoppages began last Monday in Weirton, W. Va., and spread to such points as Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Mingo Junction, Ohio, Philadelphia and New York. Various numbers of workers left their jobs on grounds they had to attend union meetings.

The union claimed the series of meetings along the line seriously disrupted the railroad's freight service. Management, however, said traffic was running on schedule with the aid of supervisory employes.

ACL And Seaboard Agree On Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the South's largest railroads, the Atlantic Coast Line and the Seaboard Air Line, Thursday agreed on merger terms.

Directors of both roads, at separate meetings, approved the terms, which now must be acted upon by stockholders. The Interstate Commerce Commission also must consent.

Action of the Seaboard and ACL directors came only one day after the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Baltimore & Ohio railroads approved a stock exchange which could eventually result in a merger.

Several other railroads throughout the country are discussing mergers. The nation's railroad plant is being cut back under competition from other types of transportation.

West Is Convinced Kremlin Crisis Led To Summit Blowup

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

PARIS (AP)—Western statesmen quit the scene of the fantastic summit parley Thursday, virtually convinced that a crisis in the Kremlin forced Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to blow up the talks.

First assessment of their experts suggested further that the Soviet Premier's performance in Paris was dictated by a fight for political survival.

The governments led by President Eisenhower, French President Charles de Gaulle and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan also seemed to share the view that Soviet leaders have not yet decided irrevocably whether to bury or keep alive the policy of relaxing East-West tensions.

As a result the Western leaders have agreed on a policy of wait and see.

According to information from the highest authorities, this probably will mean that for their part the Allies will do nothing to make an East-West accommodation impossible.

They intend to insure that their guard is raised, their defenses are ready and their plans up-dated to meet any emergency that might arise in Berlin or elsewhere.

A quick show of Western solidarity came from the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. After hearing the three Western foreign ministers report on the summit debacle, the 15-nation council in special session unanimously supported the Western position.

A NATO spokesman said the delegates "paid tribute to the spirit of conciliation of the three Western chiefs of government and the calm and dignity they showed." They expressed regret that Khrushchev's position "made the negotiations in Paris impossible."

The council also approved the foreign ministers' readiness to continue to seek a solution of world problems by "peaceful means through negotiation," the spokesman added.

With the cold war winds blowing at full blast again, the council also took up the question of tightening the Atlantic defenses, the spokesman said.

"You can take it our defenses are being looked after," he said.

In assaying the quick change in Khrushchev's tactics, Western authorities noted that in the week beginning May 8 two distinct developments took place.

In Washington on May 9 and 11, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and then the President himself, admitted knowledge and responsibility for the U2 spy flight over the Soviet Union and indicated they were not being halted. An American source said Herter told the NATO council Thursday the U2 flights had been going on for four years and produced information of value to the West.

In Moscow about the same time, Communist party and Red army heads met in extraordinary session for three or four days before Khrushchev's departure for Paris. This evidently was the setting for the internal crisis that produced a return to the toughness of the cold war.

Western officials said they had no doubt the Herter and Eisenhower statements in Washington helped to recast the Soviet attitude toward the summit.

Constitution Accord

LONDON (AP) — Talks on a constitution for Nigeria, soon to become an independent state, ended Thursday in complete agreement. Nigeria's Independence Day is set for Oct. 1 this year.

AF Chief Says Defense Buildup Might Be Wise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of the U. S. Air Force said Thursday irrational behavior displayed at the Paris summit conference might make it wise to strengthen this nation's defenses.

"I have seen indications recently," Gen. Thomas D. White told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, "that irrationality could enter into a certain nation's decision to launch an attack."

White's comment came in reply to questions about Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the breakup of the Paris summit conference. Sens. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Dennis Chavez (D-NM) had asked if the Paris developments required a change in U. S. defense plans and appropriations.

White said that earlier this year he had been convinced U. S. defenses were so strong that "no rational decision could be made to attack us."

Any attacking nation would face destruction from this country's deterrent powers, he said. Then he added: "What would be a deterrent to a rational point of view might not be a deterrent to an irrational point of view."

White did not pinpoint his remarks further, and when a reporter asked him afterward if he was referring to Khrushchev as irrational he smiled and said: "You will have to draw your own conclusions."

Under questioning by Sen. Chavez, White said that probably the easiest way to step up U. S. defenses quickly would be to add two more squadrons of Atlas intercontinental missiles.

He said two more squadrons, of 12 missiles each, probably could be added within the next three years at a cost of 350 million dollars.

Senators Argue Whether Nixon Sought Political Advantage In Paris Debacle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unity front showed cracks Thursday as Senate Democrats and Republicans made thrusts and counterthrusts over whether Vice President Richard M. Nixon sought political advantage from the summit debacle.

At storm center was Nixon's statement in Buffalo, N. Y. Wednesday that if the Democrats "believe we should have allowed a gap in our intelligence, let them investigate it. If they believe the President should have apologized to Mr. Khrushchev (for the spy plane flight), let them investigate."

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), denying for the Democrats on both counts, retorted: "It appears to me Nixon is creating straw men for the purpose of knocking them down."

Mansfield's remarks came on top of a protest by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn) that, "While Democrats in the Senate are pleading for unity, Mr Nixon is undertaking to convert the tragedy in Paris to his political expediency."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) rebuked Gore for making a "unwarranted and unjustified" attack and for being "unduly brutal and harsh" with the vice president, who is an all-but-certain Republican candidate for the presidency.

Amid this wrangling, there were these other related happenings on Capitol Hill:

1. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn) called for prosecution of Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton under the 160-year-old Logan Act. This law, which never has been used, forbids private citizens from negotiating with foreign powers with intent to influence U. S. policy.

Dodd made his speech—and was applauded for it by Republican senators—after Eaton, a long-time advocate of Soviet-American friendship, had conferred briefly with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at Paris' airport.

2. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said that in taking the spy plane incident to the United Nations there is "a serious question as to whether the Soviets are looking for a method of settling disputes or a sounding board for further propaganda." He said the action "has the trappings of a propaganda circus."

Eisenhower Urges West Keep Chin Up

President Basks In Warm Welcome After Cold Summit

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—President Eisenhower flew in Thursday from the cold of a dead summit conference to a warm welcome from 250,000 Portuguese shouting "Viva Eisenhower" and "We like Ike."

The wave of affection rolling over the President brought out the famous Eisenhower smile as he rode in an open car through this capital's streets in a downpour of confetti.

Once in his quarters in Queluz Palace, however, his mood sobered as he called for the Western powers to work even harder for peace, despite the failure of the Paris summit meeting.

"Rather than being dismayed," he told assembled U.S. employes, "we must tighten our belts, keep our chins up and each of us work a little harder for the great cause of peace with justice and freedom."

Eisenhower discussed briefly the breakup of the summit meeting over Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's demand that he publicly apologize for the U2 spy flight over the Soviet Union.

Met Abuse With Logic

"While none of the free world thought that there would be any revolutionary gains at the summit conference, they did feel that there was a good chance of some amelioration of some of the tensions in the world," Eisenhower said.

"You deserve to know that the representatives of the United States, the United Kingdom and France did our very best to bring about that condition. We answered abuse with dignity and logic. We answered accusations with facts."

The President referred to Portugal, a partner with the United States in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, as a tremendous friend and ally.

In another allusion to the summit debacle, he said: "Whenever these situations occur, we have to work ever stronger to strengthen our own camp and bring it ever close together."

Eisenhower spoke at a private reception for Americans working in Portugal. His remarks, based on notes taken by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, then were made public.

Before leaving Paris, Eisenhower made his first public comment on the collapse at the summit but without answering the insults hurled at him by Khrushchev.

West Unity Strengthened

"I share the disappointment of my colleagues that, because of our inability to convene the summit conference, we could make no progress for easing the tensions which so plague mankind," he said at Paris' Orly Field.

"But I fully share their confidence that because of this setback we of the Western Allies, and particularly France, Britain and the United States, both through their governments and through their people, are joined even closer than before in a determined pursuit of peace with justice in the world."

Replying to Portuguese reporters' questions at a news conference, Hagerty said once again that Eisenhower is "completely disgusted and fed up with the tactics and antics of Khrushchev."

Eisenhower, who leaves for home Friday to report to the nation on the summit, came to Lisbon four days earlier than he had planned because of the summit's quick end. He was met at the airport by President Americo Tomaz and strong man Premier Antonio Salazar.

Norway Given New Assurances By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department broadly indicated Thursday that the United States has promised not to use Norway as a base for future spy flights over the Soviet Union.

Press officer Lincoln White declined, however, to specify exactly what assurances had been given to the NATO ally.

The Soviet Union claims that the U2 plane downed May 1 was destined from Pakistan to Norway. Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard M. Lange subsequently said it had been established that the U2 was headed for Norway's Bodo airfield. He protested to U.S. Ambassador Frances E. Willis and demanded that the United States avoid similar planned landings in the future.

No Voting Age Cut

OTTAWA (AP)—A proposal to reduce the voting age in federal elections from 21 to 18 was defeated Thursday by a vote of 8-2 by a House of Commons committee.

Freed, Four Other DJs Seized On Payola Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Alan Freed, onetime pied piper of rock 'n' roll, was arrested with four other disc jockeys Thursday. They were accused of lining their pockets with payola to plug certain records on their broadcasts.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said their take—and that of three radio station employes also named in the case—ran as high as $36,000 during the two-year period 1958-59. He put Freed's at $30,650.

Besides Freed, those arrested were:

Disc jockey Peter Tripp, 33, of New York's WMGM, accused on 39 counts of taking $36,050 from eight record companies in the two-year 1958-59 period.

Disc jockey Tommy Smalls, 34, of New York's WWRL, 48 counts, $13,385 from 18 companies. He was immediately discharged by the station.

Disc jockey Hal Jackson, 45, of New York's WLIB, 30 counts, $9,850 from nine companies.

Disc jockey Jack Walker, 39, formerly of WOV and now of WLIB, 33 counts, $7,420 from 10 companies.

Mel Leeds, now of Los Angeles station KDAY, 40 counts, accused of taking $9,675 from five companies when he was program director of New York's WINS, where Freed first won fame.

Labor-Industry Meeting Makes Amicable Start

Four representatives of management and three from organized labor held a three-hour exploratory session which they later jointly described as a "completely amicable and reasonable discussion."

It was indicated, however, that the conferees steered clear of coming to grips in any detail with any of their mutual problems, discussing them only in the broadest of terms.

Moreover, the labor union chiefs requested that the industry people recruit top men from the auto, steel, railroad, construction and other major industries to join in future conferences.

The next meeting was left to be arranged in some six or eight weeks because some of the conferees have other commitments. AFL-CIO President George Meany, for one, is due to leave for Europe soon.

Representatives of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, which designated the industry conferees, and the AFL-CIO, which represented union labor, both said they were gratified and relieved the initial planning conference hadn't simply collapsed at the outset, as many had feared.

The President set up the conferences after the end of the recent record steel strike. The aim is to achieve agreements to smooth troubled employer-union relations, curb inflation, increase production and tackle a number of associated problems.

Those participating for management were President Rudolph Bannow of the NAM and Presidents William J. Grede of the J. I. Case Farm Machinery Co., L. A. Petersen of the Otis Elevator Co., and Robert W. Stoddard of the Wyman-Gordon Co., a steel products concern.

Those representing the AFL-CIO besides Meany were federation Vice Presidents Walter P. Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, and George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

Town Has Little To Cheer About

WHAT CHEER, Iowa (AP) — Residents of this southern Iowa community had little to cheer about Thursday when the district census supervisor reported the town's population had dropped to 951.

Only a decade ago the population was 1,119. In 1885 it was a booming town of 3,524. The population has gradually declined since then, falling below 2,000 in 1910.

Four D.C. Policemen Acquitted Of Rape

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four policemen were acquitted Thursday of rape charges.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. directed the jury to find the men innocent on grounds that a 31-year-old woman's testimony would not warrant a conviction.

The judge noted that a rape conviction requires evidence that the victim was in deathly fear, injured, or had protested the attack. There was no such evidence in this case, the judge said.

The policemen are Pvts. Bobbie R. Campbell, 30; Owen W. Cunningham, 30; Graham B. Pennington, 24, and Raymond F. Vernon Jr., 30. They are white. The woman involved is a Negro.

Brady Receives Another Chance

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals Thursday gave John Leo Brady another chance in his efforts to escape death in the gas chamber for the slaying of William Brooks, an Odenton plastics worker.

The high court affirmed an Anne Arundel County Circuit Court decision which denied Brady a new trial on the grounds of newly discovered evidence, but it said he could bring the matter back in an appeal from prison under the state's Post Conviction Procedure Act.

Brady, a 26-year-old former Upper Marlboro truck driver, and Donald Boblit, 26, of Odenton, are both awaiting execution at the Maryland Penitentiary for Brooks' death. Gov. Tawes granted them stays of execution pending new legal efforts by Brady.

His petition to lower court was based on an unsigned statement Boblit allegedly gave police in which Boblit admitted he was the one who strangled Brooks when the two waylaid the semi-invalid on June 27, 1958, to take his car.

Eight Electrical Firms Indicted

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eight electrical firms, including two of the nation's biggest — General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Corp.—were indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on charges of fixing prices and rigging bids in the sale of heavy power equipment.

GE, Westinghouse and I-T-E Circuit Break Co. were named in all three indictments handed up to U. S. Dist. Judge Francis L. Van Dusen.

All eight firms were charged in one indictment with conspiracy to restrain trade in the sale of power-switching equipment, which means all air brake switches rated in excess of 600 volts.

Other firms named are Federal Pacific Electric Co of Newark, N. J.; Joslyn Manufacturing & Supply Co. of Chicago; H. K. Port Co. of Pittsburgh; Schwager-Wood Corp. of Portland, Ore.; and Southern States Equipment Corp. of Hampton, Ga.

C&O Lists Three '60 Steps In Acquiring B&O Control

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway hopes to take three major steps by the end of 1960 in acquiring control of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, a C&O official said Thursday.

Joseph C. Kauffman, C&O vice president, said his line will ask the Interstate Commerce Commission in a week or 10 days for permission to acquire control of the B&O and to issue shares to carry out that goal.

Other steps, said Kauffman, are an offer to B&O stockholders to accept C&O stock for their B&O shares and a special meeting of C&O stockholders to approve the transaction.

"We ought to get it all done this year," said Kauffman, obviously referring only to those three steps and not to an eventual merger of the two lines. Kauffman was here to address a local group.

A plan agreed on this week by directors of the C&O and B&O calls for one C&O share of common stock for each share of B&O preferred, and one share of C&O common for each one and three-fourths shares of BO common.

The railroads are looking toward a merger, but Kauffman would not estimate a timetable for that. The immediate plan is for C&O to gain control of at least 80 per cent of B&O stock. If at least that amount of B&O stock is offered to the C&O, the C&O must go through with the exchange, according to the agreement. If less than 80 per cent is offered, the move is at CO's discretion.

Reports of a possible merger of the C&O, the B&O and the New York Central were made public last month. The Central has kept mum about the matter. But officials of the C&O and B&O have acknowledged that talks are under way.

A merger of the C&O and B&O would create the second largest railroad in the country, a position now held by the Central. The Pennsylvania is the largest.

The C&O, one of the nation's major coal carriers, has 5,122 miles of track. The B&O has 5,937. Both lines have assets of more than one billion dollars.

Though the B&O last year had revenues of 395 million dollars to 348 for the C&O, the latter turned in a much more impressive profit picture—$45,687,246 to $14,809,203.

U.S., UAR Join In Irradiation Tests In Cairo

By GERALD ARATHOON

CAIRO (UPI) — United Arab Republic and American scientists are carrying out joint experiments here on the effects of irradiation on local products.

Dr. Salah Hashish, head of the radiobiology section of the UAR Atomic Energy Establishment, said the experiments are aimed at producing "desirable mutations."

"Studies will range over materials from pollen grains and cotton seeds to physiological experiments including rats and plastics," he said.

A "gamma facility" device with a 2,000 - curie, high - dose range from the Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island, N.Y., is being used. It is part of the equipment which the United States Atomic Energy Commission shipped here as part of the first nuclear energy exhibit ever shown in the Middle East.

The exhibit runs through May 30 before moving on to Karachi, Pakistan. The joint research is being carried out while the equipment is here.

Dr. Hashish said the gamma facility, which produces cobalt-60 irradiation, is "very useful for short irradiation periods."

Egypt has a 1,000-curie irradiation unit of its own, but it is being used for different experiments.

Towards the end of this year the UAR will begin operating its own atomic reactor with the help of the Soviet Union. Local production of radioisotopes is expected to start in 1961.

Methodists Will Meet June 8-12 At Westminster

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — Ministers and laymen representing 546 churches will attend the annual Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church here June 8-12.

An estimated 1,000 delegates from Maryland, eastern West Virginia and the District of Columbia are expected for the sessions, beginning with Communion at 8 p.m. June 8 and ending with the reading of ministerial appointments at 3:30 p.m. June 12.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, who has administered the Washington, D.C., Episcopal Area since 1952, will preside over the Baltimore Conference for the last time. He retires at the Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference in Washington, June 15-19.

Bishop Oxnam will deliver the sermon at the opening service and also will speak to the class being received into conference membership at 11:30 a.m. June 10.

He also will give the morning sermon Sunday, June 12.

Other conference speakers will include Dr. William Andrew Keese, pastor of Grace Church, Baltimore; Dr. Fred G. Holloway, president of Drew University and the Rev. Donald Bakely, pastor of Centenary Tabernacle Church, Camden N.J.

The delegates will hear a composite report of the district superintendents and take action on reports from various conference committees.

West Virginia Hopes For Surplus Fading

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)— The state's finance commissioner is confident the West Virginia State government will have enough money to cover all appropriations made by the Legislature for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30.

But Commissioner Henry L. Ash told the Board of Public Works Thursday there is little prospect the state will end the fiscal year with $2,836,000 left over, which the Legislature had counted on.

In passing the new budget, the Legislature depended upon the treasury having an unencumbered balance of $2,836,000 at the end of the old year. That amount was included in the $115,659,000 estimate of receipts for this year.

Ash said the state general fund would have to take in $20,076,000 in May and June to meet that estimate. Receipts in May and June last year were $17,478,000.

Senate Vote Set Next Week On Ike's Veto Of Depressed Areas Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) announced Thursday the Senate will vote next week on President Eisenhower's veto of the 251 million dollars depressed areas aid bill.

Johnson said the veto will be called up Tuesday and the attempt to override it will come Tuesday or Wednesday.

Administration bills were introduced in both houses yesterday calling for 180 million dollars in aid to chronically depressed areas.

At the same time other bills, likewise designed to meet administration objections to the bill vetoed last Friday by President Eisenhower, were introduced.

These measures, sponsored by Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa) and Reps. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa) and John P. Saylor (R-Pa), would authorize 108 million dollars — mostly in loans to industry — for distressed areas.

The administration proposal was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Everett J. Dirksen (Ill), Republican floor leader, and in the House by Rep. William B. Widnall (R-NJ).

Prospects of passage of either of the new proposals appeared dim because congress soon will be hurrying toward adjournment because of the national political conventions coming up in July.

Also the Democratic majority, which passed the previous bill with some Republican help, has held out for a larger authorization of funds than the administration would accept.

Both the administration and the Scott-Van Zandt-Saylor bills would authorize 75 million dollars in industrial loans.

The administration measure, however, has one large innovation in that instead of authorizing direct grants for public facilities in connection with new industrial projects it would double from 100 million to 200 million dollars the authorization for the housing and home finance agency.

The agency would be required to give priority to applications for loans for public facilities involved in depressed area industrial construction.

The Scott-Van Zandt-Saylor bill would provide 25 million dollars in direct grants for public facilities.

Both proposals omit loans to rural depressed areas but would permit technical assistance to such areas. The administration measure earmarks two million dollars for technical assistance to low-income rural areas and one-industry small towns.

Bids Filed On Four W. Va. Armory Jobs

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The State Armory Board received bids Thursday on some $2,000,000 worth of construction in four West Virginia cities.

Bids were received on combination West Virginia National Guard armory and civic centers for Clarksburg, Welch and Beckley and an addition to the Princeton armory. The Beckley structure also will have facilities for the Army Reserve.

The board said the apparent low bidder probably would not be determined until next Thursday.

The armories and their appropriate costs were Beckley $975,000, Welch $468,000 and Clarksburg $467,000. The Princeton armory addition will cost about $61,000. The federal government will foot part of the bill on each job.

Campbell Shuns Second Hearing

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Christopher C. Campbell, 54-year-old Baltimore County dairy farmer, failed to appear as scheduled Thursday for a second extradition hearing on charges of performing illegal abortions in York County, Pa.

Joseph D. Buscher, assistant attorney general conducting the hearings, said Maryland State Police have been looking for Campbell since Pennsylvania submitted an amended indictment and extradition papers about a month ago. Gov. Tawes had refused to turn Campbell over to Pennsylvania authorities at a hearing Feb. 22 because of a legal technicality. It was pointed out that the indictment misidentified him as Charles Christopher Campbell. A driver's license and social security card were submitted showing his real name is Christopher Columbus Campbell.

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The submarine road to Russia is a two-way street.

Belated realization of this is focusing increased attention on the fact the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans are no longer great defensive barriers. They provide hidden highways for potential enemies.

Much also has been made of the fact there are more submarines—450—in the Russian fleet than there are active warships—383—in the U.S. Navy.

Implicit in the alarm these considerations generate is the specter of the United States isolated and beset from the sea. Is this alarm justified?

Perhaps the best answer is that the U.S. Navy views the threat with considerable calm.

There are two major factors in the Navy's lack of nervousness over the apparent Russian advantage:

1. The Russian navy as it now stands was built to World War II standards and designed to fight a conventional war of defense and attrition.

2. The U.S. Navy cannot now foresee a situation in which the surface ships would be pitted against submarines as they were in World War II, except in limited wars—and these would not involve Russian manned submarines.

At the moment, the U.S. Navy is far more concerned over its ability to meet simultaneous, limited war crises in two oceans with an overage, steadily shrinking fleet.

Seven years ago the total U.S. fleet consisted of 1,129 ships. Now there are 817—and no guarantee against further reductions. Eighty per cent of the Navy's ships were built during or prior to World War II. The Navy places the useful life of a ship at between 16 and 20 years.

At the present replacement rate, the U.S. Navy will be about half its present size in 10 years.

These facts worry top Navy officers because as the character of the Russian fleet changes—and intelligence reports indicate it is acquiring a thermonuclear war capability—the Navy's defense capabilities must be greatly increased with new ships and new equipment.

Any broad assessment of the U.S. Navy's present capabilities is extremely difficult for U.S. power must be related to the capabilities of the potential enemy. Hard, undisputed facts about the Russian fleet are difficult to obtain.

Bomb Shelter Info Calls To CD Jump

By United Press International

Civil Defense officials in many cities Wednesday reported a sharp increase in inquiries about bomb shelters and protection from nuclear attack in the wake of the summit conference collapse.

Telephone calls to Civil Defense headquarters jumped from a daily average of 10 or 12 to 350 in Minneapolis alone.

Practically none of those asking information in Minneapolis and other cities showed signs of fear or panic. Civil Defense officials said almost all the calls were motivated instead by a sober awareness of heightened international tensions.

Top Singer Reads Only Shaped Notes

By JOYCE SCHULLER

CHICAGO (UPI) — Will success spoil Betty Johnson, popular cafe singer and TV star?

Not if her parents can help it, Betty said in an interview here.

Betty, who appears regularly on the Jack Paar show, frequently on the Ed Sullivan show and has made such popular recordings as "I Dreamed," "Little Blue Man" and "Dream," has impressed many people.

"But not my family," she said. "My father still reminds me that I can't read any music but shaped notes."

Shaped notes, Betty explained, are a simple kind, which were widely used in the South by gospel singers during the 19th Century. They're easy to read because the shape of the head of each note indicates the scale degree represented.

Betty learned to read shaped notes from her father, back on the farm where she grew up in the North Carolina foothills of the Smokie Mountains. Her parents still live there.

It was with her family that Betty first turned professional. They sang hymns and spirituals as a group in local churches and even in the fields at harvest parties. They were signed by a Charlotte, N.C., radio station when Betty was about eight. She sang tenor then and the family was billed as "The Johnson Family Singers," a title under which they make records.

"Way back then when I was a tenor, my father squelched any notions of grandeur I might have had," Betty said. "He never let me or my three brothers see any of our press notices."

Workshop Planned By Mud Hens

The Queen City Mud Hens held its annual spring dinner meeting concluding activities until fall, Tuesday evening at Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Mrs. Paul Gilford presided at a short business session.

It was decided to have a workshop one day and one evening each month at which all kinds of hand molding will be done. The workshop will be held at the home of Mrs. Betty Chaney with Mrs. Chaney chairman, assisted by Mrs. Peg Valentine and Mrs. Irene Critzman. A potter's throwing wheel was purchased for the use of the club.

Mrs. Critzman reported on her trip to a ceramics show at Asbury Park, N. J., describing a demonstration given on wood-staining ceramics and one on painting under glass. Mrs. Chaney displayed a hand painted china tea set trimmed in gold, and hand painted tile blocks.

Games were played with prizes being awarded Mrs. Valentine and Mrs. Gilford.

Thirteen members and two guests attended. Members are Mrs. George Tenent, Mrs. R. W. Trevaskis Sr., Mrs. Gilford, Mrs. Critzman, Mrs. Betty Sandhoff, Mrs. Valentine, Mrs. Thomas Turley, Mrs. Cerneil Fligal, Mrs. Chaney, Mrs. Christine Hess, Mrs. Gertrude Young, Miss Helen Cherry, Mrs. C. R. Burkey and guests Mrs. Ella Klavuhn and Mrs. Emma Robison.

Japan Only Country Able To Negotiate 180-Degree Turns

By ARNOLD DIBBLE

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan, which is celebrating 100 years of diplomatic relations with the United States this month, is perhaps the only country in the world that has been able to negotiate 180-degree turns in its long history.

For Japan, at least twice during its last 100 years, there have been two sharp turns. It could be called revolution — except that these well - delineated departures were achieved without internal violence.

On May 22, 1860, a Japanese delegation signed a treaty with the United States in Washington opening up relations between the two nations after a "deep sleep" by Japan of nearly 300 years, during which the doors of the nation were closed to foreigners and foreign ideas.

Emperor Jeiji ordered the nation to industrialize, to westernize. By 1900, the factory stacks of industry were belching smoke. Some factories had been imported piece by piece from foreign lands, even a whisky distillery from Scotland.

That was the first 180 - degree turn.

The second came in 1945. A defeated warlike people, suddenly became dedicated to peace. A people taught to hate America and the West, suddenly loved America and the West.

Of course there was some hypocrisy. But the national change was just as stark in 1945 as was the national change from feudalism to industrialism in 1960.

Japan's recovery since 1945 is staggering to the imagination. No country in history ever pulled itself up from the ashes of war with such vitality and such success. Not even West Germany.

Figures tell the story coldly, the people more warmly.

In 1945, the people couldn't have been more confused. Tokyo, for example, was 80 per cent destroyed. Osaka, Nagoya, Hiroshima, Nagasaki, Yokohama, just to name a few were in rubble.

The emperor had declared he really wasn't god.

For the stricken nation it was not a question of what to do, it was how to move. Japan was like a prizefighter trying to get up and beat the 10-count; it couldn't focus, its muscles were paralyzed.

Today, you'd have to look hard to see traces of war. If the people aren't generally happy, they sure can be seen with a lot of smiles and they know how to have a good time as their night clubs, parks and athletic stadiums attest.

This nation of 93,000,000 jammed onto four main islands in less space than the state of Montana —only one-sixth of it capable of producing food—is producing more than $30 billion worth of goods and services a year — the so-called Gross National Product.

The average income per capita is about $300 per year — low by American standards, but by far the highest in Asia. And there are predictions that the per capita income will double by 1970. Few doubt that with this country's determination, it will come true.

Korean Reds Blasted

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI)— U.S. Marine Maj. Gen. Marion L. Dawson demanded Thursday that the Communists demolish "illegal fortifications" in the truce zone.

Dawson, chief Allied member of the Truce Commission, also demanded punishment of the Red army officer who attempted by force last week to prevent an Allied inspector from examining the fortifications through binoculars.

During the past four years alone, Japan's industrial production has risen by 80 per cent. It's still booming.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — An industrial spy network in Manhattan wars on petty pilferage in supermarkets, department stores and specialty shops across the nation.

Michael Aulicino, boss of the super spies, said in an interview that his operatives estimate the cost of living could be reduced by one billion dollars a year if the petty thefts were eliminated.

Although the Aptec Co. operatives do their spying in stores, they are not store detectives. "We sometimes spy on the store detectives," Aulicino said.

The Aptec gum-shoes usually are called in by the chairman of the board or a company president who suspects that something seems wrong with the current balance sheet — especially the part that has to do with inventories.

"Some persons we have caught in the act of stealing from the company," Aulicino said, "become indignant, seeing nothing wrong with what technically is a theft."

In one supermarket, for example, the manager and employes were in the habit of treating themselves to lunch by sampling the merchandise. Lunches cost the firm $75 a day.

In another supermarket, the employes were allowed to consume merchandise if the package was damaged. So they broke the paper packaging of cookies and fruit.

The classic case of supermarket pilferage, however, was the one in which a clerk was at liberty to dispose of damaged merchandise. Aulicino said the clerk wasn't content to sell at a discount the normally damaged stock.

"We found that he was taking an ax to cases of good merchandise to increase his supply. By the time we caught up with him, he was netting up to $400 a week."

Khrushchev Diatribe Hints Return To Stalinist Policy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

PARIS (AP)—It may be months before the West can make an adequate assessment of the factors behind the explosion at the summit in Paris. And only time may tell whether East or West—if either—is a winner over the other.

Nikita Khrushchev's violent diatribe before the world's press Wednesday presented a frightening spectacle for an already jittery world.

It suggested the Soviet premier felt an urgent need to lower the cold war temperature. It suggested also that Soviet-American crises, edging to the brink of disaster and then easing off, may be expected over a long period.

There was more than a hint of a return to Stalinist foreign policy in Khrushchev'a performance. This would augur a fortress of world communism, furiously building its power anduusing dangerous tensions as political weapons elsewhere in the world.

Glowering down at massed representatives of the world's press, Khrushchev fired a fistful of verbal thunderbolts. He waved his arms as he poured a torrent of insults upon U.S. leaders. He grinned and grimaced and scowled menacingly, like a man given an assignment to carry out and determined to give the utmost satisfaction.

There was nothing essentially new in what Khrushchev said. But the way he said it was menacing. And all together, it strengthened the impression that he had been prodded into this unprecedented, supertruculent posture.

Those in the Kremlin doing the prodding—and the finger of suspicion points to old-line Stalinists supported by resentful army officers—apparently still do not want to turn the cold war into a hot one.

Khrushchev made it clear that whoever makes Soviet policy does not intend to let the crises develop into war. This was evident from his performance. He repeated his threats in stormy and undiplomatic language, but cautiously left the Kremlin a way out in each case. Here are some examples:

On Berlin: He said the American attitude in Paris gave urgency to the Soviet resolve to end the occupation status and make West Berlin an international city. But once again he did not set a time limit, and even indicated this might be discussed at some future summit conference.

On divided Germany: Khrushchev said he still intends to sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany and thus end Western rights of access to West Berlin. But not now. He said the Kremlin would do it when it considers the time is ripe.

On disarmament and nuclear weapons testing, his position essentially was no different from the previous position.

It all was a matter of tone, as if Khrushchev were satisfying somebody back home of his intentions.

What the Russians have done is retain major world issues, particularly those of Berlin and Germany, as ready-made crises. These can be used whenever the Russians, for internal or other reasons, find a crisis necessary.

In the long run the results of the Paris attempt at a summit meeting are likely to hurt world Communism as a movement, just as Stalin hurt the movement a decade ago. But the Communists have the consolation that, at the same time, the Paris results can solidify the ranks of the Communist world leadership.

New Brigitte Bardot

DIJON, France (AP)—There's a new Brigitte Bardot. Parents of a baby born early this month, Bernard Bardot, 26, and his wife Charlotte, insist their choice of the name Brigitte had nothing to do with the French film star. Moreover, they ruled out photographs, interviews and publicity beyond the public record of christening.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

Anticipating that the summit collapse would heighten the United States' defense outlay, some said Wednesday they believed a wide range of stocks would benefit.

Failure of the summit meeting sent the market into a whirlwind of activity Wednesday led by the so-called space age stocks—aircrafts, missiles and electronics.

"Increased defense spending would beef up the status of business," said Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co.

"When you spend more you help all lines of business—oils, steels, coppers, rails. The economy has been in a rut."

A. M. Kidder & Co. said resumption of the cold war "might strongly influence business outside of inventory curtailment.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. expressed the opinion that heavy buying on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday was in anticipation of increased defense spending.

But he said recent indications of a good business outlook was a factor in renewed optimism about stock market prospects.

Gilbert M. Kiggins of Hemphill, Noyes — Co. observed that, "Economic news from Washington last week was encouraging and the market absorbed the news of new international tensions in manly fashion."

He said that while some first-quarter earnings will undoubtedly be affected by bad weather, many good ones are expected. Confidence on the part of the general public is reflected in the high rate of consumer spending, he added.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Here's Skin Flattery For Forty

At twenty, a woman can be too hasty and impatient to spend much time and thought on preserving her naturally fine complexion. At thirty, still able to get by on minimum care, she can protest she's too busy.

But at forty, if she wants to retain or regain a youthful bloom, she'll have to work! No skipping, no excuses, no slapdash measures. Only the sternest self-discipline will keep her daily diet up to par. Only a steady day-by-day program of skin and hair care will bring rewards.

If she wants to be able to discipline herself without frantic prodding, the first thing she must learn to control is her REST! Just a little more — and better — sleep and relaxation can make an almost unbelievable difference in her appearance and in her attitude, especially toward herself. Here again, a well-balanced diet guarantees the B vitamins and other nutrients that keep nerves in balance, to make it easier for her to relax and to maintain self control and a good disposition.

Will good rest and good temper erase her lines and wrinkles? Yes . . . the UNBECOMING ones. And they will soften the more pleasant marks of maturity, those life-lines of personal expression that describe a human face rather than a blank mask.

Now, while she feeds and pampers her skin and hair internally, our Forty does all she can externally to improve their surface quality. With her natural hormone supply diminishing, dryness is her main problem. And moisture is her best answer. That means just her main problem. And moisture is her best answer. That means just one soap-and-water washing a day for the face, but lots of scrupulous cleansing with cream, combined with the replenishment and stimulation from toning lotions, moisturizing creams and facial masks. That means constant cream-conditioning for the hair, too.

Here is her chance to combine discipline with a little daring. Unless she has already styled herself with an ageless "trademark" in hair and makeup, she's probably tired of looking at a faded image. This is definitely the time for some audacious changes . . . new makeup blended especially for her, including tantalizing eye makeup . . . perhaps a radically-new coiffure in a ravishing new hair color.

A revolution like this doesn't compare with the self-conscious experimentation of teenagers, for all these new fashions in makeup, all these marvelous chemical miracles BELONG to a woman of forty. They were designed with her in mind. Why should she let herself shrivel into middle age as if it were the Middle Ages?

To convince herself . . . and to gain a little confidence in her own technique . . . she should treat herself to a professional consultation with a cosmetician and a hair stylist, at least ONCE.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: Last year my husband became acquainted with a fast-talking promoter. I was suspicious of the man from the start. He yakked a mile a minute and tried to impress us with how rich he was. My husband had to pick up the dinner check every time we went out because the big-shot never got around to cashing a check.

Against my advice my husband gave him $7,000 which was our life's savings. The fast-talker disappeared into thin air and my husband didn't have a single thing down on paper. His Memphis address turned out to be a phony.

This incident has made me very bitter. When I think of all the things I could have bought for myself and the children with $7,000 I burn.

I'm seriously considering putting our three children into foster homes and taking a course in practical nursing so I can earn my own living and tell him to go his own way.

When I told my husband of my plan he looked at the floor and said it wasn't fair to him or the kids. How fair was HE to do what he did? I need your advice.

—BURNT

DEAR BURNT: What price spite! Isn't it enough that the four-flusher fleeced you out of $7,000? Are you going to let him break up your family, too?

The money is gone. Now forget it. It was foolish of your husband to be taken in like a yokel at a county fair, but it's ancient history now. Stick by the guy. He really needs you now. Forget about a separation, foster homes and the rest of the nonsense. It's times like these that separate the women from the girls.

DEAR ANN: I'm 38, well-educated and have never been married. This letter may sound a bit preposterous but I am on the level and need help from an objective person who doesn't know me.

I've always been interested in languages. I enrolled last year in an adult education course. The teacher is a charming, cultured woman in her late 50s. We've grown very fond of each other and our personalities are perfectly attuned.

Could this marriage last? My friends say no. Surely a mature relationship would stand a better chance than these teen-age romances based on physical attraction. What do you say?

—MISTER X

DEAR MISTER X: Elle est trop vielle pour vous. Sie izt tsu alt fur sie. Es damasiado vieja para tu. Translated, Brother, she's too old for you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please answer in the paper. It would be embarrassing if my mother got hold of a letter from you and found out I had written about this subject.

I am a high school sophomore and have recently started to date. Every time I take a girl home after a date, her porch light is on.

Should I kiss her goodnight in the car, or under the porch light?

This is no joke. Your advice will be greatly appreciated.

—YOUNG AND IGNORANT

DEAR YOUNG AND IGNORANT: I cast my vote for the porch—and the light.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you read ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Two County Road Projects Under Way; Several More Repair Jobs Slated Next Year

The Allegany County Roads Department has under way two road surfacing projects in the eastern section of the county.

Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, said the projects come within the program decided upon by the county commissioners last year. In previous years the county roads unit made periodic repairs to roadways but the present county board decided this was a waste of county funds.

A plan for the hardsurfacing of as much mileage as possible each year was set up and last year more than six miles was hardsurfaced by county road workers.

The federal government pays for part of the hardsurfacing work while the county does the engineering, relocation, grading and ditching required. Under the program the county can do the work at a much lower cost than if it was contracted with a private concern.

Currently the County Roads Department is relocating, widening and "swamping out" a mile and a half section of the Bear Hill Road in the Oldtown area. After this work is completed the roadway will be hardsurfaced.

The hardsurfacing is the type which consists of six inches of crusher run stone and two applications of asphalt and stone chips.

The Bear Hill Road connects with the Town Creek Road and there is approximately a nine-mile section between the two roadways which needs to be hardsurfaced. In coming years it is hoped to complete the entire section and this will provide a route from Flintstone to the Oldtown area and cut off many miles when vehicles come from Flintstone to Cumberland and thence to Oldtown.

The second hardsurfacing project which the county is doing currently is located on the Little Orleans Road north of U. S. Route 40. There is a one-mile stretch to the Pennsylvania state line which will be completed this year. The roadway on the Pennsylvania side of the line has been hardsurfaced by that state.

Skelly said next year it is hoped to start on projects on the Rocky Gap Road, Town Creek Road, old Hancock Road and Oliver Beltz Road. These roadways will be included in the projects during the next two years, he added.

Skelly estimates the Bear Hill Road and Little Orleans Road projects will cost $50,000 per mile.

New Postal Plan Will Speed Mail Delivery Throughout Tri-State Area

Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties together with other counties in the tri-state section have been placed into the expanded Washington metropolitan postal area mail transportation and distribution plan and Cumberland Post Office has been designated as a sectional center.

M. C. Clarke, regional operations director of the Washington region of the Post Office Department, said this expansion of the postal area will provide next-day delivery of first-class mail for 500,000 people throughout the additional 22 county, 9,000-square-mile area in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Counties added to the D. C. distribution area are as follows:

Pennsylvania — Bedford, Fayette and Somerset.

The entire D. C. metropolitan area now covers 597 post offices located in 37 counties of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia which serve a population of 2,500,000 people and cover a district of 14,500 square miles.

This program for better first class mail service has been in test operation in the expanded portion of the D.C. area plan since February 29, Clarke said.

"I feel confident that postal patrons can be assured that, barring occasional human errors, first class letters mailed prior to 5 p. m. or at smaller offices, in time for final dispatch if made prior to 5 p. m., will be delivered to their destinations within the plan area on the first delivery trips of the following business days," he added.

Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon Sr. of Cumberland said locally the post office expanded its street letter box collections last October.

This means that mail is picked up from each box each evening and is in the post office by 6:30 p. m. so that the letters can be placed on the westbound Capitol Limited at 8:30 p. m. for Pittsburgh and points west, and on the Metropolitan at 7:45 p. m. for D.C. and points east.

Clark said these major improvements in first class mail service plan are the result of intensive study and planning. Personnel of the Washington postal region and of 597 post offices in the plan area have worked as a team to develop a comprehensive service program and put it into effect.

Next day delivery of most of the first class mail in the plan area is now possible because of a closely integrated time table which governs the work of the area's postal units and the transportation linking them together.

Postal employes work against time throughout the night in order to make possible next-day delivery of hundreds of thousands of letters to the 2,500,000 people residing in the region, Clarke declared.

The population of this area is growing rapidly and its postal service needs are becoming increasingly complex, the regional official said.

On the average day, approximately 1,300,000 pieces of first class mail are handled between the 597 area post offices ranging from the large first class ones to the small rural fourth class post offices.

The principal feature of the new plan involves the designation of certain strategically located post offices to act as collection and distribution centers for various sections of the area involved in the overall system.

Thus, much of this mail will be processed by the designated centers, thereby bypassing the congested areas and eliminating time-consuming travel, Clarke declared.

B&O Would Discontinue 'Diplomat'

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio railroad said yesterday it has asked permission to discontinue its "Diplomat" passenger trains between St. Louis and Baltimore because of financial losses due to declining passenger patronage on the runs.

The trains, Nos. 3 and 4, would be consolidated with Nos. 1 and 2, the National Limited.

The B&O said it had filed petitions for approval of the consolidation with state regulatory commissions in West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

The B&O said schedules of westbound train No. 1 and eastbound No. 2, the National Limited, differ only a few hours from the present schedules of the two trains to be discontinued. The National Limited would serve all stations now served by trains No. 3 and 4.

Savings from the proposed consolidation, the B&O said, will enable it to continue other trains between Baltimore and St. Louis.

Veteran B&O Employe Retires Soon In Wheeling

John J. Sell, who served a number of years with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here and at Keyser, will retire June 15 at Wheeling where he is superintendent of the Wheeling Division.

A number of local B&O employes will attend a testimonial dinner Saturday at 6:30 p. m. in honor of Sell at Figaretti's at Elm Grove near Wheeling.

Sell entered B&O service on July 13, 1917, at Connellsville as a brakeman. On November 11, 1918, he was made a stenographer at Cumberland. He subsequently held positions as labor distributor, material distributor, timekeeper, investigator and yardmaster.

On January 1, 1927, he was promoted to night general yardmaster at Cumberland and June 1, 1928, was advanced to assistant trainmaster at Keyser.

He was made general yardmaster at Keyser on September 1 1928, and general yardmaster at Cumberland on December 12, 1930.

Sell on August 1, 1936, moved to Parkersburg as terminal trainmaster and October 19, 1939, was made district supervisor of terminals at Willard, Ohio.

March 16, 1941, he was transferred to East Salamanca, N. Y., as trainmaster, and September 1, 1941 became terminal supervisor of the Buffalo-Rochester terminals.

Following his appointment March 20, 1942, as terminal superintendent at Philadelphia, he became supervisor of the New York terminal region on October 1, 1942. He has been superintendent of the Wheeling Division since December 1, 1945.

Sell and his wife have 11 children. Five of his sons are in B&O service. James E. Sell is terminal trainmaster at Fairmont; John L. Sell is assistant trainmaster at Philadelphia; Robert L. Sell is assistant trainmaster at Baltimore; Donald W. Sell is chief clerk to the trainmaster at Wheeling, and Thomas J. Sell is a road electrician working out of Grafton.

His two other sons are Richard Sell, terminal manager at Parkersburg for the Philadelphia-Wheeling and Kenneth A. Sell, a lieutenant junior grade in the Navy and an aviator aboard the Carrier Randolph in the Atlantic Fleet.

His four daughters are Mrs. Robert M. Garvey, Columbus, Ohio; Sister Francis DeSales, St. Joseph's Convent, Wheeling; Mrs. Victor W. Mason, Parkersburg, and Miss Ellen C. Sell, at home.

Elks Honor Two Youths

Two high school students were honored Wednesday by Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, for winning the local youth leadership competition sponsored by the lodge.

Miss Marlene Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Clark, RD 2, Baltimore Pike, and Eric Fable, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Kight, 817 Braddock Road, were awarded savings bonds.

A senior at Fort Hill High School, Miss Clark also won first place in the Maryland-Delaware-District of Columbia Elks Association contest and will vie for national honors. As such, she will be presented a $100 savings bond at the tri-area convention in August at Cambridge.

Miss Clark plans to enter college.

Fable, a senior at Allegany High School, placed second in the association contest. He was unable to attend last night's presentation but expressed appreciation for the honor through Joseph E. Mackert, esteemed loyal knight and chairman of the youth leadership committee.

Winners of the national competition are expected to be announced at a convention next month in Dallas, Texas, where the local ritualistic team will compete for top honors.

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICES

WILLIAM R. JONES

LONACONING — William Rell Jones, 61, a native of Lonaconing, died Wednesday in Aliquippa, Pa.

He was a son of the late Edward and Rose (Clark) Jones.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Julia (Walters) Jones; five sons, Francis, Leo and William R. Jones Jr., all of Aliquippa; Raymond Jones, with the Army in Oklahoma, and Robert Jones, with the Army in Indiana; four daughters, Mrs. George Beeman, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Charles Peters, Pontiac, Mich.; Mrs. Frank Stakem, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Kenneth Donaldson, Baltimore; two brothers, Leslie and James Jones, both of Lonaconing; two sisters, Mrs. Clinton Russell and Mrs. James Doyle, Lonaconing, and 10 grandchildren.

The body is at his residence on Roosevelt Avenue here. A requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church here by Rev. Thomas Fannon and interment will be in Sunset Memorial Park, Cumberland.

The rosary will be recited today at 8:15 p. m. at the residence.

JOHN W. LA RUE

John William LaRue, 90, of Finzel Road, Garrett County, died in Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—May wheat contracts expired on a widely irregular note Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Other grains were mixed.

In a flurry of last minute trading, the May wheat was carried down the 10-cent daily limit at the close. May rye, on the other hand, died with a gain of 2½ cents.

At the final bell, wheat was off 9⅛ to up ½; corn up ⅜ to 1⅛; oats off 1½ to up ⅛; rye unchanged to up 2½; soybeans off ⅛ to up ¾, and lard unchanged to up 3 points.

May wheat was the most erratic contract on the exchange Thursday. The contract dropped 2 cents in the first half-hour, recovered, fell off sharply at the close. Both longs and shorts were heavy sellers.

Deferred wheat futures were firm.

Corn prices were higher, with continued wet weather furnishing support. Commercial houses bought May, which commission and local traders sold. There were numerous orders to buy July at $1.21⅛.

Export subsidies were granted on 305,000 bushels of corn and 20,000 bushels of rye.

Oats were most steadily, with the May contract leading the decline. Longs sold the May. Cash houses bought May and sold July. Outside demand centered in the distant contracts.

Rye futures were irregular. Nearby contracts were strong.

Soybeans declined slightly under the influence of lower meals and selling by longs. Northwest brokers bought May and sold July. Oils and lards were about steady.

Exporters reported Poland and Israel bought hard wheat. France was in the market for soybeans.

Outside markets were mixed.

Pool Manager Is Reappointed

FROSTBURG—Ellsworth Filer has been reappointed by the Mayor and Council to manage the community swimming pool this year. He was delegated to choose life guards and other attendants.

Council also requested that strip mining operations on the property of Nathaniel Workman, Sand Spring, be closely observed and that the operator be advised not to disturb Shaw Street until water lines in that area have been checked. Members voted to advise Workman that a broader agreement will have to be reached concerning damage incurred as a result of the stripping operations.

Following approval of the semi-monthly payroll, council discussed the preliminary budget. The final budget will be submitted at the June meeting.

Ends lint problems - Wash clothes cleaner IN A MAYTAG Wringer WASHER WITH A LINT-FILTER AGITATOR

Now the famous Maytag Lint-Filter Agitator, previously found only in Maytag's finest automatic washer, is being made available in the Maytag Wringer Washer. The exclusive Lint-Filter Agitator removes lint from the wash water, dispenses soap or detergent, and improves Maytag's already superior washing action.

MAXIMUM LINT REMOVAL — Filter is in the new Filter-Agitator, under water where the lint is, provides constant filtration. Lint is filtered out as water circulates through agitator. No pans or trays to interfere with loading or unloading.

POSITIVE DETERGENT DISTRIBUTION — Detergent dispenser in agitator prevents discoloration and damage to fabrics from undissolved detergent. Pour detergent in agitator, circulating water dissolves it completely. Two cup capacity permits addition of water softener.

GREATER WASHING ACTION — Wash water circulated through the agitator is forced out specially designed channels in the bottom in swirling jet streams to amplify famous Maytag Agitator Action. Loosens even deep down dirt in seconds.

FUTURE FASHION EXPERTS

Main entrance to High School of Fashion Industries in New York.

The High School of Fashion Industries was made to order for the apparel manufacturers and merchandisers of New York City. It is the only school of its kind in the country..

The pupils are prepared for all kinds of jobs in the fashion industry — designing, merchandising, men's and women's clothing, shoe and fur manufacturing, textiles, and other allied fields. Along with their vocational and technical studies, the students receive a complete high school course in English, social studies, mathematics, science, health education and music. Their school day is longer than that of others, but they apply themselves diligently and seriously, and have no trouble landing a job at the end of the four years.

Approximately 325 boys and girls graduate each year. About 80 per cent go right into fashion industry jobs. The rest continue their education in colleges and technical institutions.

First started as a two-room "School House" in 1926, with 75 students and a staff of a principal and two teachers, the school grew fast. Today it occupies a ten-story building, with a student body of some 1800 teen-age boys and girls and a teaching staff of 114. It also has an evening school for adults.

"Our school has one of the closest industry relationships in the country," says the school's principal, Dr. Nathan Brown. "We get materials, machines, money for scholarships, and advice from the companies. All our graduates get jobs unless they want to go to college or get married."

Horatio Alger Type Hero

Bob Banner is a fine healthy upstanding example of young creative television manhood. Symbol of America and all that. Land of opportunity, you know. In fact, if they wrote the Horatio Alger stories all over, the hero would probably resemble Banner and the story line would follow his.

Banner is a six-foot Texan who was working in the theater department of Northwestern University in 1948 when television first began to stir. He wanted to have his own little niche at Northwestern in which he could be leading teacher. TV, he felt, was it.

"Being an aggressive guy, I asked if I might work part time at a station so I knew what I was teaching. Since Northwestern is a progressive school, they let me. And here I am."

Like so many of the best people in TV, Banner started in Chicago in part time work at WBKB. His first show was one of the trail blazers, "Garroway at Large." In those days you were a stage manager three days, an associate director three weeks, and then a director. Teaching at Northwestern was never like this. I remember one Christmas night. I'd barely got in the front door when the phone started ringing. Somebody wanted to interview me for a job in television which began at 9 o'clock the next morning. And you know, television has never changed. I've never known it to be different."

Because he got in very early, and because he's a very bright, talented fellow, and because he's got lots of push, and because he's lucky, he has done many many shows since Garroway's, including most of the top musical shows. He directed the Fred Waring show in 1950 and '51, the Metropolitan Opera in '52, "Omnibus" in 1953 and '54, the Dinah Shore shows from 1954 through 1956, including the old fifteen minute shows, "Wide Wide World," "Producers Showcase," and this last year, the Garry Moore shows.

Gradually, over the years, a Banner touch has become discernible in all his shows. Banner shows have class, a sort of richness in texture in their settings and costumes, a marvelous pace in their movement and a high exuberant style. Above all, the Banner show is strictly a television show; you couldn't transplant it anywhere else.

"I have always felt that people with any kind of background in show business could adapt to television. A good actor or actress should be good in any medium. For a while I thought Pay-TV was the answer to all of TV's problems. But then I saw 'Startime' on NBC. I had envisioned a show like 'Startime' as the ultimate for Pay-TV. Now, I'm not sure that's the cure-all. There's hardly anything we haven't already seen on free TV. On the specials you see the same people you saw on all the other specials doing the same routines and singing the same songs.

"I'm concerned about summer television programming. It seems to me this is the time to try out something new. Most people don't because it's easier to repeat. This summer, we're going to try a new show in the Garry Moore time slot. Who knows? If it's good, maybe next fall. It's a mystery show called 'DX: Unknown'—but the hero isn't a private eye or a cop but a doctor. I've always been a mystery fan. This one will not only have action and mystery but—we hope—great intelligence. I got intrigued by the idea when Leo Davis, a producer, told me about one of his friends who is a pathologist in the police department. It's called forensic medicine. It means the use of lab and medical techniques in a criminal area to aid in the solution of crime. A piece of lint from your coat can be traced to you. In the stories we do, we don't have one fingerprint. It's much more complicated."

Bob Banner Productions is a new company and Mr. Banner plans to include play production as well as TV production. For Broadway, he and his wife are working on a musical based on Giradoux's "The Apollo of Belac." For TV he wants to do original musicals, though the record of this genre so far has been disastrous. "They're considered precarious but it's an area that hasn't been touched."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Muscular model for physical culturists, actor Richard Harrison, will play the male lead in American-International's "Goliath and the Dragon." The movie starts in July in Italy and Harrison was chosen after he appeared in "Tall Story." He won the "Mr. Utah" award in 1958 and "Mr. Apollo" award in 1959 for physical perfection.

Jim Nicholson and Sam Arkoff, American — International heads, leave with their wives next month for a trip to the Far East where they'll also look up locations for the Jules Verne fantasy "Year 2889." Their trip will take them to Rome in July for the start of "Goliath and the Dragon."

The price offered Swedish beauty Anita Ekberg by Italian producer Ottavio Poggi is $87,000 to play "Nefretete," the drama of the virgin queen of the Nile. Poggi, who produced "Hannibal" with Vic Mature, and "Mary Magdalene," has been in town assembling a cast for his historical movie to be made in Rome. The Poggi offer is only one of many Anita has received.

Van Heflin was wanted for the male lead in this movie, but isn't free to accept. But Poggi has big backing for his Egyptian drama, so he'll look for another top star.

Not even Lana Turner's closest friends have talked with her since her daughter Cheryl's recent escapade. Lana has been living like a recluse in Palm Springs, but she has agreed to put in an appearance at the world premiere of "Portrait in Black" in Chicago June 23. She'll also make two weeks of personal appearances in principal cities with her picture.

But there's one thing she won't discuss, and that's Cheryl's unfortunate experience at the corrective school where she is confined. I wish there was some way to solve this problem for Cheryl, her mother, and her father Steve Crane.

Wait and see if Ronnie Burns doesn't qualify as one of our handsomest young leading men after he does his half-hour TV series on the Perry Como summer replacement.

Ronnie got rid of those silly sideburns; he's a good actor, and I am told the series is sure to be popular with young people throughout the country. Mickey Rooney has been engaged to direct one of the segments called "Happy's Holiday."

The other half of the Como replacement is a Western called "Tate."

Word from Kim Novak's bedside at Doctors Hospital in New York is that she's getting restless and wants to come home. Although her strep throat has responded to treatment, the yellow jaundice remains. But Kim's begging to leave the hospital over the weekend.

Dick Quine, who's in Hong Kong, has telephoned her several times and urged her to stay in bed until she's completely recovered. She has put her Bel-Air home on the market and the asking price is $155,000 (furnished, that is). A bachelor looked at it and when he saw the lavender den, remarked, "This has gotta go!"

One of Natalie Wood's and Bob Wagner's neighbors in their New York apartment is writer Bill Inge, author of "Splendor in the Grass," Natalie's movie. They were thrilled to meet him. When Natalie started work last week, Bob gave her a gold heart with "I Love You" engraved on one side, and the name of the character she plays on the other side.

I just heard that Elia Kazan, who's directing "Splendor" had telephoned Peggy Lee long distance to ask her to play a dramatic part in this movie. Since Peggy likes, more than anything, to go dramatic, she's seriously considering the offer.

Flower Planting Contest Planned For City Playlots

A flower planting contest for the city's 14 playgrounds is being sponsored by the Jayncees, according to Mrs. Edward F. Mullan Jr., chairman.

Details of the contest are being worked out with C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, and Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant director. Plans call for a flower club to be organized at each playground, Mrs. Mullen said, adding that the contest will start with the opening of the playot season and conclude with the judging of the playground plantings in August.

Arrangements are being made for the selection of the flowers which will be used in the contest to be available to the separate clubs. The flowers will be selected from those which will be in bloom by the end of July, Mrs. Mullan said.

The flowers are being selected by Mrs. George Henderson, former president of the Garden Club of Cumberland, although the colors to be used will be left to the discretion of the playground clubs.

Mrs. Mullen also said effort will be made to have the city flower, which is being selected under a project of the Garden Club, to be used in the playground contest.

Rules for the contest call for the flowers to be planted in a three-foot area in a design planned by the separate clubs. Judging will be on the basis of color and arrangement, and prizes will be awarded, Mrs. Mullan said.

Assisting in the contest are Mrs. Jack Murray, Mrs. Stanley Goodrich and Mrs. William Hill.

Air Violation Charged

CAIRO (UPI)—The United Arab Republic said Israeli planes violated U.A.R. air space Thursday when a plane carrying Premier Jawaharlal Nehru was flying from Cairo to Gaz.

A U.A.R. communique relesed in Gaza said three Israeli Mystere jet planes flew over Nehru's plane on the border of the Gaza sector and that two other Israeli jets passed overhead when Nehru's plane was landing.

Sterne Named Union Head

Ronald N. Sterne was elected president of Local 244, Cumberland Typographical Union in balloting conducted Wednesday.

He defeated the incumbent, Carl R. Weatherholt, in the only contested post in the election.

Others elected and unopposed are: W. P. Price, vice president; Donald R. Beynon, secretary-treasurer; John E. Miller, recording secretary; James W. Beynon, Journal correspondent; Cloid R. True, sergeant-at-arms; Price, True and Owen M. Williams, audit committee; Richard O. Bolden, B. E. DeBolt, Sterne, C. E. Stickley, and True, scale committee; Angelo Samson, Sterne and True, joint standing committee.

The election committee was composed of E. G. Bolden, R. W. Harkcom and W. R. Shaner.

Farm Board To Meet

The board of directors of the Allegany County Farm Bureau will meet next Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

County Easter Seal Sale Returns Reach $9,878

Final returns of $9,878.21 in the 1960 Easter Seal Sale campaign were announced yesterday by George A. Schwarzenbach, seal sale chairman and member of the executive committee of the Allegany County League For Crippled Children.

Proceeds from Easter Seals amounted to $8,258.20. Other returns were as follows: Celanese Fibers Company Charity Fund, $170; Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles Lily Parade, $700.43; Loyal Order of Moose 271 Lily Parade, $517.21; Frostburg Moose Lodge Lily Parade, $90.25; Lonaconing Veterans of Foreign Wars Lily Parade, $90.87; Times and Alleganian Company Employes Charity Fund, $120, and dime boards at Cumberland Knights of Columbus, Frostburg Elks and Frostburg American Legion, $51.25.

This year's campaign exceeded by $359.30 the $9,518.91 reported last year.

Proceeds from the seal sale campaign provide one-third of the league's annual income which is applied toward therapy and services for handicapped adults and children with the cooperation of local and state Health Departments.

Officers and the executive committee of the League joined in expressing their thanks and gratitude at public support of the seal sale campaign and commended volunteers who had assisted in making it a success.

Officers are Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, president; Sen. J. Glenn Beall, vice president; John H. Mosner, treasurer; J. William Hunt, secretary; Miss Henrietta Lippold, RN, executive secretary; Miss Schwarzenbach, chairman, Schwarzenbach, Mosner, Dr. W. Royce Hodges, Sen. Beall, John M. Robb, John J. McMullen, Judge Morgan C. Harris, G. William Bibby, William A. Gunter, William R. Carscaden and Hunt, members of the Executive Committee.

Headquarters for the League is in City Hall Plaza.

The robin, goldfinch and English sparrow are among the birds imported to the United States territory by white settlers.

Church Plans Daily School

The kindergarten division of the Daily Vacation Church School of LaVale Methodist Church will begin June 1 and continue through June 10 under the direction of Mrs. Robert C. Morris.

Classes will be conducted daily from 9:30 a. m. until noon. Kindergarten children four to six years of age will be included.

The course, "Together in Our Church," will be headed by Mrs. C. E. Burgess. Other teachers are Mrs. Charles Krimm, Mrs. Ivan Daniels and Mrs. Charles Alford. Assistant teachers are Mrs. Donald Marang, Mrs. Jack Gardner, Mrs. John Burkett, Mrs. Charles Long, Mrs. William Helmick and Mrs. Morris.

Others participating in the program are Mrs. Bruce Long III, registrar, Rev. James E. Perry and Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Harold Green, organist, Mrs Paul Stair, refreshments, and Mrs. Floyd V. Cozad, transportation.

Parents will assist with transportation, refreshments and interest centers. The final sharing service for parents and friends will be held Friday, June 10.

High Tax Rates And Inflation

As if the grocery bill and allied prices weren't sufficient reminder, there's now testimony to inflation rising on the West Coast. It is a building whose steel skeleton was shipped from Great Britain and still undersold an American steel plant that can be seen from its upper floors.

The European steel mills are not alone in the competition for the American market. Japanese steelmakers can buy American scrap, transport it to Japan for processing, bring it back as finished steel and still price it lower than American steel.

This is what inflation is doing to the nation's key industry. Roger Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel Corporation, the country's biggest steelmaker, gives the major cause as the high wages paid American steelworkers, who get from three to seven times more money than foreign labor.

Mr. Blough might have pursued the subject of inflation beyond the confines of his own business, but perhaps he prefers not to take on the U. S. government at the moment. There, high taxes are somehow thought to be anti-inflationary, and it is true that money siphoned off as taxes does temporarily curtail the public's buying power.

But government spends as it taxes and public spending is no substitution for private investment and private spending. As Joel Barlow, lawyer and tax expert, told the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Washington, the end result of high tax rates is inflationary.

More On Spies

Continuing tales of Soviet espionage in this country, here is the story of Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, one of the most competent spies Soviet Russia sent to this country.

On May 6, 1957, Reino Hayhanen, a Soviet national, revealed he had been operating as a Soviet agent in the United States. He stated he received extensive training in this assignment by Russia. He was given the identity of Eugene Maki, an American citizen, who left the Untied States as an infant with his parents to live in Estonia. Hayhanen obtained an American passport in Helsinki, Finland, using a copy of Maki's birth certificate. On October 21, 1952, Hayhanen arrived in the United States aboard the "Queen Mary" as "Eugene Maki," American citizen.

Hayhanen knew his associates in the U.S. only by their nicknames or cover names. Through intensive investigation, the FBI established identity of his first espionage principal as Mikhail Svirin, a Soviet citizen connected with the United Nations, who left the U.S. in October, 1956.

His next principal was known to Hayhanen as "Mark," a colonel in the Soviet Intelligence Service who had been in espionage work for 30 years. "Mark" had entered the U.S. illegally through Canada and had as a cover a photographic studio located somewhere in downtown Brooklyn, New York.

Through investigation the FBI located this studio in a building at 252 Fulton Street, Brooklyn. It was rented to an individual using the name Emil R. Goldfus. Through an observation plant set up in the vicinity, FBI Agents spotted "Mark" in the studio on June 13, 1957, and thereafter determined he was staying at the Latham Hotel where he had been registered since May 18, 1957, under the name of Martin Collins of Daytona Beach, Florida.

On June 21, 1957, through arrangements the FBI made with the Immigration and Naturalization Service, "Mark" was taken into custody at his hotel room on an alien warrant charging him with illegal entry into the U.S. and failure to register as an alien.

"Mark" had in his possession a short-wave radio, birth certificates of Goldfus, who died in infancy, and Collins, which was a forgery, and photographic equipment. He had $6,000 in cash and 18 frames of microfilms, containing a schedule of Moscow radio broadcasts, which was found in a small hollowed-out pencil. He also had keys to a safe deposit box, which, when opened through court order, revealed $15,000 in cash.

"Mark" admitted he was a Soviet citizen, true name Rudolf Ivanovich Abel. He said he entered the U.S. in November, 1948, using an American passport in the name of Andrew Kayotis. FBI investigation disclosed that Kayotis, a resident of Detroit, Michigan, was issued an American passport in 1947 for travel to Europe. Kayotis left the United States for Europe in September, 1947, and has never returned.

To minimize personal contact and consequent danger of compromise, a system of widely separated "dead drops" or "banks" was established throughout the Metropolitan area of New York. It was in this manner that Mayhanen contacted Abel. These drops were located in parks, theaters, bars and other public places. Messages were left at particular spots—benches, lamp posts, fences—in these various locations. Often the messages were secreted in hollowed-out objects, such as bolts, pencils, nickels.

Abel was indicted on August 7, 1957, by a Federal Grand Jury in the Eastern District of New York on two counts charging espionage conspiracy and one count charging he acted as a Soviet agent without prior notification to the Secretary of State. He was tried and convicted on all counts. On November 15, 1957, he was sentenced to 30 years on the first count; 10 years on the second count; and 5 years on the third count to run concurrently and fined $2,000 on the second count and $1,000 on the third count to run consecutively. His conviction was confirmed by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. On March 28, 1960, his conviction was affirmed by a 5 to 4 decision in the U.S. Supreme Court.

It is not to be presumed that when Abel was caught and imprisoned, his work stopped. His activities were too important. He was a technical spy, highly-trained, perfectly equipped. Such an enterprise is always duplicated. Not always is it sound to arrest a spy. Often it is good practice to let him go ahead in the hope of catching his American informants.

Khrushchev's Game And The Fear Of War

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Is the world face to face with another Hitler? Will the next few months see another set of appeasement maneuvers in the West such as began at Munich in 1938?

These are strange questions to be asking, but no less strange than a Reuthers news dispatch from London which read as follows:

"The threatened breakdown of the Paris 'summit' talks tonight stirred a world-wide wave of pessimism and talk of war.

"'Will there be war?' people in Paris were asking, echoing the anxious words of others elsewhere . . .

"Some West German newspapers said Khrushchev's conduct brought back grim memories of Hitler and 'the period of surprises' with which the Nazi dictator opened what one paper called 'the most terrible period of history.' Another compared Khrushchev to 'Stalin in his best days' while a West Berlin daily said the Kremlin leader 'plays poker with peace.'"

Thus does a world in jitters speculate as it sees again what damage a one-man dictatorship can do.

But, just as at Munich a firm hand might have checkmated Hitler, so today a firm hand can checkmate a Khrushchev. While talking arrogantly and threateningly, the Soviet dictator knows that if there are no conferences to relieve tension and no progress toward agreements on outstanding issues, the people of Russia will also get jittery. They could oust Khrushchev for fear he might plunge them into a nuclear war.

Outwardly, therefore, things look grim but, actually, there are signs that Khrushchev is playing a game. He is blunt, defiant, outspoken, but he is also canny. He will discover that the Western Alliance cannot be divided, and he will learn, too, that Americans will rally behind their President despite the minority of short-sighted politicians here who show signs of trying to get some political mileage out of an insinuation that President Eisenhower is somehow to blame for the torpedoing of the "summit" conference.

The Soviet leader cannot pose as a peacemaker and then suddenly be revealed as a maker of war. The reaction of the West indicates an apprehension that he may overplay his hand and that his arbitrary tactics someday will force a war.

The texts of the various communications indicate that the Soviet Premier is almost childlike in his defensiveness. Once President Eisenhower refused to go to a "summit" conference because Mr. Khrushchev threatened the West with an ultimatum. So today the Soviet Premier says he, too, can refuse to go, under the duress of the spy-plane incident.

But, as any student of diplomatic history would tell Mr. Khrushchev, it's all right to make demands and to bluff, but it's also wise to leave a way out for the other side. Thus, he could have construed President Eisenhower's decision to suspend the reconnaissance flights as a point that he had won. But Mr. Khrushchev wasn't satisfied and—like Hitler—has demanded the humiliation of his adversary. This can only lead eventually to a break in diplomatic relations and constant talk of war — something that will arouse the people of the Soviet Union even more quickly than the peoples of the West. For the Rusisans have memories of many millions of their countrymen who died in the last war.

There could be a revolution inside the Soviet Union if tension increases and war threatens. Since the "satellite" nations behind the Iron Curtain would be in the path of a war, they, too, must inevitably rise up to protest. They would surely join any revolt that breaks out.

Mr. Khrushchev, moreover, has unwittingly opened up the whole question of who should rule in his own country. For he has, in effect, told the world that he wants to postpone any serious negotiations till after the Presidential elections in the United States next November, when he hopes the kind of administration will be elected with which he can do business. If he is trying to choose a President for the United States by throwing his propaganda support to an opposition party, then it might be asked whether it isn't fair play also to let the Americans have something to say about who is to rule Russia.

There ought to be some way to propose reciprocity to the Soviet leader—a free election for Russia in November, with a slate of opposition candidates, in exchange for a moratorium on spy flights or even on some nuclear tests. An announcement that such elections would be held could do more to bring peace in the world than a hundred "summit" conferences. Unfortunately, such elections cannot be held till the people of the Soviet Union have recovered possession of their own government.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ELECTRIFICATION — Twenty-five years ago, with a characteristic jaunty smile and a typical wisecrack, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed his famous Executive Order 7037. The order created the Rural Electrification Administration, one of the most far-reaching of all New Deal social reforms.

FDR affixed his signature to many epochal pieces of legislation, but perhaps none has had more vast impact than creation of the REA. It has literally changed the face of America.

When the governmental lending agency was created, only 11 per cent of America's farms had electricity. Today, that figure has soared to over 97 per cent, according to REA officials.

America leads the world in electrified farms. Over 17 million rural persons now have electricity and the high output of America's farms represents our greatest advantage over Russia in the cold war.

American rockets may sputter while Russian ICBMs roar, but an overlooked but comforting fact is that poor Soviet farm production limits any extended Russian adventures. Soviet farms, lacking labor-saving machinery, and particularly electricity, have lagged far, far behind in production goals.

It takes 50 per cent of all Soviet citizens—nearly 90 million persons—to barely produce enough food to feed the Soviet empire. And an army, as Napoleon so aptly put it, still "travels on its stomach."

America, on the other hand, has about 15 million persons working in agriculture—less than 10 per cent of our citizens—and we produce vast food surpluses!

A sizable amount of the credit for this belongs to the REA.

According to Dr. Paul Nelson, staff economist of NRECA, the rural users of electricity (farms use far more electricity than the average home) will spend far more than $1 billion during 1960 for appliances. Most popular is the food freezer. Rural folk will buy 760,200 of them this year.

A mountain of 558,000 electric ranges, 302,400 electric blankets, 579,800 dryers—and a whole flock of skyrocketing purchases will be made. This, REA supporters declare, helps give the whole economy a shot in the arm.

There's no question about it—FDR really started something!

By Drew Pearson

PARIS—One difficulty of President Eisenhower in Paris was that he came to the so-called summit conference unprepared, and kept revising his proposals until the last minute. Nikita Khrushchev, on the other hand, had worked out his strategy before leaving Moscow and never deviated from it. He kept Eisenhower off balance.

For instance, the President came to Paris with a dossier of cases where the Soviets had been spying on the United States, but his staff debated a long time whether to release them.

Last week, in Berlin, I proposed to Gen. Ralph Osbourne, commander of U. S. forces, to release data on scores of cases of Communist spying on American troops in Berlin. He looked horrified. However, from my own files plus other confidential sources, here are many significant cases of Soviet espionage—some of which changed history.

Canadian Spy Ring—When the story of the spy ring operating from the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa was revealed in this column in February 1946, it had almost exactly the same repercussions—in reverse—as the recent U-2 flight over Russia. I was deluged with critical mail claiming I was disrupting Soviet-American friendship which then, immediately after the war, was strong. However, the trials held subsequently in Canadian courts showed how extensive Soviet espionage was, and that it was responsible for stealing our atom-bomb secret. Dr. Allen Munn, a British scientist; Fred Rose, a member of the Canadian Parliament, and a dozen others were convicted.

U. S. Tolerance

Incidentally, the United States showed its tolerance later by permitting Georgi Zourubin, Russian Minister to Ottawa during the espionage crisis, to come to Washington as Russian Ambassador.

Elizabeth Bentley — Another espionage case revealed in this column Sept. 7, 1947, was the theft of blueprints of the B-29, our most valuable wartime bomber which were delivered to Jacob Galos, top Soviet spy in the United States at the time, by his mistress, Elizabeth Bentley.

Judith Coplon — This pretty clerk in the U. S. Justice Department was another amateur who fell for Soviet love, not money, as so frequently happens. She became enamored of Valentin Gubitchev, Soviet attache at the United Nations in New York, and got caught giving U. S. secrets to her Russian lover.

Margarethe Pfeiffer — A big, blonde Czechoslovak girl graduated from a Communist spy school in Thuringia where the girls who have been arrested for prostitution can be trained as spies in lieu of a jail sentence. She tried to persuade Pvt. Robert Eicher of the U. S. Army to give her American tank secrets in return for her love. Instead, he tipped off the American Army and she got four years in jail.

Ingrid Jonek—Another graduate of the Soviet spy school who was more successful. She enticed Pvt. Robert Blevins of Omaha to desert the U. S. Army and go behind the Iron Curtain. He finally was arrested in her home and court-martialed.

Doubled In Love

Irmgard Margaret Schmidt — Another Berlin spy who succeeded in getting battle plans for the defense of Berlin which she sold to the Russians for $375. She managed this by using her brunette beauty on an Air Force colonel and an American intelligence civilian. Both fell in love with Irmgard with neither knowing about the other. She got five years.

Gertrud Mitenentzwei — A stenographer employed by the U. S. Military Government in Bavaria, was caught stealing military documents. She claimed she was driven to spying by Russian threats. She was sentenced to two years in jail.

Edith Dietrich — Convicted of spying in Munich because of her love for a Czech officer who headed a spy ring. With her were convicted Capt. Ivan Janda, Maria Hablick and Robert Kruse.

Kim Soo Beheaded

Kim Soo—The most successful and amazing spy in recent years was a beautiful Korean girl who became the mistress of an American colonel, a senior military adviser to the Korean Army. It was probably because of information she transmitted to the Communists that the Korean War started. Though married to a top North Korean Communist, Lee Kang Kook, she lived in the home of Col. John E. Baird and even hid her Communist husband in the colonel's home on one occasion. Military information passing through the colonel's hands was that the United States would not defend Korea in case of a Communist attack and this information, transmitted by Kim Soo to the Reds, helped to inspire their attack. Later she was tried and beheaded.

These are only a few cases of Soviet espionage. Others included those by Konslantic Pavlovich Ekimon, secretary of the Russian delegation at the United Nations, who was deported in 1956; Col. Ivan Babchikov, an assistant military attache in Washington who was forced to leave the U. S. in 1956; Vassili Zubilin, caught trying to get atomic information at the University of California laboratory in 1957.

There is also testimony by some top Soviet spies who have defected, including Col. Siegfried Dombrowski who revealed that there are 60,000 agents in the Russian spy organization.

Note—When international espionage was mentioned at the first abortive session of the summit conference here, Khrushchev put his arms above his head and said: "As God is my witness, my hands are clean and my soul is pure."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Now and then, it is important that the columnist be taken down a peg. The nature of his work is such that he is always meeting friendly liars who say: "I read your stuff every day." He gets letters from college students who want to use him as a basis for a thesis. He meets policemen who forgive him his transgressions because he is a columnist.

Hotel managers insist that he take the best suite. Some even send free booze and flowers. School girls ask him for his autograph. The publicity hounds bestow awards on him. He makes halting speeches in which he pontificates about world affairs. Women coo at him and he begins to think of his receding hair line and poached eyes as attractive.

At home, his family has been trained to walk and speak on tiptoe when the maestro is at his typewriter, or has just finished reading a letter which opens: "You stupid ox!" These are the moments of the black mood and it requires tact to avoid the columnist until his persecution complex wears off.

He needs a leavening influence now and then. He needs something to remind him that, after all, he is just an overpaid rewrite man. These reminders have, at various times, caught me flush on the chin. They are never easy to take and cannot be covered by a Band-Aid. I don't know about the fortunes of others who write newspaper columns, but the come-uppances have hit me many times and, each time, I have found it necessary to vulcanize the ego before reinflating it.

My father reads more columnists than any man I know. Sometimes a column touches him and he mails it to me with a notation saying: "This is a good one. Read it and let me know what you think. Dad." It is never my column, of course.

Gayle is close to 17 years of age, and now reads the newspapers eagerly. Sometimes, when she is reading the page on which my stuff appears, I hang around a little, paring my nails and trying to appear disinterested. If she laughs heartily, my hopes soar. "You have to read this one, Bubble," she says. (Bubble is her new friendly name for me). "Considine is a riot."

Sometimes I write about my older daughter Ginny and her babies and, when I go to dinner at her house, I say: "Did you and Charlie see the piece about the twins?"

The answer is: "Frankly, we've been so busy trying to get the backyard straightened out that we haven't had time."

This is not a complaint. The columnist—particularly this one—needs a shaking now and then. The toughest one I ever took was from my mother when I finished a book called "The Day Lincoln Was Shot." She said: "What do you say, son? If this one doesn't sell do you think you'll go out and look for a job?"

I needed her approval so desperately that I wrote another book called "The Day Christ Died," and dedicated it to her. But while the book was being written, my mother was stricken blind and, of course, could not read it. I was 45 years of age when she asked me to go to the store for her. She gave me a note and some money: "Just give them to the man," she said. "He'll give you the groceries and the change."

None of these are calculated to make a man feel bright. Not long ago, I asked a scholarly clergyman to read something I had written about the birth of Christ. He wrote back: "It's an interesting piece of work, but I keep getting the impression that you have not read Luke."

The most subtle of the knife wounds occurred a short time ago in Miami Beach. I was making the rounds of the gay spots with Carl Erbe and a party of friends. Some of the big stage acts introduced me from the audience and I felt important as I stood and took a bow to the applause of people who were mumbling: "Who he?"

Later, Carl said we couldn't call it an evening without stopping in at Fu Manchu's. I told him I wasn't much of a fan of Chinese food. Makes no difference, he said, the manager is a fan of yours.

We went. As we walked into the place, I noticed that every chair in the place had the name of a noted person painted on the back. My childish eyes scanned all the chairs quickly. There it was, over in a corner. My name was on the back of it.

I led the group. At the table, I reached to pull out the chair with my name on it. "Careful," the manager said, "the paint is wet." . . .

Readers' Advice On Diabetes And Old Age

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A 12-year-old girl objected to my statement that the mother of a diabetic faces a problem in preparing special meals for the affected child.

"Sir, you are very wrong. I eat the same as the rest of my family except that my portions are weighed. In a previous article you wrote that most diabetics can live a normal and happy life. I want you to know that all can live a normal and happy life. I got diabetes 6½ months ago and this is the best year of my life so far. Please stop making diabetes sound like such an awful disease, because it is not."

This girl knows her diabetes and never will allow the condition to become a handicap. If the American Diabetes Association is looking for a Miss Diabetes for 1960, my I suggest they look up Jane, at Woonsocket, R. I.

Many letters speak for themselves. S. S. R. writes: "In my own case, and observing others, I know that the general attitude toward aging people often does more harm than good. My own family, who has watched me deteriorate from a virile and active person to a so-called sedentary individual, completely fails to understand that it is not lack of desire and enthusiasm for living that prohibits me from engaging in activity.

"A walk to the mailbox or a trip to the basement results in a thumping heart, gasping breath, and almost complete physical exhaustion. This goes on day after day. I have a burning desire to see my roses, fruit trees, and flowers bloom and bear but am completely unable to accomplish the things I would like so much to do. Not all aged are sedentary by choice but some have inactivity forced upon them."

Those who object to the taste of glue in licking stamps will profit from the following suggestion, sent in by an 82-year-old man: "Moisten the envelope with the tongue and then press on the stamp." The alternative is to use a moist sponge or washcloth.

TOMORROW: More on TV.

SENSITIVE TO MONEY

M. S. writes: Can a person be allergic to money? Since working at my present job, handling money, my face and hands have broken out and my fingertips have split open.

REPLY

What—no itch? Allergy is possible but skin tests would be needed to determine the exact cause. Perhaps it might be easier to change jobs, more so if you cannot wear gloves or use a silicone ointment to protect the skin.

KEEP ACTIVE

Mrs. G. writes: How long before delivery can a woman exercise without endangering her child?

REPLY

Until she is ready to climb on the delivery table. I assume you refer to mild exercises such as walking and that there are no complications like phlebitis or toxemia.

CORRECTING LOP EARS

L. P. R. writes: Are there specialists for protruding ears or can an ordinary surgeon flatten them towards the head?

REPLY

This is a job for the plastic surgeon. An incision is made behind the ear, the cartilaginous support of the ear is opened, and the structures are repositioned or reconstructed.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A successful author has one worry that readers seldom stop to consider: what does he do when a man pops out of nowhere with exactly the same name he has invented for a character in his new novel? His plight is particularly embarrassing if the character is a scoundrel.

Mark Twain once selected a name for one of his villians he believed to be utterly safe. It was "Colonel Horace P. Whimplefeather." The day after the story appeared a very much alive, very angry character named Horace P. Whimplefeather burst into Twain's office with a horsewhip and chased the author down the street, challenging him to a duel!

"My wooden leg has been giving me a lot of pain lately," sighed a famous writer at the Overseas Press Club. "How could a wooden leg give you pain?" asked Norman Cousins. "It's my wife's fault," the writer explained. "She hit me over the head with it."

Easy Dinner-In-A-Dish In Just Thirty Minutes

"There are four important things in life," pronounced Madame de Montespan, the high-living friend of the French King Louis XIV. "One of them is dinner — and I forget the other three."

Dinner is important, too, to every member of the modern American family. It's the hour when the whole family is gathered together. Nutritionally, it's usually the biggest meal of the day. From the cook's point of view, dinner should be easy to prepare as well as good to eat. The times are past when the homemaker spent her day in the kitchen.

Here are two evaporated milk recipes for dinner-in-a-dish. Both are quickies — they take only thirty minutes from start to finish. One features ground beef with canned peas, corn, and potato sticks. The other is a tuna and rice combination made colorful with green beans and pimientos.

Tuna-Fetti Casserole

2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna
1 medium onion, sliced
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup evaporated milk
1 can (1 pound) cut green beans
1⅓ cups packaged precooked rice
1 can (4 ounces) pimiento, diced

Drain oil from tuna into 10-inch skillet. Add onion and cook until crisp-tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add evaporated milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Drain liquid from beans; reserve ½ cup. Add beans and tuna to skillet. Push mixture to sides of pan. Place rice in center. Pour reserved bean liquid over rice. Add pimiento and stir gently. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes. Fluff rice with fork before serving. YIELD: 4 servings.

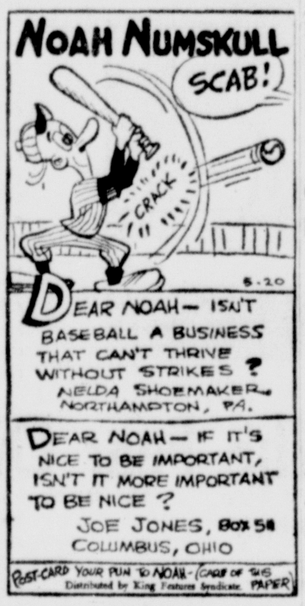
Jack Straw Casserole

1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 medium onion, sliced
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 can (1 pound) peas
1 can (1 pound) whole kernel corn
1 can (2¼ ounces) potato sticks

Sprinkle beef with salt and pepper. Toss gently with fork to distribute seasonings. Brown beef and onion in 10-inch skillet, breaking up with fork. Blend in flour. Stir in evaporated milk and Worcestershire sauce. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Drain liquid from peas and corn, reserving ½ cup. Add vegetables and reserved liquid to mixture in skillet. Top with potato sticks. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes. YIELD: 4 servings.

WIFE PRESERVERS

An occasional treatment with petroleum jelly will help prevent cracking in patent leather.



Martha's Company Casserole

Mrs. Maryland

8 ozs. uncooked noodles
1 lb. ground beef
1 tablespoon fat
2 cans (8 ozs. each) tomato sauce
½ lb. cottage cheese
1 package (8 ozs.) cream cheese
¼ cup commercial sour cream
1/3 cup minced scallions
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
2 tablespoons melted butter

Cook noodles as directed on package and drain. Saute ground meat in hot fat in a large skillet and stir in tomato sauce. Combine cottage cheese, cream cheese, sour cream, scallions and green pepper. Put half the noodles in a buttered 3-quart casserole, cover with cheese mixture and top with remaining noodles. Drizzle butter over noodles and spoon on tomato-meat sauce. Refrigerate until about an hour before serving time, then bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 45 to 50 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Colonial Innkeeper's Pecan Pie

3 eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup melted butter
1 cup pecan halves
1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell

Beat eggs, add sugar, salt and vanilla. Mix well, then stir in syrup and butter. Spread pecans on pie shell and pour in filling. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Do not over-bake.

A Handful Of Snack Ideas

Here are a handful of ideas for new snack and dessert ways to serve yogurt. You'll think of dozens more yourself.

TROPICANA — Orange yogurt combined with sliced bananas.

STRAWBERRY SHORTBREAD —Strawberry yogurt eaten with or spooned over packaged shortbread cookies.

Asparagus Anatolia

2 pounds of asparagus (about 40 stalks)
1 teaspoon of salt
Sauce:
3 six-section saltines
½ cup of chopped or whole walnuts
salt and pepper to taste
1 cup of chicken stock
paprika for garnish

Trim asparagus and cook in boiling salted water until tender. To prepare Anatolia sauce, dip saltines in water and crumble. Combine with walnuts and then grind or chop very, very fine. Add chicken stock and blend over low heat, seasoning to taste. Spoon sauce over drained, cooked asparagus and garnish with walnuts and paprika. Yield: one generous cup of sauce for six to eight generous servings.

One-half cup of tomato juice supplies about one-fourth of the daily allowance of vitamin C.

Rosy Apple-Cherry Mold With Custard

Apple-Cherry Mold offers the fruitiness of cherry and apple, a sharp little tang most refreshing. It is also rosy and pretty to serve.

The mold is tender jellied sponge with canned applesauce and whipped egg white frothed into it, and a generous scattering of cherry snips and macaroon crumbles that settle here and there throughout.

So bright and giddy a dessert could be proudly served to guests. But once that is said, the vote still swings to it as first a treat for the family table . . . a dessert to send the members on their way blissfully content. (And with much praise for You-Know-Whom as the good fairy who produced it.)

There's no last minute hurry-flurry about this dessert either. Just make it early in the day at your leisure, and let it rest and chill in the refrigerator until serving time.

Apple-Cherry Mold With Custard

- 1 pkg. cherry flavored gelatin
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 cup canned apple sauce
- 1 egg white
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup macaroons, broken into large pieces
- 2 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries for garnish
- *Custard Sauce

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add apple sauce. Chill over ice water until slightly thickened. Beat egg white until barely stiff, gradually add sugar, beating constantly until very stiff; fold into gelatin mixture, fold in macaroon pieces and cherries. Pour into mold; chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with whole maraschino cherries. Serve with custard sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Custard Sauce

- 1 pkg. instant vanilla pudding
- 1¾ cups milk
- ½ cup heavy cream
- ½ teaspoon almond extract

French Apple Torte

- ¼ lb. butter or margarine
- ⅔ cup sugar
- 1 egg yolk
- Dash of salt
- Drop of vanilla extract
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 cup applesauce
- 3 medium apples, pared and sliced wafer thin

Cream butter and gradually add sugar, egg yolk, salt and vanilla. Into this mixture slowly blend flour until a soft ball is formed. Place dough in a 9-inch pie plate and shape into a shell; flute edges. Spread applesauce evenly in shell. Arrange apple slices in applesauce with rounded edges up, starting at outer edge and working in a circle toward center. When completed, this looks like a rosette. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Serve cold.

Cream Rice Whip

- 1 cup heavy cream
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 cup cooked rice
- 1 can small manderines (orange sections) diced

Whip cream until stiff, fold in sugar. Fold rice and fruit in lightly. Chill and serve in individual dishes. Garnish with nuts, cherries or toasted coconut. Makes 6 servings.

Banana Nut Cake

- 1⅞ cups sifted flour
- 1¼ cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup shortening (half butter)
- ½ cup buttermilk or sour milk
- 1 cup mashed bananas
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup chopped pecans or walnuts

Grease and flour 2 eight-inch layer pans. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Add shortening, ¼ cup of the buttermilk and mashed bananas. Beat 2 minutes in electric mixer at medium speed or 4 minutes by hand. Add remaining ¼ cup buttermilk and eggs; beat 2 minutes more. Fold in nuts and pour into prepared pans. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Frost with a fluffy white frosting or a lemon flavored butter frosting. This cake is also delicious served unfrosted but topped with a scoop of ice cream.

Novel Two-Way Dessert Made With Baby Food

In the U. S. alone there's a new mouth to feed every seven seconds — and makers of baby foods, hard pressed to keep up with this happy parade, are putting out more than 100 different varieties of morsels to tempt the little palates.

With such an array, it's inevitable that some of these baby food jars find their way into adult recipes. And small wonder, for baby foods are quick, easy and tasty . . . especially when used in grown-up desserts.

Here's a two-way recipe for Baby Tarts, or Three Ring pie — depending on whether you want to make it on a harassed weekday or more leisurely weekend. The weekday version suggests the use of a ready-mix pastry dough and quickly-made variety fillings for individual tarts. On week ends, when you have time for something more elaborate, you can make your own crust — fashioned in three rings. This gives you three different fillings in the same slice of dessert!

Either way, the use of baby food fruits and puddings makes this something unusual — a tasty way to mark the observance of National Baby Week.

Baby Tarts

Crust:

Use your favorite ready-mix dough. Roll out on lightly floured board and cut dough in 4" circles and press around inverted custard cups. Bake individual shells in hot 400° oven 6 to 8 minutes. Cool.

Fillings:

- 2 large jars pureed baby food apricot and apples (junior size)
- 1 cup crushed pineapple with juice
- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ½ cup water
- 1 egg white
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- dash of salt

In a saucepan combine fruits, sugar and salt; simmer a few minutes. Dissolve cornstarch in water and stir into fruit mixture. Cook and stir over low-moderate heat until mixture smooths and thickens. Beat egg white stiff with remaining tablespoon sugar. Fold cooled fruit mixture and beaten egg white together. Turn into baked shell; chill until firm. Serve plain or with whipped cream or topping. Makes 6 servings.

Vanilla, chocolate or banana baby food pudding or the baby food pears and apricot combination may be used.

Three-Ring Pie

Crust:

- 1 cup flour
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 1 egg yolk
- ½ cup soft butter or margarine
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Combine all ingredients and mix well with hands or pastry blender. Wrap and chill. Roll out dough on lightly floured board to fit 8" or 9" pie pan. Roll out leftover dough and cut into long strips one inch wide. Form 3" circle in center of pie pan, supporting ring with foil. From another ring 6" wide and support with foil. Bake shell in hot 400° oven about 10 minutes. Cool.

Fillings:

Use any of the above.

Carver's Suggestion

For the man in the house: remember to allow a roast to set 10 to 20 minutes before carving. A sharp knife is a must and be sure to place the roast on a heated platter and serve on pre-heated plates.

Baked Asparagus Omelet Milanese

- 1-½ pounds of asparagus, (about 30 stalks)
- 2 tablespoons of olive or other cooking oil
- ⅓ cup of finely chopped green pepper
- 1-½ teaspoon of salt
- pinch of oregano
- 4 eggs
- ¼ cup of light cream or undiluted evaporated milk

Wash asparagus and trim off rough ends, then slice crosswise into ¼ inch pieces. Heat oil in deep skillet, adding pepper, seasonings and asparagus. Cover and cook over low heat until barely tender, stirring from time to time. Spread asparagus in greased ovenware casserole, about one-quart size. Beat eggs slightly and add cream. Pour over asparagus. Place casserole in a pan of hot water and bake in a 350 degree oevn for about 25 minutes or until firm. Yield: four to five servings.

Rice Custard

- 2 eggs
- ½ cup sugar
- 1½ cups hot milk
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- ¼ teaspoon grated nutmeg
- 2 cups steamed rice
- 6 peach halves

Beat eggs; add sugar, hot milk, salt, grated lemon rind and nutmeg. Pour over rice. In bottom of individual custard cups, place a peach half and rice mixture. Set cups in pan of warm water. Bake at 325 degrees F. for one hour. Cool and unmold custard. Makes 6 servings.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

An Unusual Chicken Dish

Chicken can be prepared in many ways that lift it from a humdrum dish to an enchanting taste treat. The recipe for this oven crisp chicken comes from a hostess on Philadelphia's main line who often serves it as a company dish. The recipe features sour cream and prepared herb-seasoned stuffing.

Oven Crisp Chicken

- ½ pint sour cream
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon celery salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- ½ teaspoon garlic salt
- ½ teaspoon salt
- dash pepper
- 2½ to 3 lb. frying chicken, cut up
- 1 package of prepared herb-seasoned stuffing, rolled with rolling pin to fine crumbs
- Melted butter

Mix together sour cream, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, celery salt, paprika, garlic salt, salt and pepper. Dip chicken pieces in this mixture; roll in stuffing. Arrange chicken in a shallow greased baking dish. Brush with melted butter, and place uncovered in a 350° F. oven for 1 hour, or until chicken is tender and a crusty brown. Serves 4.

Opening lead: King of ♦

Today's offering demonstrates a neat safety play which accounted for a swing of 1,530 points in a recent team-of-four contest when the declarer at one table overlooked the proper technique in handling this situation.

At the table where the contract was fulfilled, the king of diamonds was opened and ruffed. Declarer observed that he could lose the hand only if all four South trumps were in one hand but, if he protected himself against such holding, he could assure the safety of the contract. If a spade trick is to be lost, a diamond will come back and declarer will be forced to ruff. He must be careful not to put himself in a position where he will have to ruff with the ten, for if all the trumps are stacked, the adverse nine will become high.

He, therefore, played the ace of spades first and learned of the adverse distribution. He followed with the jack and, whether or not West covered, he was left with his high trump as declarer ran his solid club suit and the defense could take only one trick. The vulnerable slam yielded a score of 1,430 points.

At the other table South, after ruffing the opening lead, thoughtlessly played a low spade to the king. Now when West took the queen he returned a diamond forcing declarer to ruff with the ten and establishing the nine of spades as a winner.

Observe that the play of the ace of spades wins even if East has all four trumps. For, when he wins the queen and returns a diamond, South can ruff with a little trump instead of an honor.

Cookery Of The Orient

From Oriental cookery comes the kabob which has been adapted to American foods and moods. New and interesting is the fresh pear kabob with circular slices of ripe pears threaded on skewers alternately with squares of cooked ham and small canned or pre-cooked onions. Then they are put under the broiler to heat through and brown. The combination is a delightful one although somewhat unusual.

PEAR KABOBS

- 4 Anjou pears
- 8 small, whole onions (cooked)
- 1 slice ham, ½ inch thick (cooked)
- ¼ teaspoon mustard
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ cup oil

Slice unpared pears into slices approximately 1-½ inch thick. Do not core. Cut ham into 1-inch squares. Starting with a whole onion, alternate a slice of ham, a slice of pear three more times, add one more cube of ham and another onion. Do this on four skewers. Brush with sauce made by combining the mustard, salt, sugar and ginger, lemon juice and oil. Broil 1-inch from broiler unit, 3 minutes to a side, brushing with sauce each time the kabob is turned. Makes 4 servings.

Steak Instructions

When broiling a 1-inch steak, place the meat so it is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. A 2-inch steak should be placed 3 to 5 inches from the heat. Serve steaks piping hot. Never allow steak to wait for the guests.

Tea Sandwiches Served With Seafood Salad

Tea sandwiches served with a seafood salad make a delightful menu for a luncheon or bridge tea. What for dessert? Surprise your guests by serving freshly boxed chocolates as the piece de resistance. Calorie-wise, you can get off lightly with a piece of candy. Anyway you look at it, candy makes a light, refreshing end to a meal.

Tossed Seafood Salad

(Makes 4 servings)

- 1 7-ounce can tuna, drained
- 1 7-ounce can shrimp, drained
- 1 6½-ounce can crabmeat, drained and boned
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- Crisp lettuce
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon grated onion.

Combine tuna, shrimp and crabmeat; toss lightly. Arrange tuna mixture and eggs on lettuce. Chill. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Serve seafood salad with mayonnaise mixture.

Bologna-Cheese Spread

(Makes about 2 cups spread)

- ½ pound bologna, ground
- 2 cups grated process American cheese (about 8 ounces)
- 1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons chili sauce

Cream Cheese Bridge Sandwiches

(Makes about 1 cup spread)

- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
- ¼ teaspoon celery salt
- ¼ teaspoon onion salt
- ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper
- Sliced pumpernickel bread
- Sweet gherkin slices
- Olive slices
- Pimiento strips

Combine cream cheese, celery salt, onion salt, garlic salt and pepper; mix well. Spread on small squares or bridge cut-outs of pumpernickel bread. Garnish with gherkins, olives and pimiento.

Apricot-Pineapple Cream

- 1 package vanilla pudding
- 2 cups milk
- 2 cans (4¾ ozs.) strained strained apricots (baby food)
- ½ cup crushed pineapple, drained
- ½ pint heavy cream, whipped

Prepare pudding with milk as directed on package. While pudding is still hot, stir in apricots and pineapple. Cool, fold in whipped cream and pour into sherbet glasses. Chill and garnish with apricot halves and chopped pecans. Makes 8 servings.

Date Pecan Braid

- ¼ cup milk
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ cup shortening
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup water
- 2 packages or cakes yeast
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 2½ cups sifted flour

First make a speedy sweet yeast dough as follows. Scald milk. Stir in sugar, shortening and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Measure water (warm, not hot, for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast) into a large mixing bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast and stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture and egg. Add about half the flour and beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour to make a soft dough. Place dough on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny, about 5 minutes. Form into a smooth ball, place in a greased bowl and grease top of dough. Cover and let rise in a farm, draft-free place until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Punch down and roll into an 8 x 16 inch oblong. Spread date filling (recipe below) the length of center third of oblong. Cut 15 horizontal slits in dough along each side of filling, making strips about 1-inch wide. Fold strips at an angle across filling, alternating from side to side to look like a braid. Place on a greased baking sheet, cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 50 minutes. Brush top of braid with mixture of 1 egg yolk and 2 tablespoons milk. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 35 minutes. Remove and cool on rack. Frost with creamy icing made by blending 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar with 3 to 5 teaspoons milk and ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract. Garnish with pecan halves and maraschino cherries. Date Filling —Combine ⅔ cup chopped dates with 3 tablespoons brown sugar and ½ cup water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thick enough to spread. Add ⅓ cup chopped pecans and 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

Radium will halve its value in a span of approximately 1,800 years.

Plan Of Work Is Outlined

Current officers who presided at the ceremonies included Carol Fike, president; Elaine Moffatt, vice president; Mary Frances Engle, secretary; Leah Miller, treasurer; June Cutter, historian; Judy Miller, chaplain; Linda Robertson, assistant treasurer; and Carol Snelson, assistant secretary.

New officers installed are Linda Robertson, president; Ann Lamberson vice president; Carol Snelson, secretary; Andrea Bowden, treasurer. Mary Lynn McCormick, treasurer also; Jennie Ann Preston, historian; Dixie Howell, parliamentarian; Louise Smith, chaplain and Linda Kiddy, reporter.

The club was presented with an FHA emblem made by Mary Frances Engle, out-going secretary.

A report was given on the State FHA conference held at the University of Maryland. Those attending this conference were Judy Miller, Carol Fike, Mary Frances Engle, Leah Miller, Carol Snelson and Linda Robertson.

Sponsor Supper

PIEDMONT—A fellowship supper sponsored by the Landis-Hitt Circle of the Women of the Presbyterian Church, will be held at the church Thursday at 6 p. m. Church families and friends are invited.

Valley High Junior-Senior Prom To Be Held Tonight In Gymnasium

Williamsport blue and white, the Senior class colors, will be used in a ceiling decoration; gold and silver fish in a water scene effect will carry out the theme.

Sally Miller and Leanna Miller will be in charge of preparations for refreshments. Henrietta Lease was chairman for the invitations and memory books.

Gerry Winner, Wayne Johnson, Dick Evans and Lowell Snyder, tables committee; Susan Blank, Wanita Clark, Mabel Mackley and Shirley McKenzie, check room committee; Betty Jo Kyle, Ruth Robertson, Anna Lee Shockey and Peggy Russell, bandstand committee.

Caroline Hadley, Carol Ann High, Helen Conlon and Robert Mitchell, will construct the entrance to blend with the "Enchanted Sea" decorations.

SRC Outlines Second Plan Of Westernport Route 36

WESTERNPORT — The second plan of the continuation of Route 36 through Westernport has been approved by the State Road Commission, according to a letter received by Mayor Ray L. Wilt, from John B. Funk, chairman.

This route will begin by widening Church Street at about Boal's Funeral Home, cross Main Street, construct a bridge across the George's Creek and join Westernport and Luke Road near Front Street by way of a cut.

It will cross Washington Street at the Welsh Supply building and continue up the west side of George's Creek to Waberly Street and cross the street on the left side of Jake Wilson's apartment.

The first plan was beginning on Church Street, go up the rear of Main Street and considerable amount of property would have to be razed, the mayor noted.

Marine Reservists Are Promoted Here

Promoted to private first class were Joseph P. Conroy, William A. Collins, Edward M. Bush, Ronald H. Athey, Robert L. Folk, Louis M. Geigerick and Ronald J. Cross.

County Issues Dwelling Permit

Harry V. Reeves Sr., Box G, Westernport, has been issued a permit to build a brick dwelling on Lots 7 and 8 of Lambert Addition at McCoole.

The permit was granted by the Allegany County assessing department. The home, which will cost about $6000, will measure 28 by 64 feet. It will have a footer foundation and asphalt shingle roof. A cellar is not included in the plans.

Reds Challenge Peak

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — A Red China team is reported trying to be the first ever to conquer 29,000-foot Mt. Everest from the north side in Tibet while an Indian team under Brig. Gyan Singh, nears the top from the south in Nepal.

Teachers And Students Will Exhibit Art Here

All of Allegany County's full-time art teachers will exhibit some of their own art in one section of the county-wide art exhibit today and tomorrow in the Allegany High School gymnasium, according to Theodore P. Foote, supervisor of art education in the county public schools.

The teachers own exhibits will include pottery, painting, sculpturing, jewelry and prints.

More than 1,000 pieces of work by children from all 12 grades will be shown. Mr. Foote explained that it represents a sampling from every school in the county to indicate the general scope and character of the art activities carried on in the classroom. Included will be drawings, paintings, charts, murals, papier mache, plaster, block printing, ceramics, jewelry, weaving, model building and etching.

In preparation for the two-day county exhibit, many of the schools around the county have been having their own art exhibits this week. The effect has been a general increase in art interest.

Demonstrations will be given by students from Allegany High School, Beall High School of Frostburg and Bruce High School of Westernport during the exhibition.

The general public is invited to see the exhibit and there will be no admission charge.

Permits Issued For Three Houses

Building permits for three dwellings which the builders estimate will cost a total of $19,500 to construct have been issued by the Allegany County assessing department.

Wesley A. McGraw, B Avenue, Potomac Park, obtained a permit for a $12,000 brick veneer house he plans to construct in Election District 6. The house will be 24.8 feet by 44.8 feet in size.

Ethel Davis, RFD 2, Frostburg, was issued a permit for a $5,000 frame and brick veneer house which she plans to build on Midlothian Road in Election District 28. This house will be 32 by 38.8 feet in size.

Donald E. Flanagan, RFD 2, obtained the third permit for a $2,500 frame dwelling he proposes to build near Williams Road in Election District 21. The house will be 28 by 29.4 feet in size.

Rebels Free Hostages

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)— Thirteen hostages abducted by Burmese rebels who raided two towns in Thailand last weekend have returned to their homes unharmed, the Interior Ministry announced Thursday. A band of rebels burned and looted the Thai towns in search of ammunition to continue rebellion against the Burmese government.

No Pass For Gina

TORONTO (AP) — Film star Gina Lollobrigida, who is moving here to live, will have to pay if she wants to ride the streetcars and subways. The Transit Commission turned down a suggestion by its chairman, Clarence Downey, that she should be given a pass.

George Washington served as a colonel in the British army in 1755, during the French and Indian war.

SRC Acquires Property For Highway Work

Deeds to eight parcels of land in Allegany County purchased by the Maryland State Roads Commission, the largest parcel comprising 28.871 acres, have been filed in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The land has been purchased for the improvement of U. S. Route 40 on the west slope of Martin Mountain east of Cumberland and for other highway improvement projects.

The SRC also purchased land on the west slope of the mountain from William O. Shipley and his wife, Iris E. Shipley; William H. Elliott and Lucie M. Elliott; Benjamin F. Hartman and Ella M. Hartman.

Other parcels of land include property located on U. S. Route 40 (Maryland State Route 36 to Long) purchased from Lester L. Spencer and his wife Mildred E. Spencer, Narrows Park and property in the Elk Lick Run area from Robert S. Lynch and his wife, Rachel E. Lynch.

Also property in the southern limits of Baltimore Pike from Guy O. Thompson and his wife Audrey, and land located along Maryland State Route 36 (Barrelville to Mt. Savage) which was owned by Paul F. Lechliter, Gloria L. Lechliter and Sadie Ringler.

Garbage Dump Lease Recorded

The lease for a dump adjacent to the city dump was filed for record yesterday in the record room at the Court House.

Abe Feldstein leased the dump for $50 a month to George A. Boch and Paul L. Boch, trading as Boch Hauling Service for a period from April 1, 1960, to July 11, 1962. The dump has a 300-foot frontage on City Dump Road and a depth of $1,000 feet.

Jamming Hits Peak

LONDON (AP) — Soviet jamming of the British Broadcasting Corp.'s Russian service reached its highest peak Wednesday since an airwaves truce between the two countries petered out earlier this year. Even Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's voice was jammed when excerpts from Paris news conference were relayed.

Rubber, which does not reflect the footlights, is used as a substitute for armor in stage presentations.

Airport Debris Is Being Hauled Away

The task of putting the Cumberland Municipal Airport back in top shape after the Sports Car Races will be completed by Monday, according to Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

He said the contractor hired by the Lions Club Foundation for the cleanup job hauled away 11 loads of debris on Sunday, and has been working at the job each day.

The airport, he said, was opened to air traffic on Monday.

PE Right Of Way Papers Are Filed

Right of way agreements between the Potomac Edison Company and two couples who reside in Frostburg have been filed in the land records office of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The residents signing the agreements with the utility company include S. W. Green and his wife, Lillian C. Green, Leroy E. and Esther Skidmore, whose property is located on Jenkins Street in that community.

Old Exports Grab County League Lead

Brelsford Beats Ellerslie, 3 To 1

Greenpoint Inn's Old Exports took over sole possession of first place in the County Softball League yesterday when they yanked Ellerslie out of the top berth by scoring a 3-1 victory at Ellerslie.

Junior Brelsford outpointed Vernon Lowery to give the Old Exports the verdict. Brelsford yielded only four hits and struck out seven in posting his fifth consecutive triumph of the season. Lowery was wild, walking six and hitting one batter.

Kenny Johnson's double and Lloyd Kline's single produced the game's only run in the fourth inning as Corriganville nosed out Stringtown at Corriganville by the score of 1-0.

In winning the slab duel from Paul Stair, Art Raygor yielded only three hits, fanned seven and notched his fourth win of the campaign. Johnson collected two doubles for the Hermans who collected six hits.

Burley slammed a three-run double and Younger garnered three singles to lead Melody Manor's attack. "Buddy" Meade held Fossilville to four singles.

The Kennell's Mill at Wellersburg game was postponed.

County League teams will go at it again today with Corriganville's Hermans at Kennell's Mill, Melody Manor at Ellerslie and Wellersburg at Greenpoint Inn Old Exports. Strnigtown will win via the forfeit route from Fossilville which dropped out of the league following Tuesday's game. Today's games will get under way at 6:15 p.m.

Optimist Club And Lions Win

Jaycees And O.D.C. Lose In Hot Stove

The Cumberland Optimist Club defeated the Jaycees, 4-1, and the Lions Club won over the Outdoor Club, 8-4, in Hot Stove Baseball League games played yesterday.

The Rotary Club will host B'nai B'rith today at 5:30 p. m. at Penn Avenue Field.

Only eight hits were recorded in the Optimist - Jaycees game. Two of the winning team's blows were homers — one by Howard Reynolds with one aboard and another circuit belt by Lou Hartung. Neubiser had two of the Jaycees' four bingles.

Jim Hudson, the third of four Lions' Club pitchers got credit for the win over the Outdoor Club. Jim Graham, who went the route for the O.D.C., fanned eight.

Jim "Rocky" Klosterman collected two hits while Wally Harper and Charles Coffman smacked two-baggers for the Lions. Jim Mertens slammed a three run homer and John Merkel also hit a round-tripper for the losers.

Fort Hill Volley Ball Team Scores; Beall Wins Meet

Coach Henrietta Snyder's team was captained by Lillian Rowley. Other members were Eileen Bailey, Susie Ball, Bonnie McClellan, Gloria Windish, Shirley Shaffer, Linda McMichael, Linda Clark, Margaret Wigfield, Cheryl Mull, Darlene Moore, Edress Gillum, Sandra Athey and Oleta Ketterman.

Beall was runnerup with a 3-1 record, followed by Mt. Savage (2-2), Bruce (1-3) and Valley (0-4).

The girls' track and field meet was won by Beall High with 31½ points, closely followed by Fort Hill with 28, Valley 22, Mt. Saavge 20½, Bruce 20 and Allegany 13. Fort Hill had tough luck when the baton was dropped on the last leg of the final relay in which they were leading and would have meant the meet victory.

Ruth Robertson, Beall, broke the record for the softball throw with a heave of 178 feet, 5 inches, won the 75 yard dash and ran on Beall's runner-up 220 yard relay team. Sandy Little, Fort Hill, broke the standing broad jump with a leap of 7 feet, 9 inches, won the 50 yard dash and anchored the winning 220 yard relay team.

Bucs Belt St. Louis, 8-3, Take Over League Lead

Pittsburgh Gets 13 Blows; Joe Gibbon Is Winning Hurler

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates powered their way into sole possession of the National League lead tonight with a 13-hit barrage that sent the St. Louis Cardinals down to an 8-3 defeat.

Going into Thursday night's game, the Pirates were tied with San Francisco for first place but the Giants were rained out at Milwaukee. Winning their eighth out of the last nine games, the Pirates face a challenge for the top spot when the Giants open a three - game series at Forbes Field Friday night.

Rookie southpaw Joe Gibbon, who registered his third victory, needed help from southpaw Fred Green in the eighth inning as Pittsburgh stretched its home winning streak through eight games.

Gibbon gave up eight hits, struck out seven and did not yield a walk until the eighth when pinch - hitter Stan Musial and Curt Flood drew free passes. Joe Cunningham then drove in the Cardinals second run and Green was waved from the bullpen.

Green walked Bill White to fill the bases. He then settled down and struck out Ken Boyer and got Daryl Spencer to pop up and retire the side. The Cardinals had scored their first run in the seventh.

Pacing the Pirate attack were Catcher H. W. Smith with three RGI's on his fourth homer and a single and the torrid Roberto Clemente, who smashed out a pair of doubles and two singles to account for another run.

The defeat was charged to bonus southpaw Ray Sadecki, who made his major league debut. The 19-year-old hurler gave up eight hits and five runs, three of which were unearned. The Pirates battered three other Cardinal pitchers for their other tallies.

Reds Nose Out Los Angeles, 5-4

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Vada Pinson's triple climaxed a two-run ninth inning rally that gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday night and completed a two-game sweep.

They owned a 4-0 lead when the Reds bunched three hits, with an error and a wild pitch to score three runs in the fifth inning.

Sandy Koufax went the route for the Dodgers taking his fourth straight loss. He fanned 10.

Moorefield Little Loop Opens June 7

Four Teams Sign 54, Managers Named

The schedule of 32 games for Moorefield's Little League Baseball was completed Monday night in the meeting at the Moorefield grade school. The schedule calls for games starting June 7th each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon starting at 5:30. Sunday games scheduled are on open Sundays when the Moorefield All Stars are playing away. Sunday games start at 1:30 and are all double headers. The schedule ends August 18.

Managers named for the four teams are Warden Hott, Lions Club; Mrs. Bodgie Wilson, American Legion team, Harry Harman, Baker's Feed team and Louis Halterman, Loewengart & Co. team. Assistant managers are George T. Leatherman, David Patterson, Ed Baker and Harold Schriver.

A total of 54 boys have signed up to make the four team league. Parental permission has been given. Mrs. Wilson, president of the League, announced that all the youths and supervisory personnel were insured against accident, either in practice or in scheduled play and also enroute to and from games. Insurance covers the boys up to $1500 and includes post game injuries resulting from ball games.

Thurman Reynolds, finance committee chairman, stated that funds for the uniform T-shirts, caps, plastic protective helmets, catchers protective equipment and insurance for all players had been procured. Also three dozen official league balls and a dozen and a half bats are ordered. Financing for an additional $130 was planned and individuals and business firms will be solicited this week. Reynolds asks for donations and requested checks be sent to him as treasurer or to the Moorefield Little League Association.

Mrs. Bodgie Wilson, president of the league, said that more adult volunteers were needed to assist at the daily practices and at the games.

Yankees Get Bob Cerv For Andy Carey

Clubs Pull 16th Deal, 61 Players Involved

CHICAGO (AP)—The New York Yankees and Kansas City Athletics did it again Thursday when the Yanks traded third baseman Andy Carey to the A's for outfielder Bob Cerv, a former teammate.

It was the 16th deal between the two clubs, involving a total of 61 players, since the Philadelphia American League franchise was shifted to Kansas City in 1955.

The Yankees acquired a power hitter to fill their left field needs although he is batting only .260. In return they gave the A's a front line third baseman who missed most of last season because of illness and was beaten out of the job by Gil McDougald in Spring training. No cash was involved.

Acquisition of Cerv gave the Yankees two-thirds of the 1959 Kansas City outfield. Roger Maris, hitting .333, came to the Yanks with reserve infielders Joe Demaestri and Kent Hadley last December for Norm Siebern, Hank Bauer, Marv Throneberry and Don Larsen.

Cerv normally plays left field. That has been a trouble spot for the Yanks ever since they traded away Gene Woodling.

Carey, 28, played only 41 games last year before he was placed on the disabled list, suffering from mononucleosis. He batted .257. McDougald took over the third base job at St. Petersburg this spring, leaving the slick fielding Carey on the bench. He had been up only three times with one 1960 hit for a .333 average.

Joe Wolfe, defending champion, eliminated George Garlitz, 1 up on the 18th, in a first round match of the championship flight in the Spring Handicap Golf Tournament Wednesday at the Cumberland Country Club.

THIRD FLIGHT: Vince Panico defeated Dr. Paul Castelle, 2 and 1.

EIGHTH FLIGHT: Bill Kellough defeated Dave Miller, 5 and 4.

Sugar Suspended

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who failed to show up for a fight here last Monday, was suspended indefinitely Thursday after almost coming to blows with the angered promoter, Al Flora.

There was a sharp exchange about "lies" and then—

"For two cents I'd punch you right in the mouth," stormed Sugar Ray at a hearing before the Maryland Athletic Commission.

"Maybe you're the world champion but I'm not going to take that from anyone," shot back one-time boxer Flora, as he charged toward Robinson.

Only hasty action by Robinson's friends and members of the commission who stepped between prevented the bitter verbal exchange from becoming a fist fight.

Cards Sign Curt

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Pitcher Curt Simmons, recently released by the Philadelphia Phillies, Thursday signed with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Simmons, who has been bothered by arm trouble, had no record this year. He pitched in seven games last year but had no record then either.

Manager John Vocke's Celanese A.A. tossers spoiled the season debut of the Knights of Columbus in the Rocking Chair League by thumping the Caseys yesterday at Post Field by the score of 2-0.

The Silkmen remained tied for first place with the Loyal Order of Moose, who trimmed the Elks, 6-4, at East Side Field, and the V.F.W. who trimmed Pittsburgh Plate Glass, 6-2, at Stitcher Field. The deadlocked leaders own 2-0 records.

Joe Wolfe led Celanese at bat with three hits. James Mangus rapped a homer and single and Mick Cunningham and Nile Shuck, hurled for the winners, garnered two singles each. Bob Williams and Joe Wolfe excelled afield for Celanese while Jim Collins starred at short for the Knights.

Making his league debut, Jack "Beef" Eckard twirled the defending champion Vets to victory over the Glassmen, yielding only six hits while his strikeout victims totaled five. Jim Eckard led the VFW attack with three hits while Paul Chenoweth obtained a double and single. Clay Ingram banged a double and two singles for the losers.

Paul McGregor won the second straight game for the Moose by singling home the tying and winning runs in the top of the 7th inning. His sacrifice fly scored the deciding run in the opener on Tuesday. Bob Keyser with a double and single and Lloyd Lease with a pair of singles led the Moose at the plate. The Elks had six singles off Webb Hull. Dick Klavuhn, who came on in the 6th, faced only seven batters, walked one, and got credit for the win.

Today the V.F.W. will face the Moose at Post Field and the Elks will do battle with the Knights of Columbus at Naval Reserve Field. Both games are scheduled for 6:15 p.m. The scores:

Bobcats Lose To WVU Frosh

Mountaineers Make Series Sweep, 13-2

West Virginia University's freshmen baseball team made a sweep of its two-game season series with Frostburg State Teachers College by downing the Bobcats yesterday at Morgantown by the score of 13-2.

The Mountaineer yearlings won the series opener by the score of 6-5.

Carl Donald went the route for Frostburg and was nicked for 12 hits. WVU rallied for five runs in the fifth and duplicated the performance in the eighth frame.

Cubs Edge Phils, 4-2

Richie Ashburn Stars For Winners

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Richie Ashburn, a Phillie for 12 seasons before he was traded to Chicago last January, came back to Connie Mack Stadium Thursday night, tripled and scored the lead run in the eighth and then batted in a good-measure run in the ninth as the Cubs beat Philadelphia, 4-2.

Ashburn opened the eighth with a drive to the scoreboard off Robin Roberts, the last of the Whiz Kids, and came home with the lead run when rookie Bob Will fouled to right near the bullpen. Richie beat the throw of Ken Walters to the plate.

Scott And Akins Meet In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young, determined Charley Scott of Philadelphia meets aging, ring-wise Virgil Akins of St. Louis Friday night in a 10-round welterweight bout neither can afford to lose.

Proceeds of the $100-a-ticket fight at the Chase Hotel will go to 10 charities sponsored by Teamsters Joint Council No. 13. Sponsors hope for a formally attired turnout of 1,200.

Scott, 23, ranks fifth in the welterweight division. Akins, 32, in a tailspin since winning the 147-pound championship less than two years ago, is unranked.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Proposals will be received by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, until but not after May 31, 1960, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., Local Time. At 10:00 o'clock on said date, they will be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be submitted in duplicate in a sealed envelope endorsed, "PROPOSAL FOR IMPROVING OF OLDTOWN ROAD between Grand Avenue and Hill Top Drive." If mailed, it must be enclosed in an outer envelope addressed to the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond in the amount of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00).

The work includes the leveling, patching and resurfacing of the street with a two (2) inch asphaltic concrete wearing course.

The City will reserve the right to waive any formalities and to reject any or all bids, and to accept any proposal which in its judgment is to the best interests of the City.

A performance bond in the full amount of the accepted bid will be required of the successful bidder.

Franklin Takes Season Finale

Panthers Defeat Circleville, 5-4

Franklin High School concluded its Potomac Valley Conference baseball campaign with a 7-3 record by defeating Circleville High School yesterday at Franklin by the score of 5-4.

It was Franklin's final game under Coach Gus Smith, who recently resigned as grid, basketball and baseball mentor of the Panthers. His baseball teams won 16 and lost 18 over four seasons.

Ken Nelson, who supplanted Rich Bennett on the mound in the 6th inning received credit for the win when the Panthers scored their winning tally in the last of the 7th frame.

Morris Ruddle, Circleville's starting pitcher, led off the fifth inning with a home run. Kisamore collected three hits and Cooper had a pair of safeties for the Indians who wound up the season with a 3-7 mark.

Enters Rider

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Pete Cimino, Pennsylvania high school star who scored 114 points in a basketball game last winter, has decided to enter Rider College, it was announced Thursday.

Cimino, 18, scored 114 points as a senior for Bristol, Pa., high school against Palisades High. It was believed to be the second highest individual game total in schoolboy history.

Dickinson Leads Sam Snead Golf

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI)—Gardiner Dickinson of Palm Beach, Fla., a slender little sharpshooter with a superb putting touch, fired a five-under-par 65 Thursday to lead the field in the opening round of the $10,000 Sam Snead golf festival.

Tied for second were young Dave Marr of Houston, Tex., and Gary Nixon, the resident pro who has been Sammy Snead's understudy for 13 years. They had 67's.

Davenport III

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Davenport, third baseman of the San Francisco Giants, was taken to Milwaukee Hospital Thursday after becoming seriously ill in his hotel room.

Preliminary examinations by Dr. Irwin Schulz, the Milwaukee Braves' physician, disclosed a gastric condition.

Manager Bill Rigney said Davenport's illness is a bitter blow to the club and that either Joe Amalfitano or Andre Rogers will take over third base duties.

Three High School Tilts Listed Here

Fort Hill, Allegany, LaSalle Home Today

Three games in Cumberland and one in Westernport is the menu for today in the Allegany County High School Baseball League.

Fort Hill's front-running Sentinels will tackle the Beall High Mountaineers at Fort Hill Field, LaSalle will entertain the Flintstone Aggies at Stitcher Field, Mt. Savage's Indians test Allegany High at Campobello and Valley will oppose the Bruce High Bulldogs on the latter's field.

The Sentinels hold a 6-2 decision over Beall, Mt. Savage defeated Allegany, 4-1, but this game must be replayed as a result of a protest by Allegany which was upheld. Valley copped the first game of the Bruce series, 7-5, and LaSalle trimmed Flintstone, 9-1.

Machen, Miteff Meet Tonight

Heavyweight Bout Set For New York

NEW YOR K(AP)—Eddie Machen still hopes to get another chance at Ingemar Johansson, who knocked him out in one round in 1958. The Portland, Ore., heavyweight continues his campaign toward a shot at the title by boxing Alex Miteff, a ranked contender, Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

Machen is listed No. 4 among the heavies. Miteff, the inconsistent Argentine, is rated No. 6 by Ring and No. 7 by the National Boxing Assn. Both of the ratings put Sonny Liston, Floyd Patterson and Zora Folley above Machen although not necessarily in that order. Machen is Friday's favorite.

Since his disastrous encounter with Johansson's right hand at Goteborg, Sweden, Sept. 14, 1958, Machen has won eight of nine starts. His record for 35 pro fights is 32-2-1 with 20 knockouts. He lost to Folley Jan. 18 in San Francisco and also fought a draw with Folley in 1958 before he went to Sweden.

Barton's Braves registered their fourth straight victory of the season in the Twilight League by turning back Lonaconing yesterday at Barton by the score of 5-2.

It was Barton's second win over Lonaconing this season.

Lou Fazenbaker limited 'Coney to six hits and aided his cause with a two-run homer in the third. Mike Muir rapped a double and single and Woody Symons obtained a pair of one-base knocks for the Braves. Everett Spiker and Bill Richmond collected two hits each for Lonaconing.

The Barton - Franklin game scheduled for today has been postponed.

Klondyke's Colts won via the forfeit route from Franklin yesterday when the latter was unable to field a team.

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE LOCATED AT 722 WASHINGTON STREET, CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, IMPROVED BY A THREE STORY BRICK DWELLING

By virtue of the power contained in a certain mortgage from Adolph Hirsch and Ruth B. Hirsch, his wife, dated the 18th day of February, 1958, and recorded among the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Mortgage Liber No. 336, folio 16, the undersigned Assignee of said mortgage will sell at public auction on Liberty Street, in Cumberland, Maryland, alongside The Second National Bank Building on Saturday, June 11, 1960, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., the following described property:

All those two lots and parcels of ground lying and being in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, and the State of Maryland, which are designated on the plat of Tusculum Addition to said City, as Lots Nos. 3 and 4 respectively, said plat being recorded in Liber J.W.Y. No. 116, folio 185, of the Land Records of Allegany County, and said two lots being more particularly described as one parcel as follows:

BEGINNING at the end of the first line of Lot No. 2 in said Addition on Washington Street, and running thence with said Street, South 46 degrees 30 minutes West 100 feet; then South 43 degrees 30 minutes East 140 feet to South Terrace, then with said Terrace, North 46 degrees 30 minutes East 69.5 feet to East Lane, then with said Lane North 14 degrees East 36.4 feet; then North 43 degrees 30 minutes West 120 feet to the place of beginning.

BEING the same lot or parcel of ground conveyed by William L. Sherman and Camille J. Sherman, his wife, to Adolph Hirsch, by deed dated the 4th day of May, 1950, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 238, folio 714, a reference to which said deed is hereby particularly made.

Together with the buildings and improvements thereon and the rights, roads, ways, waters, privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

The above described property is improved by a three-story brick dwelling, with stone foundation and slate roof, containing twenty-one rooms and four baths; it is equipped with electricity, gas, water and sewer; has paved street and sidewalk, with curbing, and paved carport. The lot is 100 x 140 feet.

Said property will be sold as a whole. The Assignee reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

All taxes, etc. to be adjusted to day of sale.

Leader Drowns, Piper Missing In S. Branch

Cumberland Men's Boat Capsizes; Search For Banker Resumes Today

Two prominent Cumberland businessmen apparently drowned in a fishing boat accident in the South Branch of the Potomac River near Romney, W.Va., yesterday afternoon.

The body of James Arthur Leader, 66, of 713 Bedford Street, recently retired manager of the G. R. Kinney Corporation shoe store here, was found about 6:45 p.m. (EST) and taken to the Combs Funeral Home in Romney.

Missing and presumed drowned is Charles A. Piper, 64, of 104 Washington Street, president of the Liberty Trust Company.

A. L. Russell, Hampshire County coroner, said last night Mr. Leader was identified by papers on the body and by John Harmison, a Romney area farmer who knew him.

The search for Mr. Piper's body was called off about 9:30 p.m. and will be resumed at daybreak today.

West Virginia State Police said they received a call about 6 p.m. (EST) that a boating accident had occurred at a place called Blue Pool in the South Branch River. The area is also known as "The Trough" because the river winds through a valley between the mountains.

Firemen Help Police

Volunteer firemen were called to the scene and set up dragging operations with state police. The area is almost inaccessible, police said, and a jeep was used to get to the river. Other equipment was rushed to the scene by handcar on the B&O tracks nearby.

State Roads Commission workers and the Romney fire company set up portable lights as darkness fell over the area.

The coroner said Mr. Leader's body was discovered about 25 minutes after dragging operations were started. The body was located about 75 feet from shore in eight feet of water and was spotted because of the light clothing Mr. Leader wore.

West Virginia officials said Mr. Piper and Mr. Leader were known to be frequent fishing companions. They had rented a boat from Mr. Harmison at 3 o'clock (EST) yesterday afternoon and told him they were going to fish in "The Trough."

Boat Found

About 6 o'clock another fishing party, headed by Fred Miller of Romney, spotted a small boat capsized in the river. The outboard motor was protruding out of the water, they said, and was still running. Mr. Leader's body was discovered about 100 yards from where the boat was floating in the water.

The Miller party notified Mr. Harmison who called police. Mr. Harmison later identified the boat as the one which the Cumberland men had taken with them.

State Police called off the search after dark last night because of the treacherous water in which they were working. The river is 35 to 40 feet deep in the area, has rapids above the spot where the accident occurred, and a whirlpool downriver.

Warfield Says He Welcomes Views On Plan

Assembly Must Act On College Proposal

BALTIMORE (AP) — The 1961 General Assembly has part of its work cut out for it — higher education.

The issue was formally engaged Thursday when Edwin Warfield III, Howard County publisher, declared that a commission he headed "welcomes constructive and unbiased criticism" but isn't impressed by "opposition seeking to disparage the . . . plan by press, radio and television."

Warfield's statement followed a television-radio speech Wednesday night by President Jerome Framptom Jr. of the State Board of Education who criticized the Warfield commission's proposal.

Among other things, the commission suggested that the State teachers colleges at Frostburg, Towson and Salisbury be made branches of the University of Maryland, with new branches to be set up later in the Frederick-Washington County area, northern Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland.

Framptom said adoption of the plan "would constitute one of the greatest blows in the history of Maryland against the proper education of teachers."

Framptom said the proposal would be "drastic and costly." He advocated improving of the teachers colleges and junior colleges.

As for the cost of the Warfield proposal, Warfield said when the plans are completed "I feel that they will bear out the soundness and logic of the commission's concept."

"I cannot speak for the governor or the Legislature," Warfield added, "but it is quite obvious that Frostburg, Towson and Salisbury State Teachers colleges cannot accept the increased student load unless they receive increased funds, increased faculties and enlarged physical plants. All of these problems are currently under study."

Warfield said his commission had not had the opportunity to study in detail the Board of Education's plans "for coping with the greatly increased college enrollments that lie ahead."

The board's recommendations, he added "appear similar to the Pullen Report of 1955" which the commission studied before drafting its report. The board recommendations were prepared under the direction of State School Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen Jr., a member of the board of trustees which governs the teacher colleges.

Man, 72, Found Shot To Death

Pennsylvania State Police identified the man as Edward "Buddy" Middleton, and said he apparently shot himself in the head with a small pistol. Dr. J. H. Kniseley, Bedford County coroner, ruled Mr. Middleton's death as suicide.

His body was discovered by his sister, Mrs. Lillian M. Hall, with whom he resided. Police said the shooting took place about 11 a.m. (EST). They added that Mr. Middleton had been in ill health and had recently been released from the Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

The body was taken to the Geisel Funeral Home in Bedford.

Bike Safety Program Set June 13-24

Free bicycle inspections will be offered here next month, according to Police Chief B. F. Gaffney.

The inspection program will be sponsored by the Cumberland Optimist Club again this year in cooperation with the Cumberland Police Department.

The program will be held on city playgrounds from June 13 to June 24, Chief Gaffney said.

Leo F. Barkman, chairman of the Optimist Club committee, has confirmed the date for the safety checks with Officer Charles Cubbage, who will be in charge of the Police Department's phase of the work.

Chief Gaffney said the free services, including a five-point inspection system, will be offered to bike owners here in connection with the observance of American Bicycle Month.

He noted that the inspections will be important to students who use bikes for school transportation and for those who plan to use their bikes for recreation or employment this summer.

Bike use, he said, has been growing and there are now 27 million bike riders in the country.

The safety examination, to be made by Optimists and local police, will include an examination of the seat post, steering assembly, pedals and brakes, tires and wheel alignment and lights and signalling equipment.

Following the inspection, each youth will receive a check-off list of repairs needed, a certified rider emblem and card, the 12 official rules of safe riding and a list of riding tips.

LaSalle Scholarship Exams Tomorrow

Examinations for two scholarships to LaSalle High School will be held tomorrow morning at the school, according to Brother G. Paulian, FSC, principal.

The mental ability test will begin at 9:30 a. m. Following a rest period and refreshments, a general ability test will be held at 10:30 a. m. At noon refreshments will be served.

Eligible for the scholarships are any Catholic graduates of the parochial schools of Cumberland and Western Maryland.

Two four-year, tuition-free scholarships will be awarded.

Fulton Myers Post To Meet Sunday

Fulton Myers Post 153, American Legion, will meet Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the post home to elect a nominating committee for the coming election.

The post also will make plans Sunday for the Memorial Day observance.

Canvass Adds To Advantage Of Winners

Kennedy, Foley, Mathias Triumph

Allegany County's vote in Tuesday's primary election was made official yesterday afternoon but the only effect was to increase the already overwhelmingly victories of the three winners.

Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the County Board of Election Supervisors, announced the following official totals from the canvass of Tuesday's election:

Democrat

FOR PRESIDENT
John F. Kennedy	2,738
Wayne Morse	524
Uninstructed Delegation	88
Andrew J. Easter	24
Lar Daly	18
FOR CONGRESS
John R. Foley	2,630
Claude A. Taylor	434

FOR CONGRESS
Charles Mathias	1,389
James A. Buchanan IV	364
R. Byng Duvall	115

Senator Kennedy of Massachusetts picked up 21 additional votes as a result of the canvass of the 100 voting machines and another 13 from absentee voters to give him 80.7 per cent of the votes cast in this contest. Meanwhile, Senator Morse of Oregon lost 60 votes as a result of the canvass and got only two absentee votes.

Similarly, Rep. Foley, now ending his first two-year term in the House of Representatives, added 32 votes from the canvass while his fellow Montgomery countian gained only five. Rep. Foley received 85.8 per cent of the vote in this race.

Mr. Mathias, a 37-year-old member of the House of Delegates from Frederick County, picked up seven more votes through the canvass while Mr. Buchanan added only three and Mr. Duvall lost nine. That still left Mr. Mathias with 74.4 per cent of the vote.

With the addition of 44 absentee votes, the total cast in Tuesday's election was upped to 5,381. That is only 15.1 per cent of the 35,658 eligible to vote in the primary.

Democrats did better than Republicans in getting out the vote but still fell well below the anticipated 30 to 35 per cent. The 3,463 Democrat votes amounted to 22.4 per cent of the 15,453 registered Democrats. That means that two out of every nine Democrats voted.

Only 1,198 Republicans out of 20,405 voted Tuesday. That is only 9.4 per cent or one out of every 11 Republicans.

Eighteen of the absentee votes were cast by members of the armed forces and the other 26 by civilians. Those in the armed forces included 10 Democrats and eight Republicans. The civilian absentee voters included 20 Republicans but only six Democrats.

City Seeks Bids On Resurfacing Job

Bids will be opened May 31 at 10 a. m. at the regular Council meeting. The work includes leveling, patching and resurfacing the street with a two-inch layer of blacktop.

Hughes Says Census Data Accurate

George R. Hughes Jr., district census director, said yesterday the preliminary population figures for Cumberland are accurate, as far as anyone can tell.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech has questioned the accuracy of the figures, which show Cumberland's population dropping from 37,679 in 1950 to 33,260 this year.

The mayor pointed out that census figures also showed dwelling units, listed at 11,596 in 1950, had dropped only to 11,528 according to the latest count.

Mayor Keech saw an inconsistency in the two sets of figures. So did Mr. Hughes. Before forwarding the figures to Mayor Keech, Mr. Hughes said yesterday, he had a crew chief recheck the work of the enumerators, and found the figures to be accurate to the best of his knowledge.

Mr. Hughes said that, although the figures still are only tentative, he believes they will prove accurate within one per cent.

Food Service Workers Plan Dinner Tonight

Between 75 and 100 members of the Allegany County School Food Service Association will attend a dinner meeting at 6 o'clock this evening in the Allegany High School cafeteria, according to Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of the school lunch program.

Mrs. Alberta Morton, manager of the Allegany cafeteria, is president of the association.

Today's dinner meeting, in effect, will be a birthday party for all attending. There will be 12 tables, one for each month of the year, and those born in the same month will sit at the same table.

After the meeting, the group will visit the county-wide art exhibit in the Allegany gymnasium.

Times-News Group Touring Holland

Members of the Times-News European tour arrived in Rotterdam, Holland, Wednesday afternoon, where the 16-member group spent several days sightseeing.

Yesterday the tour group visited the International Floriade, the world's Olympic of flowers and plants.

This afternoon the group will visit the Delft Porcelain Works; Scheveningen, ocean resort center; Madurodam, the most extensive city ever built, and Haarlem, the Dutch city for which New York's Harlem is named.

St. Mary's Asks Permit For School

The City of Cumberland was asked yesterday to issue a permit for the construction of a new school and convent for St. Mary's Catholic Church here.

The application for the $397,000 construction project was made in the name of the Archbishop of Baltimore.

The 12-classroom structure will be located on Prince George Street and will be 92 by 240 feet. It includes quarters for the school on the first floor and a convent on the second.

Plans call for masonry walls and a built-up roof. It will be built by Kirby and McGuire, Inc., Baltimore, according to plans furnished by Gaudreau and Gaudreau, Baltimore.

Governor To Open Industrial Blvd. Project June 10

Governor J. Millard Tawes will open the first section of the Industrial Boulevard here on June 10, according to John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer for the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The 2.2-mile highway project begins at the new Evitts Creek Bridge and runs to Thomas and West streets here and is being completed by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

City Seeks Bids

The Mayor and Council is advertising for bids, to be opened May 31 at 10 a. m., for constructing a concrete retaining wall and sidewalk on the easterly side of Valley Street.

LaVale Boy Wins Summer Science Study Scholarship

He is Donald R. Beynon Jr., 15-year-old Allegany High School sophomore and son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Beynon, 4 Klosterman's Avenue, LaVale.

The Second Summer Science Training Program for exceptional high school students is sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Only 25 students were selected from Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia, and seniors and juniors were given preference.

Students were selected on the basis of academic performance, their promise as future scientists and recommendations of their principals, counselors and science teachers.

At Morgan State this summer, the students will spend their mornings in seminars, and their afternoons in assisting faculty members in scientific projects.

DONALD R. BEYNON JR.

Donald is a member of the Allegany Hi-Y, the Glee Club and the Latin Club, is vice president of the school Student Council for next year, and is a member of Explorer Scout Post 10 in LaVale.

House Refuses To Consider C&O Park Bill

Beall Leads Fight For Plan In Senate

By FRANK E. TAYLOR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Thursday refused to consider—and in effect killed—a bill to establish a Chesapeake and Ohio Canal national historical park.

The House voted 227 to 134 against bringing the bill up for floor debate.

Backers of the 14 million dollar project in Maryland said there remained only the rather forlorn hope of the Senate passing a bill and then having the House act on such a measure.

Rep. John R. Foley (D-Md), author of the bill, said there could be another chance for passage if a senate bill is passed.

"But the chances this year are quite remote," he said.

To Continue Fight

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R-Md) said he will continue to work for passage of his Senate bill. That measure now is before a Senate Interior subcommittee.

"I'm terribly disappointed over the House action," Beall said.

"As the original sponsor, I intended to work for passage of the bill," he added.

Economic reasons were advanced by opponents of the bill, which would establish the park for 165 miles along the Potomac between the District of Columbia and Cumberland.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio) said the project is not needed and would be a waste of taxpayers' money.

Similar arguments were advanced by Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio), who said many millions have already been spent for parks near Washington.

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich) said House members are for economy.

Urges Approval

Foley, in urging approval of a rule to consider the measure, said the bill involves federally owned property and that establishing the park would preserve an historic relic.

He recalled that a similar bill passed the Senate in 1957.

Concerning the proposed park, Foley said the House Interior Committee had this to say:

"No other proposal that has been before the committee in recent years for the establishment of a new unit of the National Park System has offered more people of the country such promise of an opportunity to appreciate a historical scene and at the same time to enjoy a natural setting of singular beauty."

Schoolgirl, 7, Hit By Car

A seven-year-old local girl was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday afternoon after being struck by a car near the intersection of North Centre and Market streets.

Admitted to the hospital was Margaret L. Coffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Coffey, 240 North Centre Street. Hospital attendants said the girl sustained a bruise of the forehead and was admitted for X-rays and observation.

City Police Officer John H. Stitcher said the small girl walked from between two parked cars and was hit by a car operated by Mrs. Mary Margaret Shober, LaVale.

Officer Stitcher said no charges have been preferred. The girl, who is a student at St. Patrick's School, was on her way home from school when she was struck.

Hospital Board, City Sell Lots

The deed for Lots 34, 35 and 36 of Block 17, Cumberland Heights Addition, which have been sold by the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital and the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland for $2,750, was recorded yesterday at the Court House.

This property was purchased by Charles W. Redinger and Hazel E. Redinger. The deed was signed by Charles A. Piper as chairman of the hospital board and J. Edwin Keech as mayor.
